Shocking Accident.

We learn from the Altoona Tribune, that on Saturday night, 18th inst., at about 9.50 P. M., a young man, named Malcolm D. Roesh, residing at Elizabeth Furnace, met his death in a shocking manner, by being run over by the Fast Passenger Train Westward. near the old Water station, about a mile and a half east of this place. He was lying on the track, from some unknown cause, and was not perceived by the engineer or fireman of the train. They saw something dark on the track, but not looking like a man they supposed it to be a pile of cinder. The deceased's head was completely severed from his body, which was mangled in a most shocking manner. The deceased was not identified until after the jury had rendered a verdict and his body had been sent to the county

CORONER'S INQUEST.

About 10 o'clock, A. M., on Sunday, the Coroner, Jas. Funk, Esq., arrived in Altoona and summoned the following jury: W. M. Allison, Price M. Johnson, George B. Cra-mer, Charles R. M'Crea, John Trout and Longe Kommer when often being duly super-James Kearney, who after being duly sworn according to law, proceeded to examine the body, which had been brought to town and was then lying in a baggage car at the depot.

Several witnesses were examined, but we have only room for the following:] Dr. C. J. Efrst, suorn: — Was called to examine body of unknown man, lying dead in baggage car; did so; found hole about 2½ inches in length in anterior part of skull, a little to left of medium line; also fracture on back part of head, about one inch in diameter; through these holes most of brain has been pressed out; the head was severed from body; left collar bone was dislocated; loft shoulder blade fractured; left arm bone broken in two places immediately below shoulder joint; left arm very much bruised imme-diately above wrist joint; thumb and fore-finger of right hand torn off; wrist joint and balance of hand considerably injured; a number of marks and bruises on body between shoulder and pelvis, would not be fatal; left leg near hip joint broken in two places; left and front part of polvis crushed in; right side of pelvis fractured; wound about 1 inch in length on right side of medium line of abdomen, resembling somewhat a gun-shot wound, but might have been made by fractured bone inside; left leg broken above ancle, in two places, with bone protruding; little too of right foot broken; bolies generally remain warm for one or two hours after death; such wounds as I have described could have been inflicted by cars running over body; no wound seems to indicate the previous murder of decaased; had the throat of decased been cut previously to body be-fing placed on the track, but little blood would have been found on cars; if killed without loss of blood, and blood had not congealed in body, it would necessarily have been forced upon the cars by the great pressure; could not state had not congraded in body, it would necessarily have been forced upon the cars by the great pressure; could not state positively whether deceased was intoxicated or not; the body is now in a state of decomposition and emits an unbody is now in a state of decomposition and emits an un-pleasant odor which would overcome any smell of liquor; persons of acute perception might distinguish the presence of liquor immediately after death, before the body had be-come cold; liquor not always perceptible after death, es-pecially where the head had been severed from the body, which would allow smell of liquor to escape; the head be-ing severed from the body and the upper part of chest ex-posed, would cause body to cool much quicker than if b dy were connact. were compact.

In accordance with the above facts the Jury rendered a verdict "that the unknown man, (since identified as Malcolm D. Rocsh,) came to his death on the Pa. R. R., near the old water station, about 11 miles east of Altoona, by being run over by the Fast Passenger Train, Westward, on the evening of Saturday, July 18th, 1857, about 9.50 o'clock, P. From the Boston Courier, July 14. Is the Moon Inhabited !--- Recent Discovery by the Astronomer Hansel.

It has long been known that the moon revolves on its axis in the same time in which sequently always presents nearly the same side towards the earth, while the other side is never seen from our globe. No bodies of water nor clouds can be seen on the moon by the aid of the most powerful telescope, nor is the apparent direction of stars close to its edge changed by refraction, as would be the case if an atmosphere enveloped the moon. Hence it has been inferred by Whewell, the reputed author of a late work entitled "Of Plurality of Worlds," that the moon has no atmosphere or water, and, consequently, no inhabitants.

This inference is shown to be inconclusive by a recent discovery of the astronomer Hansel, whose study of the moon's motion, continued for many years, has established the fact that the centre of gravity of the moon, instead of being like that of earth, at the centre of figure, is beyond that centre, and farther from the side next to the earth than it is from the other side by seventy-four miles. The nearer side of the moon, therefore, is a vast, expanded protuberance or mountain, seventy-four miles high; and any fluid, whether air or water, would flow downwards from the nearer to the farther side of the moon, where for aught we know, intelligent living beings may exist. The nearer side of the moon cannot be inhabited, at least by beings to whose existence air and water are essential as it is the case with all terrestial animals.

The late celebrated mathematician, Gauss, proposed as a means of settling the question, whether the moon is inhabited, that a huge monument should be crected on the steppes of Siberia, as a signal to the inhabitants of the moon, in the hope that they might be induced to crect a similar signal to apprise us of their existence. The discovery of Hansel shows that such an experiment could be attended with no success, inasmuch as the in-habitants of the moon, if there are any, being on the farther side, could not see a monument on the earth.

It may not be uninteresting to add, that it has been discovered, within a few years, by means of long continued, hourly observations saw mill. with the barometer, that the moon exerts an appreciable influence on the pressure of the atmosphere; and also by means of long-continued magnetic observations, that it exerts an influence on the declination of the magnetic needle.

LOST LUGGAGE.-People in the United States are rather careless of their lives when travelling, but they are a great deal more careless of their luggage. Every railroad company has a depository, in which are placed all the Trunks, boxes, carpet bags, and parcels that are not claimed by passengers, and these ac-cumulate with surprising rapidity. Under the law of New York, all such unclaimed ar-ticles may be sold when they have remained on hand more than a year, and the New York Central Railroad Company announces such a sale to take place at Albany on the 18th of August. They advertise a list of no less than two thousand one hundred and six arti-cles that had accumulated during the years 1852, 1853, 1854 and 1855. This is the important fact upon which Inhalation is based. If the stomach is diseased we take Inhalation is based. If the stomach is discased we take medicine directly into the stomach. If the lungs are dis-cased, breathe or inhale medicated vapors directly into the lungs. Medicines are antidotes to discase and should be applied to the very scat of discase. The reason that Consumption: and other discases of the lungs, have heretofore resisted all treatment has been because they have nover been ap-proached in a direct manuer by medicine. When you are disposed to be vain of your mental acquirements, look up to those who are more accomplished than yourself, that you may be fired with emulation; but when you feel dissatisfied with your circumstances, look down on those beneath you, that you may learn contentment.

Arr The Southern wheat crop is said to be the largest ever grown in that part of the Union. Georgia, Tennessee, North and South Carolina produced, in the aggregate, four and a half millions of bushels, and Charleston is the onar-ket for the whole of it. For the last nine months there have been exported to Spain from Charleston some 60,000 barrels of flour, in tacks and barrels, said to equal the Snanish article.

It is considerably contradictory in its character, but we suppose that is accounted for by the fact that liquor was sold by them, and they were afraid of being returned, and they were very "dutch," and consequently easily scared. Thence they naturally enough talked at random trying to conceal as much as possible. They denied selling liquor and yet a barrel of it was found in the house. Deeming it useless to attempt anything further the majority of the party returned to town. We don't think the deceased was murdered, or if he was, at least not by them. That water came off on the seventh day. they know more about him than they acknow edge we have no doubt. We believe he wa in their house on the night of his death .-The fact that they sold liquor renders thin highly probable. If drunk, he got his liquo there and was by them helped across th bridge, shortly before the cars came along They might even have robbed him of what little money he had, as when he left home h had between $10 and $20, and when found his port-monnaic contained only 4 cents .--There is a mystery connected with the whole. affair, which time may or may not unfold. but we don't believe the man was murdered. We can't account for his being on the track just at that spot, when he had time, if Warc-baugh's to be believed, to have reached Blair Furnace, which he could have done, if he crossed the bridge alone. But it is evident that neither of the Warebaugh's are to be believed. They denied all knowledge of him, we have no doubt, for the purpose of escaping an indictment for keeping a tippling house.

HOW TO MAKE TEA PROPERLY .--- The proper way to make a cup of good tea is a matter of some importance The plan which I have practiced for these twelve months is this:

The tea pot is at once filled up with boiling water; then the tea is put in the pot, and is allowed to stand for five minutes before it is used ; the leaves gradually absorb the water, and as gradually sink to the bottom; the result is, that the tea leaves are not scalded, as they are when boiling water is poured over them, and you get all the true flavour of the tea. In truth, much less tea is required in this way than under the old and common practice.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS. SATURDAY, July 25.—In the Flour market there is no change to notice. The article is dull, and the tendency of prices is evidently in favor of buyers. Only about 900 barrels were disposed of at $6,$714@7 F barrel for standard brands, at which figures it is freely offored, and $7,50 for extra, including 750 barrels at the latter rate. Small sales to the trade within the range of these figures for superfine, and $7,75 up to $0,50 for extra and fancy lots. Rye flour is steady at $4,75. Corn meal is very quiet—110 barrels Ponnsylvania sold at $3,90 F barrel. GRAIN—The receipts of new Wheat are increasing, but the demand for it is limited, and prices are again 2@3c. lower. Sales of 2300 bushels good and prime red at $1,80 @1,86, and 300 bushels good white at $1,93 F bushel; 2200 bushels choice white, deliverable on the 10th of August, sold at $1,80. Rye is steady at $1. Corn is in steady de-mand—sales of 3000 bushels yellow at 90c, part afloat, and 1000 bushels white, in store, on private terms. Oats are dull—sales of 1500 bushels at 56c F bushel, which is a de-cline. In Clavarsond pathing duing A canal cale of Timothy
