"WHERE IS YOUR HOME?"

Tell me ye dew-drops that sparkle in the early morning and make the little blades of grass look as though they were cased in glass-"Where is your home!" for as soon as the eastern sky is illuminated with that bright orb of day, you sparkle for a little, and then disappear. But, "where is your home?" Is it in those bright stars that sparkle in the clear blue vault of Heaven? Yes, I think it must be there, for when they are hid from view by clouds, you come not, and I think that must be your home, and you come to visit as in the early morning to make our eart appear more beautiful.

Tell us, little child, with your golden ringlets and sunny smile, as you trip along so light and gay with your basket of bright spring flowers, "where is your home?" I wonder if it will not answer, that it is in that pretty cottage by the side of the brook, whose waters are so bright and sparkling that they seem like drops of chrystal.

Yes, that is a lovely home, for the flow ers seem as if they grow more luxuriant there than they do elsewhere; for there it was that it had filled its basket with those beautiful gifts of Heaven, flowers. Well may you trip lightly with your flowers, little one, for the dark shades of sorrow have not yet crossed your pathway, and may those bright gifts be a shield to protect you there.

Ask that frail, weak form, that we see resting upon a bench beneath the drooping willow, which almost hides her from view-where her home is, and her answer will be, "I am staying here for a short time, but my home is far beyond the clouds and stars, and I am waiting for the voice of the angels to call me there. This beautiful world has been my resting place for a few short years, but I now feel that my home will soon be with the blessed, and with bright seraph forms I hope soon to sing hymns around the Savior's throne."

SWEETER FAR IN HEAVEN.

It was evening. We were seated alone at the piano, breathing a song of beauty and joy: and as our fingers glided gently up the silver-keyed octaves, and the music "soul of beauty," gushed forth responsive to our touch, it seemed that nowhere in this glad earth could there be hearts beating heavily-so light and joyous was our own. The last echo had died away in the distance, and turning from the instrument, our eye rested upon the silvered locks and bending form of one whose countenance bespoke a pure and noble heart. We had never met before, but he whispered softly, while a smile of beauty wreathed his colorless lips, "Young maiden, 'twill be sweeter far in heaven!" Oh, how those few simple words changed the current of our thoughts: and when, in words of winning eloquence, he spoke of the comforts of our holy religion and urged us to consecrate our life, our talents, our all, to the service of our Maker, we thought no sacrifice too great, if, like him, we too might see unfolding before our spirit's vision the glories of the Celestial City.

Weeks fled, and that old man, wearied of earth, folded his thin arms and went to sleep. They laid him to rest, away in the church-yard; but we know that there was but the casket—that the spirit, no longer fettered, was basking in the sunlight of the Savior's smile: and that his voice, no longer tremulous, mingled in the anthems of the "just made perfect." And when at twilight hour we breathe a song of "olden time," beautiful, indeed, through the vista of the past, comes the remembrance of those joy-inspiring words,-"'Twill be sweeter far in heaven!"

DAT'S WHAT MISSUS MAKES HEARN OB.—The Henderson (Ky.) Commercial tells the story of a fashionable "lady of color," who was promenading the streets on Sunday last, when all at once, newspapers commenced falling, and her dimensions contracting, until about fifty papers were strewn upon the street, nor was she aware of the loss until a little darkey, just behind, exclaimed at the top of his voice, "Lor, a massy, I's do believe dat nigger is made of newspapers." This raised the "lady's" ire, when she retorted by exclaiming, "You fool, boy, dat's what missus makes hern ob."

The tomb-stone of a sweet girl, blind from her birth, bears the appropriate inscription-"There is no night there." The tomb-stone of a child who died at the age of three years, has inscribed upon it the befitting words—"Went in the morn-

OBEY GOD RATHER THAN MAN. A poor boy, in a foreign country, about welve or thirteen years old, became impressed with religion by reading God's vord. He was apprenticed to an ungodly master, a tailor, who made him work on Sundays as on other days. Before long. the boy, fearing lest he should be doing wrong, came and asked advice of a pious friend as to what he ought to do-whether he should obey his master, when he forbade him to attend the worship of God, and forced him to work instead.

The answer, of course, could be but one -that both he and his master ought to keep the day of the Lord; and that if his master would not obey God's command he, for his part, should follow his conscience, and say to his master, "We must obey God rather than man."

After a time, the boy returned to his friend, and with tears in his eyes told him his master had whipped him because he refused to work on Sundays. His friend endeavored to strengthen him, telling him it was better to suffer on his back than in his conscience, and encouraged him to work on for that God would not allow him to suffer more than he could bear.

The next Sunday, the master, with the whip in his hand, came to the boy, who sat reading, and said to him, "Choose, now, which you will; either to work or to taste this whip."

It was a trying moment for the brave little fellow; but after a very short pause, he plucked up courage and answered.-"You may whip me if you choose, but my conscience commands me, and I will not

This answer, one might have thought, was enough to soften the heart of the ungodly master; and it had such influence with him that he did not punish the boy at that time.

This was a truly brave boy! What boy who reads this will be as brave the next time he is called upon to obey God rather than man? This is the sort of courage boys want-courage for God-not to fear anything so long as we are pleasing and obeying Him.

INSECT IN THE LUNGS .- The Evansville (Ga.) Journal relates that a young man of that city had been for some months afflicted with a serious cough and hemorrhage from the lungs, so that it was feared he was entering into a fatal consumption. But he was relieved in a singular manner. One night he was attacked, while in bed, with a violent fit of coughing, which was followed with a copious hemorrhage, and as the blood flowed from his lips he felt a solid substance of some size pass them. On examining the blood thrown up, a bug with six horny legs and incipient delicate wings, was found in it. The head of the insect was out of proportion to its body. The former was of the size of a small pea, with eyes distinctly perceptible, while its body was only the size of a large grain of barley. The thing was alive and active. Since this occurrence, the unpleasant sensations have passed off, and the cough has ceased, and the only trouble has been one slight hemorrhage a day or two after expectorating the bug. The sufferer is of the opinion that he inhaled larva, or egg of the insect, and that it entered the substance of his lungs, and then hatched, as the sensation of expelling the creature was like tearing away a portion of the organ.

NUMBER OF NEWSPAPERS IN THE WORLD. I'he following is supposed to be the number of Newspapers in the world: 10 in Austria, 14 in Africa, 24 in Spain, 26 in Portugal, 30 in Asia, 65 in Belgium, 85 in Denmark, 50 in Russia and Poland, 350 in the Germanic States, 500 in Great Britain and Ireland, and 2,000 in the United States. Total, 3,154. From the foregoing it will be seen that in the United States are issued nearly twice as many as all other nations combined.

THE NEW YORK STEAM SAW-MILL AND MACHINE COMPANY, CAPITAL, TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

This company has been organized with the above capital for the purpose of supplying the demand for the COMBINATION PORTABLE STEAM SAW-MILL, and other improved machinery.

They have purchased the entire machinery business heretofore carried on by J. M. Emerson & Co., also the Montgomery Works at Yonkers, on the Hudson, near this city, and with the experience and facilities combined in its organization are prepared to furnish machinery of all kinds at more liberal rates, than has ever been offered at any other establishment.

The Combination Saw-Mill was patented October, 1856, and is now generally acknowledged to be the cheapest, and most practical, and efficient lumber manufacturing machine in the world. A number of them are in successful operation in different sections of the country, Canada, Cuba, and South America, and wherever their merits have cuoa, and South America, and wherever their ments have been tested they are being adopted by lumber manufactu-rers in preference to all other mills. The following letter expresses the general opinion of those who are using the Combination Mill: MESSIS. EMERSON & Co.—Gentlemen: I have tried the saw-mill purchased of you, and will say that it performs well, and more thangeneets my expectations. I am well pleased with its performance. I set it up on a small stream that afforded constant water about as thick as my little that afforded constant water about as thick as my little finger, which was much more than sufficient to supply the boiler. We are able to cut 3.000 feet of beautiful lumber in 12 hours, with something less than one cord of wood.—It is the very thing we have so much needed in our county for a long time. With a little trouble and expense, we are able to move it from five to ten miles per day, and set it up in the heart of the timber, which saves the great burden of hauling the logs a long distance to the mill.

Yours respectfully, Jesse Kran. Jr., Louisville, Tennessee.

The company has purchased Lund's Patent Feed Arrangement, which is illustrated and described in the Scientific American for October 24. This adds greatly to the efficiency of the mill.

THE COMBINATION MILL, with all the recent improvements, and steam power of 15 horses, is capable of sawing from 3,000 to 4,000 feet in 12 hours, and is sold for $1.650.

THE NEW YORK CIRCULAR SAW-MILL

Is manufactured only by this company. It is of superior contruction, and sold for 25 per cent. less than other mills of no greater capacity. A mill with 86 to 54 inch saw can be sold for $450 to $500, and with a 20-horse engine and boiler is sold for $2.200.

Steam Engines and Boilers; Engines of from 1 to 100 horse power; Locomotive, Tabular, Flue and Cylinder Boilers turnished at greatly reduced prices from former quotations.

Drawings, with plans and specifications for buildings and machinery, furnished gratis to our customers.

Competent mechanics are sent out to put up and set in Competent nechanics are sent out to put up and set in operation our machinery, when required.

We also manufacture Shingle Machines, Planing Machines, Sugar-Mills, and Machinery in general.

Special attention paid to getting up Shafting and Pullies for manufactories, and all kinds of mill-wright work.

This company are selling in great numbers a Patent Conical Burr. Stone Mill, for flour, corn meal, and all kinds of feed, which is pronounced by experienced millers, both in this country and Europe, the best mill ever constructed. It will grind more grain in the same time, and with halt the power, of any mill of the same price in the market.

We also furnish other styles of Grist-Mills, when required.
