Preserving Green Corn for Winter Use.

One of the greatest luxuries of the table, both in summer and in winter, is the Sugar or Sweet Corn. To our taste, all other varieties of corn to eat green are worthless compared with it. Our method is to keep a constant supply by successive planting, from June to the period of frost. Making the largest planting about the first of July, with an early variety for planting for winter. This matures usually in September, which is the best season for drying. Our method is this: When there is the promise of a fair day, early in the morning the corn is gathered, such only as is well filled; it is then husked and put into boiling water, and allowed to remain eight or ten minutes. It is then taken out and immediately cut from the cobs, with a sharp knife, and spread on a clean sheet upon a roof or scaffold, inclining to the south. It should be stirred once or twice during the day, and by night it will become so dry as to be past danger of injury. It should be covered during the night to keep off the dew, and exposed again for two or three days in the sun, when, if the weather is fair, it will usually be perfectly dry, and may then be put into a keg and headed tight, or hung up in a firm linen bag for use.

We have recently eaten corn of the common kind, preserved by a new and easier method, which seems to be as tender, with all the sweetness and freshness of flavor that it had when first gathered, and may answer equally well in preserving the sweet corn, which we regard as the only variety worth preserving.

It is simply gathered and boiled in the usual manner, fit for the table; it is then cut from the cob and packed in a tight keg or jar, (wood is said to be best) in alternate layers of salt, sufficient to preserve it. Some, in the place of salt, apply a strong brine. When wanted for use it is soaked in fair water, which must be changed to remove the excess of salt, and then boiled, adding butter or cream and a little sugar to suit the taste.

Valley Farmer.

FRESH CORN THE YEAR ROUND.—Mr. Daniel Rowe, of Lancaster, Pa., has invented and patented a plan for providing green corn for the table the year round. He plucks green corn, and without depriving it of its milky juice or taste, keeps it in a state of freshness and preservation, ready for boiling at any season. His process is described in his claim: "What I claim as my discovery and invention is the new art and process of preserving green corn in the ear, by extracting the pith or heart of the cob and seasoning and drying the inside of the cob as rapidly as the outside, for preserving the virtues and juice of the grain and preventing the collection of mould or corruption, as herein described, and for the purpose set forth." A Lancaster paper says Mr. Rowe is preparing convenient machines, not larger than those used for paring apples, by which every housekeeper can, in one evening, prepare ten or fifteen bushels of corn for his own use.

STUNTED UNTHRIFTY PEAR TREES.—William Day, of Morristown, N. J., considers that one great cause of the unthriftness of the pear lies in the fact that many of them are worked (budded) upon sucker stocks.—He tried the experiment by planting out 1000 of these suckers, obtained from old trees, and after nursing them for several years, during which he budded some and grafted others, giving all careful culture in good ground, he was compelled to discard the whole of them. A neighbor of his held on to some for ten years, but failed to get four good trees out of 100 planted. We fully endorse his (Mr. Day's) closing remarks, viz: "Good thrifty stocks and clean culture will alone produce vigorous and thrifty trees, and no respectable nurseryman will use any others."

TO DESTROY GRUB IN THE HEAD OF SHEEP.—A. W. Allen, of Mahoning, O., does it in this way: Make a hole in a standing board, 24 inches from the ground, and large enough to let a sheep's nose through up to the eyes. Let one man hold the sheep in this position, and another with a syringe throw up each nostril of the sheep a slush of yellow sulphur, and they will thus throw out the eggs of the fly that are deposited in July and August.

REMEDY FOR COLIC IN HORSES.—One of our readers says that a pint of salt dissolved in a pint of hot water, and a quart of vinegar then added, and about half the quantity given, will cure the most inveterate case of colic. Should not the first dose effect a cure let the remaining half be given and the cure will be certain. He says he has seen this remedy tried in a number of cases and always with success.

FOR GALLS ON HORSES take soot and grease, (lard or fat fried from pork,) mix it up thick with soot and apply two or three times a day.

The foregoing is an old and favorite Indian remedy. It prevents any growth of white hairs on the place of the gall.

CULTIVATE a habit of careful and accurate observation. Facts and experience are the flora by means of which the great lever of Reason moves the world.
