Many of our citizens may be ignorant of the fact that a Literary Association exists in the ancient borough! It has been in existence for some months, and we are pleased to learn that it is in a flourishing condition.

Two Noble Bors .- The following facts we find in the Harrisburg Daily Herald of Monday :--- As the Fast Mail train came to Huntingdon, on the Pennsylvania R. R., on the 30th ult., the Conductor, Col. Roclofs, was notified by a small boy that there was a land-slide one mile East of that place, The Conductor gave orders to run carefully until he could ascertain the truth of the report.---When the train reached the place there was a large pile of stones and clay upon the track enough to have precipitated the whole train down in the Canal. The boys, whose names are James Stewart and Alferd Zeigler, had discovered the slide, whe none of them started to the station to warn the approaching train, while the other remained to give the signal if the other failed. The Conductor gave them a reward, and reported the circumstance to the Superintendent, T. A. Scott, who gave them a handsome reward.

A DROWNED MAN FOUND .- On Saturday last the body of an unknown man was found in the Huntingdon dam, about three miles gro. Examination and Exhibition of Franklin School, Springfield District. [For the Globe.]

The examination and exhibition of Franklin School, under the charge of Mr. Joun M. MCANNICH, came off at Meadow Gap, on the evening of the 3d of April, to the entire satisfaction of all present. At one o'clock the entire school marched through the village, addressing the inhabitants, County Superintendent, and all others present, in a polite and courteous manner, which was sufficient to show at a glance the delightful way in which pupils can be taught both by parents and professors. The examination commenced at half past one, P. M., and continued for a good style and masterly manner.

An address on the subject of education, was then delivered by Mr. Owen, our worthy County Superindent, which occupied an hour and a half. The address was very ap-propriate on the occasion, and was delivered in an easy and eloquent manner.

The exhibition commenced at half past six o'clock and was gracefully conducted. It was highly entertaining to all present, and everything passed off smoothly. On the whole, t was quite a creditable affair. Their declamations were of the very best selections and all well spoken. Their dialogues and original pieces were of the first quality, and well performed,-which was highly creditable both to the pupils and professor. The circumstances connected with Franklin School plainly show that neither professor or pupils are behind the times. As is nearly always the case on such occasions, there were some present who conducted themselves in a very rude manner.-

Death of the Last Pennsylvnia Slave. [From the Lancaster Express of April 28.]

We some time since noticed that there was but one slave left in this country, of the number manumitted under the act abolishing slavery in Pennsylvania. That, the last relic of the "civilized barbarism" of our fathers, is now no more. He died on the 5th inst., at a very advanced age, supposed by many to be the oldest person in the county. His name was Abram Kirk, and he was the slave of Stephen Porter, of Drumore township, by whom he was manumitted. His exact age is not known, the slave record of the Court of Quarter Sessions, in which the date of his birth, and other particulars, were no doubt registered, not being among the other records of that office. The index is there, in which impression is, not that the plots for assassin-it appears that Stephen Porter had a slave ation will succeed in their direct and present registered in book No. 1, the missing record referred to. It has been ascertained, however, from other dates, that Kirk was over 103 years old when he died, and the presumption is, that he was still of more advanced age .-floating on the water, near the towing-path, | Ile was, in many respects, a remarkable ne-

In the origin, the ceremony was to be a pure civil and municipal one; but, when it was discovered that so great a danger threatened, it was resolved to change its character altogether, and instead of a municipal, it became a military fete. Connected with this, I can relate you a curious circumstance that has just occurred, and for which I can youch. The Emperor's existence is an all but impossible one; he is so surrounded by plots that every day brings to light, so compelled now to suspect the very individuals who serve him in the interior of the palace, that it is next to a positive miracle that he should escape. His own faith in his preservation is shaken; and from day to day, from hour to hour, anything may happen in Paris, and Paris become a place where no one who is not forced to live should not be desirous of prolonging his stay. All this may not occur-it is possible that nothing of it at all may happen; but it is just as possible that it may all occur any day; and that being the real state of affairs here, I cannot reconcile it to myself not to to leave this country at a moment's notice." If I could name to you the man who pro-

The Pardoning Power.

Too much discretion, says the Philadelphia Bulletin, cannot be exercised in pardoning criminals. For one chance of escape there burglar, is less a fancy than many suppose. Some time since, we saw it stated that duelection, Chaffee took a ticket, and tore off of the ticket. On being asked the reason for discarding the Governor, he said : " He pardons out too many rascals."

When a man who has never in his life been guilty of offences, suddenly, in the heat of passion and under provocation, commits an assault or personal violence, he may, after a season of confinement; be very properly pardoned. Such offences are of a different nature from those committed by the man confidence to the Emperor mappinon and called upon a lady friend of mine, with whom, and with whose husband, he has been crime. > I A New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, under date of April 30, says :---

A few days since, as a party of school bys were playing on a knoll, in Greenwood Cemetery, near the main entrance, the em-bankment suddenly gave way, and on an examination being made, by people in the vi-cinity, an aperture was discovered in the hill sufficient to admit a man. A number of persons pushed in, and discovered, about 100 feet from the entrance, a sort of room, well filled with furniture; a lantern hung from the ceiling; in one corner was a jar of liwarn you, and not to advise you to be ready quor; and everything about and around seemed to show that the place had recently been isabited !

The party proceeded to explore the cavern, but had not proceeded far, when a noise was heard in the distance, as though proceeding from human beings, and this so terrified the adventurers, that they beat a hasty retreat so that nothing further was discovered .--Many hundreds of people from this city have danger, which is every bit as great, and gone over to view this mysterious cavern, which is evident to some few of those who and the excitement in the neighborhood of the Cemetery is said to be very great. A dozen graves, at least, are over the cave.

DIED.

A. CENNINGLAN, aged about 40 years. The death of Mr. Cunningham is a loss to our commu-nity of a valued citizen. With the exception of a few years, his manhood was spent in Lewistown, and through his connection with the press, and as a public officer, he was well known throughout the country, and highly es-teemed. He eame to this place from Huntingdon county shortly after attaining his majority, and soon won the con-fidence and regard which integrity and genuine manliness of character always inspires, and sustained it to the last. He was loved most by those who knew him best. He was modest and unassuming, as he was frank, open and gener-ous. He had a large heart which met the demands of mis-fortune more than half way, and always with a free and open hand. If he was generous, he was also a just man in all his intercourse with the world, discharging every du-ty and meeting every responsibility. Our friend has gone, and while this community laments its loss, it sympathizes with the relatives in their painful bereavement. To the with the relatives in their painful bereavenent. To the God of the fatherless and the afflicted we commend them for comfort in this hour of misfortune. He was a good man, and his reward is on high; his work is done and his habors, in answer to his dying prayer, approved. He rests

Hollidaysburg, Exchange Hotel, "27. Lewistown, National Hotel, "27. Dr. Hardman treats Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Larryngittis and all diseases of the throat and lungs, by Medical Inhalation, lately used in the Bromton Hospital, London. The great point in the treatment of all human maladies, is to get at the disease in the direct manner.— All medicines are estimated by their action upon the organ requiring relief. This is the important fact upon which Inhalation is based. If the stomach, If the lungs are dis-cased, breathe or inhale medicated vapors directly into the lungs. Medicines are antidotes to disease and should be applied to the very seat of disease. Inhalation is the application of this principle to the treatment of the lungs, for it gives us direct access to those intricate air cells, and tubes which lie out of reach of every other means of ad-ministering medicines. The reason that Consumption, and other diseases of the lungs, have heretofore resisted all treatment has been because they have never been ap-proached in a direct manner by medicine. They were in-tended to act upon the lungs, and yet were applied to the stutionally, expending their immediate and principal ac-tion upon the unofiending stomach, whilst the foul ulcers within the lungs were unmolested. Inhalation brings the medicine in direct contact with the disease, without the disadvantage of any violent action. Its application is so simple, that it can be employed by the youngest infant or feeblest invalid. It does not derange the stomach, or in-terfere in the least degree with the strength, confort, or business of the patient. Other Diseases Treated.—In relation to the following dis-eases, either when complicated with lung affections or ex-isting alone, 1 also invite consultation, I usually find them

What Congress Decided on Friday Last.

I. That although the people of Kansas have repeatedly rejected the Lecompton Constitution. with all its protection to slavery, they must take that Constitution now, or wait till they have a population of 93,000 or 120,000. II. That the people can have no vote upon the Lecompton Constitution under the English bill, as lately, most positively, and disin the Senate, and by Mr. Stephens, in the House.

III. But, in order to bribe them to take it. some four millions of acres of land are offered -to them, which if they accept, they go into the Union with Lecompton, and which if they reject, they remain out an indefinite period of time.

IV. If they take Lecompton with the land bribe, which is a slave Constitution, simply and wholly, they enter the Union with 30,000 of a population; if they refuse it, they will remain in a territorial condition under proslavery management for years to come.

V. That the commission appointed to hold the election in Kansas, when the land ordinance (not the Constitution) is submitted, has sist of a majority of pro-slavery men, who fact that his watch had also been taken.

A Touching Scene in State Prison---A Child in Search of its Father. From the Sing Sing Chronicle.]

One evening last week, just as the bell of their departure from the institution, a little girl about seven years of age entered the warden's office. On being questioned as to ette called out to those in charge of the boat, her name and errand, she said that her name was Agnes W----, and that she had "come all the way from New York to see her father, This old slave had a scrupulous regard for whom her mother had told her was in prison honesty and the truth. On one occasion, at Sing Sing." The intelligent and mourn-some two or three years ago, he was called to ful looks of the child soon enlisted the sympathy of the warden and other officers, and court. He told a straight-forward story of it was at once decided to gratify the wishes

> But a difficulty at once arose-there being no less than four convicts bearing the same name as her father, but this difficulty was soon overcome by the little girl herself.

She said that her father was a cooper by trade, and it became apparent at once that the truth-a conclusion in which he was the J---- W--- employed in the "shook doubtless not far astray. Looking the limb shop" was the looked-for father. He was soon brought from his cell to the office, and gaze, he said "Do you think I came here to the scene which took place between the con-tell a lie ?" This satisfied the questioner that vict father and his child will not soon be forvict father and his child will not soon be forgotten by those who witnessed it. Accustomed as the officers are to affecting scenes between the convicts and their relatives, this was too much for their feelings, and a tear tended, for while living he had been highly stood in the eye of many of those stout-hearted men.

The story of little Agnes to her father was that her mother was very poor, lived out at service, and could not come to see him, so she thought she would come herself: that she left New York that morning without one cent of money-walked through the city till she came to the railroad that some boys told her passed through Sing Sing; that she crept in one of the cars and hid herself away, and, when found by the conductor, he allowed her to ride all the way up for nothing, and that some of the boys in the village told her the way to the prison.' After spending some time with her father, she was kindly taken care of for the night nearest the weight of any man by lifting by one of our citizens, and the next morning a lady of our village accompanied her to the stranger stopped to see how the thing New York, and had her placed in an asylum turned out. FUNERAL OF A MENICAN VOLUNTEER .- The funeral of John F. Bachman, a gallant young soldier of the Mexican war, took place at Easton on Sunday last. After a funeral sermon by the Rev. John Beck, the body was conveyed to the cemetery : the Scott Legion of Philadelphia, the Easton volunteer companies, and delegations from Mauch Chunk, Allentown, Bethlehem, together with a large concourse of citizens, accompanied by Pomp's Cornet Band, took part in the sad rites .--Minute guns were fired from Mount Jefferson during the progress of the funeral cortege, and the Scott Legion fired the usual volleys over the grave. It is estimated that at least ten thousand persons were present.

AN IMPORTANT FACT .- A recent article in the London Times reveals the important fact, that the government of England has it in contemplation to seek for military recruits for India, among the fugitive slaves which are now in Canada. This is turning philanthropy to a profitable account.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS.

SATURDAY, May 1.—There is no change in Breadstuffs to-day, and but little selling, the demand for Flour being to supply the home trade, at from $4.50 to $4.68% for super-fine, $4.75@5 for extras, and $5.25 up to $6.50 per barrel for extra family and fancy brands, as to quality. There is no shipping inquiry to-day and the market is very quiet. Corn Mcal is steady at $3.25 per bbl. Of Rye Flour small sales are making at the same price. Wheats are not nuch inquired for, and prime lots only are saleable at $1.10@1.12 for reds, and $1 25@1.28 for white, at which figure about 1.500 bus, have been sold to-day. Corn is in moderate sup-ply and steady at 71c affoat, 60c in store, with sales of 4,000 bushels mostly at the former price; $00 bushels white brought 67c. Coats are unchanged, and about 4,500 bus. Pennsylyania sold at $32@4.42c. Kye is wanted, but at a price below the views of holders, who ask 70c for Penn-sylvania; some small sales are reported at less.
