Hurrah!

The Shirleysburg Herald is very confident that every man upon the Union County ticket will be elected by five hundred-and some by a larger majority.

The Journal is very sure that Wharton will be the lowest on the three tickets, and that Evans will be the successful candidate.

The American has the Union Ticket elected by majorities not given-but possibly ranging from three to eight hundred, more or less.

We are content to wait until the elections in the different districts of the county are closed and the votes counted, before we elect any of the candidates, but our candid opinion is, that every man upon the Democratic | Proceedings next week. ticket will be elected if a majority of the voters of the county vote for them.

A DIFFERENCE.—The opposition papers in all parts of the State are engaged in publishing notices complimentary to Wilmot, taken from Democratic journals at a time when that and it is just as essential to read them .gentleman was acting with the Democratic | There is not an advertisement printed that is party, and contrasting them with what the same papers say of his course at the present | speaks more clearly of a man's prosperity in time. Well, what does that prove? Washington praised Arnold when fighting for the liberties of his country, but when he turned traitor and joined the enemy he changed his opinion, and denounced both the man and his treasonable acts.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION-TICK-ETS.—The Amendments to the Constitution of our State, advertised in the Register, are to be voted on by the people at the approaching election, and no provision is made for tickets for that purpose. What is to be done? The printers cannot afford to do so heavy a candidates of the party, with whom the old job for nothing— and who will pay? The Democracy throughout the county, as well as Legislature should have provided. We suggest that the county Commissioners of the several counties attend to the matter in behalf of the Commonwealth, and that the next age a spirit of disorganization in the party Legislature be petitioned to make the required of their late adoption, but come out openly ed appropriation. The Democratic Nomination for Senator.

It will be seen by reference to the proceedings of the Democratic Senatorial Conference, held at Bedford on the 31st ult., published in our paper of to day, that WILLIAM P. Schell, Esq., of Bedford county, has received the nomination of that body for Senator. We feel strong in the belief, that no better selection could have been made. Mr. Schell is a first rate man, possessed of fine talents, a fluent and logical debater, and decidedly popular with the people. In his case, strange as it may seem in these degenerate times, the office is seeking the man, as he had no ambition or desire for official honors or emoluments. Unlike his office seeking opponent, General Koontz, he made no effort to obtain a nomination, and was unaware of it until it was publicly announced. It was a free will offering of his democratic fellow citizens, and we have assurances that he will accept the nomination so spontaneously tendered, and devote himself thoroughly to the work before him. We are told that the announcement of his nomination at the Democratic meeting in Bedford on the same evening, was received with thunders of applause and every demonstration of joy. He is a favorite son of the people of that county and they will roll up for him a heavy majority in October. The Opposition will find in the of their own candidate .- Somerset Demo-

Hon. WM. P. Schell, of Bedford, has received the Democratic nomination for Senator in the District composed of the counties of Somerset, Bedford and Huntingdon. The people of those counties will consult their best interests by electing Mr. Schell. He is one of "nature's noblemen," and would make a Senator of whom all would be proud. As he is one of the most popular and energetic men in the State, we hope to see him elected. If he cannot succeed in the District, it is useless for any one else to try. Mr. Schell received the unanimous vote of the conference.-Fulton Democrat.

David Caldwell, Esq., We are pleased to see, has been nominated by the Democracy of Huntingdon county, for Prothonotary. # More Acquisitions.

The Huntingdon Journal boldly asserts that Messrs. A. W. BENEDICT and S. S. Wharton are Locofocos, that is, Democrats. The Journal is not, at all times, a reliable paper, and we are not prepared to confirm its statement; but should this be true, we protest against the course of those two gentlemen in opposing the regularly nominated many of the opposition, are perfectly satisfied. Wilmot as a Stump Speaker.

The Hollida Burg Standard gives a graphic description of a Republican meeting held there, and declares it to have been "the most decided fizzle ever held in that place." Of WILMOT'S speech it says:

David mounted the rostrum with becoming dignity and for two mortal hours hammered away at his favorite hobby, the wool question. With the exception of a few words at the opening, and a brief allusion to Americanism at the close of his harangue, all his cry was, "Wool!-Wool!-Wool!" His renarks were a rehash of his speeches at other places, interlarded with some of the N. Y. Tribune's "bleeding Kansas" roorbacks, and were received by his audience with an ominous silence that must have been anything but gratifying to the feelings and hopes of himself and friends. The meeting adjourned as silently as it assembled, and the illustrious 'champion of freedom' wended his way to Altoona as cheerless as he came.

Wilmot disappoints everybody wherever he goes. His party puffed him up to the dimensions of a great man, which he is not, and consequently he must everywhere disappoint is no good reason whatever, why men of such a stamp should be laid aside, to make room the people. The Pittsburg Post thus refers to one of his speeches in that city:

"He may be a very smart man, but he certainly is not much of a popular speaker.— Last night, at Lafayette Hall, he occupied about two hours with a tame and unimpressive recapitulation of precisely the same ideas upon slavery, Kansas, &c., which we have heard and read a hundred times before. He democratic nominee a man not easily defeated advanced nothing new or striking. He is a and one much the superior in every respect plain speaker, without animation and with no pretensions to eloquence. Had we not known it was David Wilmot, we might readily have mistaken the speaker for a Wesleyan Methodist preacher delivering an anti-slavery sermon. The audience were evidently disappointed."

A Speck of War.—The great Brigham of Utah seems to accept the interference of the administration in the affairs of the Latter Day Saints in somewhat bad temper. He talks in his usual strain of "sending our enemies to hell across lots," and his trumpeters and press, with less discretion but no less venom, notify the country that, if the government persists in sending such officials as have heretofore been appointed, "they will really need a larger body guard than 25,000 soldiers." Brigham also insists that the time will come when the Latter Days Saints must erect themselves into a "free and independent kingdom," and that he would regard the sending of an armed force to Utah by the government, as an evidence that "it is time for the thread to be cut," or in other

Our Judicial Candidates.

WILLIAM STRONG, which we copy from the Berks and Schuylkill Journal, the Black Republican organ of Berks County, to the attention of our readers, as showing in what estimation our candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court is held at home even by the strong a better chance, in some sections of the country, of getting to Congress, than a Washington, a Jefferson or a Franklin.—
The people do not seem to be aware that the most useful and effective public servants usually do the least talking, and not unfragrant. We commend the following notice of Hon. Supreme Court is held at home, even by his political opponents. The Journal says:

The nomination of Mr. Strong will elicit erable length, and we believe that Franklin a large vote in his favor, not only from his never did but once, and then his speech was own party, but from those who stand in the | brief, and not delivered with any flourish of position of political opponents, and this will oratory. Washington himself was utterly be the case not alone in Berks, but whereever he is known. Mr. S. is a graduate of Yale College, which he left with the highest honor. His legal career commenced in this county where his talents soon placed him at the head of the bar. He represented this county in Congress two terms, and declined a re-election. To legal abilities of the highest order, he adds great industry and power of application to business, and the unimpeachable integrity of his character, his sympathy with all business enterprises that have added to the prosperity of this city, and his private virtues, have secured him universal respect and the affectionate regards of this community. In saying this we do but justice to a political opponent."

The Warren Ledger thus alludes to Hon. James Thompson, the colleague of Mr. Strong on the Democratic State ticket:-"The people of this county are well acquainted with Judge T., he having formerly filled the office of President Judge in this district; since which he has represented this Congressional district in Congress for three successive terms—a rare occurrence in the Northern States. Having occupied public positions, at brief intervals, for a period of twenty years and upwards, his name has become as familiar as household words in this section of the State. Judge Thompson has never yet been defeated before the people, and his most sanguine opponents do not anticipate a different result in the present contest. His name is a tower of strength in Northwestern Pennsylvania, particularly in his own county, in this section of the State, we may safely predict that he will run many thousands ahead of his ticket.

Patriotism.

Can that man be patriotic who endeavors to prejudice one portion of the Union against another? Wrong acts are always fair subjects for animadversion, but this is a very different thing from exciting sectional and personal prejudices against a portion of our own people.

Did any man ever hear a Republican speech made, in which the whole people of the South were not denounced in terms that should be applied only to an enemy? 'Aristocrats,' 'nabobs,' 'nigger drivers,' with other and viler epithets are constantly applied to them by the Abolition speakers. If these men by such means succeed in inducing the same hatred of the South in the breasts of all our people vive it? Or what would the Union be worth with the two sections hating each other with fierce malevolence? But under such circumstances it would not stand, any more than two brothers could live together under the same roof who hated and constantly denounced each other as vile scoundrels.

Washington, in his farewell address, expressly cautions the people against 'designing men,' (to use his own language,) who would 'endeavor to excite a belief that there is a real difference of local interests.'

The Republican speakers who denounce the South with so much violence, thereby oppose every sentiment of patriotism and of the farewell address of Washington. If any doubt with the Republican speeches.—Clint. Dem. Stumping the State!

The opposition presses appear to be won-derfully exercised, because General Packer, yielding to the expressed views of the Democratic State Committee, declined to accompany Mr. Wilmot through the Commonwealth, and discuss with him questions which have already gone through the full process of argument, and have nothing at all to do with the subject-matter of the next gubernatorial

Now, although we know-and all who have any knowledge of the respective parties, know-that Gen. Packer is, in every respect, a more pleasing, logical, eloquent and convincing public speaker than Judge Wilmot, and although we are fully aware of the fact that, independently of all other qualifications, having the right of the argument would in-evitably lead the democratic disputant to victory over his opponent, still we are glad that "stump-speaking," as it is termed, has not been adopted as a part of the democratic system. We may, in future times, have gubernatorial candidates who, although not gifted as Gen. Packer is with the power of eloquent oratory, may possess every requisite qualifi-cation to adorn the executive chair, and there for others whose main recommendation would be that they could talk glibly, and please a listening crowd by the humor or the interesting general character of their remarks. Had such a rule prevailed in days gone by, the State might have been deprived of such men as Snyder, Findlay, Shultz, Wolf and Shunk.

Our opponents, too, would have suffered in like manner, for most of the few Governors whom they have ever succeeded in electing in this State, did not and could not lay claim to the slightest oratorical distinction.

We think, and ever have thought, that the efforts of public speakers have always had an undue rate of importance attached to them, when compared with those who give their ideas to the public by means of the pen. In many parts of our country, it has been and may be truly said, that a man who can "make a speech" although the Queen's English may be slashed without mercy, and hisory be falsified through ignorance, is, nevertheless, regarded as a man of ability by the crowd. On the other hand, a well-educated man, who possesses even the finest order of talents, who appears before the public as a mere writer, is comparatively little appreciated—the masses seeming to think, like Dogberry, that "reading and writing come by nature," and hence are to be regarded as of

An author whose name we cannot just now call to mind, truthfully remarks, that a man may write one of the best essays or articles that ever emanated from the human mind, and lay it before the public, and but few will regard it as anything remarkable; but let the same thing be printed as the verbatim report of a public speech, and every man who is able to read will pronounce it excellent.

In the political world it but too frequently occurs that no man is regarded as "great" who cannot "make a speech"—and an ignorant man, of ordinary capacity, who possesses the "gift of gab," and a store of anecdotes, would stand a better chance, in some sections unable to make what is termed "a speech"at least, extemporaneously. In our own day, the most excellent members of our National and State legislatures are not to be found among those most conspicuous as talkers—on the contrary, it may be regarded as an almost general rule, that too many of the men whose names occur most frequently in the published proceedings of such bodies, ought properly to be regarded as among the least useful and efficient members thereof.

The undue appreciation of "talking talent" to which we have alluded, has an evil effect. It prompts many public servants to do a vast amount of unnecessary talking, that they may be "heard at home," to the neglect of the actual business of their office, and the useless prolongation of sessions to the extravagant waste of the public money. "Besides, it prompts the ambitious to cultivate the "talking faculty," to the neglect of the more important requisites for real efficiency and usefulness. It would be better for the country, if the people would learn to think more of writing than of mere talking menat least, the quiet, deep thinkers, and the practical men of the land should be more generally and properly appreciated. Then our gubernatorial canvasses would never be looked upon as mere gladiatorial contests, and our sessions of Congress and of the State legislature would be shorter and of more actual value to the public.

We have been led into a digression, but to return to where we began, we repeat the expression of our gratification, that the Democratic State Committee advised General Packer against the acceptance of Mr. Wilmot's invitation to "stump the State." The question of slavery-Mr. Wilmot's peculiar hobbyhas been discussed thoroughly, and in all its bearings within the past year. Its merits have nothing to do, either one way or the other, with the fulfilment of the requirements of the gubernatorial station. The democracy of Pennsylvania are competent and willing, on all proper occasions, to give their decision on national questions of practical importance; -but when they are to choose a Governor, they do not pretend to elect him for the purpose of regulating the affairs of the nation, but to carry out what they regard as just and correct views of State policy. If they believe the candidate selected for their support possesses these essential qualities, they will give him their cordial support, and leave Judge Wilmot, like another Don Quixotte, to fight as many "windmills" as he may please to magine to be men in armor.—Norristown Register.

Correspondence of the Milwaukee Sentinel. Indian Difficulties in Minnesota.

Crow Wing, M. T., Sunday, Aug. 23, 1857. The past week has been one of unusual excitement to the people of this portion of the Territory, in consequence of the hanging by the people of three Indians for the murder of a Dutchman on the road some fifteen miles above here. Two squaws, knowing of the sad affair, hastened to inform the nearest whites. Pursuit was at once made to capture them, which was soon effected, and they were then handed over to the sheriff to be taken to St. Paul or Fort Snelling. Before such a step could be accomplished, the whites took the prisoners in charge and conveyed them to Little Falls. The facts being made known it was decided to hang the three at once .--Evening was the time appointed for carrying into effect the intent of their hasty determination. A point on the roadside was selected, a pole was extended from two trees, a farm wagon was driven under it, and on the end stood the three doomed men, who acknowledged their guilt. The nooses were made fast to the pole and passed around their necks; the word was given to the driver and off he drove, all three falling a distance of 18 inch-
