Huntingdon, Wednesday, June 30, 1858. The Burning Mountain---Hot Sulphur Springs.

[Correspondence of The Press.] Pottsville, June 19, 1858.

Twenty-three years ago, be the same more or less, a party of miners were driving a drift on the great jugular coal vein, on the slope of the Broad Mountain, and nearly opposite the Mine Hill Water Gap, one of the most picturesque scenes in the state. It was winter—and being so, the water which drippled down through the timbering congealed in huge stalactites, and converted the interior into walls of brilliant glacial crystals. To remove this obstruction, a fire was kindled on Saturday afternoon, and then the miners withdrew to spend the intervening Sabbath.

Upon entering the mine, on Monday morning they found the timbers blackened and charred, and the coal vein itself discharging volumes of sulphurous gasses, and crackling and hissing in a slow but terrible combustion. The vein of coal was from twenty-five to fifty feet in thickness, dips nearly perpendicularly and has a strike of nearly half a mile between the abraded valleys which form its termini above water-level. All efforts to extinguish the fire proved unavaling; and now after the town, and perhaps injure to some extent quarter of a century of volcanic action, durthe buildings on the levee. A very heavy tain has been pitted with numerous little craters, it is still burning, and mouldering, and steaming away as vigorously as a control of the moundary cased before night. The Vigilance Committee are watching the steaming away as vigorously as ever.

The waters which issue from the mountain are warm, and at some points quite hot .-This was natural enough, and excited no particularly curiosity. A year or two ago, however, Mr. John Maginnis had occasion to drive in an adit below the old level, and while thus engaged the miners found that, besides being very hot, the water had some other very puculiar and extraordinary qualities. Its damaging effects upon shoe-leather presented at once a new and singular phase in the statistics of mining economy. The water would take the liberty of running right through the stoutest and most compact waterproof boots; but, in doing this, it was observed with compensating satisfaction, that bunand a feeling of unmistakable agility and springness in the limbs, and of general stamina in the whole system, so utterly at variance with the exhaustive daily labor of the miner, at once followed the foot marks of original curiosity. Familiarity with the waters, and the hot vapors of the mine, soon elevated to the very highest pitch the popular estimate of their medicinal qualities. They began to drink them, and the effects were pleasant and decided; they bathed in them, and it was found that they not only healed ordinary cuts, bruises, and swellings to which laborers are exposed, but also scrofulous cruptions, and the whole family of diseases arising from impure blood and a weak and feeble constitution. The most excruciating pains of rheumatism have been dispelled almost instantaneously, and as if by magic. Some of the most extraordinary effects on record have been produced within the last three months; persons whose contracted tendons bent their bodies like a hoop, or contorted their limbs, or suffered otherwise the painful effects of diseases, have, in a brief process of drinking and bathing, been restored to complete health—enjoying a tone, a freshness and vigor of body and mind to which they had formely been strangers. An old horse, which had long done service in the mines, became at length so crippled and debilitated as to be hardly able to move. In this condition he was turned loose, and allowed to shift for himself. He ranged along the burning mountain; inhaled its steaming vapor; drank its thermal waters; and wallowed in its marshy pools. He soon returned to the scenes of his former labor, looking strong and cheerful, and stepping over the ground with the mus-cular grace of a cat. A brief trial of the waters had thus snatched the old stager from impending death. These wonderful performances, occuring in our very midst, have given the waters a celebrity which is extending itself abroad; and there is not a day that does not bring its scores of persons to the mine in quest of supplies. A month ago, I met a friend alighting from his carriage, who had just returned from the mine, and bearing with him a large demijohn. Feeling a curiosity which, I hope was not too obtrusive for the personal regard I entertain for my friend, I ventured an inquiry as to the contents of the jug. He told me it contained mineral water from the Burning Mountain: that he had heard great things of it, and that he was going to send the demijohn to a friend, (Mr. S..) one of the proprietors of a leading morning paper in your city. I do not know what purpose the water thus forwarded may have subserved, but a few days ago a letter reached here ordering a barrel of it to be sent down as soon as possible, and instituting sundry inquiries regarding the phenomenon. Similar orders are coming from New York and elsewhere, and they are calculated to stimulate measures for their immediate introduction to the public .-There are, as yet, no facilities whatever for bathing at the mine. The nearest inn is more than a mile distant. It is very doubtful, moreover, whether improvements for the accommodation of guests will be made at all, inasmuch as the lease of Mr. Maginnis is for a comparatively short period, and would not justify the necessary expenses of its equipments as a watering place. It is contemplated, for the present, to convey the water away from the mine, and, if sufficient encouragement be shown by the land-owners and others interested, to erect bathing-houses, and a plain hotel building. The water may then be sent to Philadelphia in hogshead, and afforded at such low rates per gallon or cask as to place it within the means of all classes.

TERRIBLE DISASTER AT A MASONIC CELE-BRATION-FORTY OR FIFTY WOUNDED .- The Masons celebrated St. John's Day at Wellsville, N. Y., on June 24, and after an oration, adjourned to a large hall for dinner. About seven hundred persons had entered the room. when about half of the floor gave way, pre-cipitating about three hundred to the floor beneath. At the same instant the floor above came down with a quantity of Cutler's fanwas killed, but from forty to fifty were wounded, and about twenty seriously. Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf, of Wellsville; Mr. Daniel Friendship; Mrs. Colvin, of Bingham, Pennsylvania, are reported dangerously injured. alive, and most of them comfortable.

The Flood at Cairo.

[Correspondence of the St. Louis Republican.] Cairo, June 18, A. M.—The Eclipse arrived up yesterday afternoon, with 250 passengers and a light freight. She burst her heater when near Natchez, killing two persons by the explosion. She lost twenty hours by the accident, and will be laid up at New Albany for repairs.

The Rodolph has a number of passengers. She went to Mound City yesterday afternoon, and left here at 10 o'clock last night. The Vigilance Committee shipped off on her fourteen vagabonds who were not needed here. The New York passed up at 8 o'clock with a good freight.

The river rose here one and a half inches yesterday, but yet lacks nearly two feet of cetting over the Ohio levee at the steamboat landing. The Mississippi was falling as far down as Cape Girardeau when the Rodolph passed there. The Ohio fell a half inch at Paducah yesterday. Wabash is rising very rapidly, being higher than it has been known since 1823. Cumberland is falling, and Tennessee rising slowly.

The condition of the levee has not materially altered since yesterday morning. No buildings have fallen, and it is probable that we have experienced the worst, unless a heavy wind should spring up, which would probably do considerable damage inside of preventing depredations, and sending off suspected persons and those who desire to leave.

There is a quantity of stock collected upon the levees, with nothing to eat, and the committee yesterday offered to send all the cattle to high ground by the ferry-boat Manchester, but the owners refused to let them go. We are somewhat annoyed by people who are continually coming here out of mere curiosity, who can be of no possible use, and are only in the way.

The Thomas Scott, Cairo and Paducah packet, is rendering very essential service by taking all the people who desire to leave on the cars or for the upper river, taking the poor gratis, and accommodating with meals and lodging as many as possible. She makes ions, corns, and all cutaneous sores and ex-crescences very mysteriously disappeared, ing for the train, and brings down the passengers at night on her return from Padu-

Three hundred feet of the track of the Illinois Central, below Burkeville, eight miles above Cairo, have been washed away; and across that point there is water from Charleston. Mo., to the bluffs in Kentucky, a distance of nearly thirty miles.

The inhabited portion of Mound City is nearly all under water, more or loss, and the passage from house to house is chiefly effected by means of boats and rafts. There is three feet of water in front of the Shelton House. The "Locust Mound," whence the place is named, has cracked in several places, and is slightly caving in. A false floor has been arranged in the hotel, which obviates nearly all inconvenience, and the landlord, Mr. Place, continues to supply his guests with plenty of good provisions. About half a mile of the Mound City Railroad is under water, but the trains all arrive and depart

This last sad tribute to his memory was participated in by the Leiderkrantz, Harmoneon, and Arion singing asso-ciations, the Turner Vereins, the employees of Messys Gaeble & Co. and Krable & Co. Dexter, of Independence; Mrs. Johnson, of of Messrs. Gachle & Co., and Knabe & Co., piano manufacturers, together with a large concourse of other citizens. At the grave At noon, the next day, all the injured were the several musical associations joined in bills, singing a grand funeral requiem, the melodies of which, combined with the sobs of and impressive character.

The order of the Postmaster General to the Postmasters throughout the country, directing them to retain all letters, received at their instituted a suit for divorce and alimony offices addressed to fictitious names, has fallen like a wet blanket upon a class of sharpers who have grown rich in practising on the credulity of the public. There are a half dozen or more of this class located in Albany whose profits have a revolver, when whose profits have been seriously affected by the order of the Postmaster General. One has grown to opulence by advertising that he s the manufacturer of "love powders," which possess the power of charming to your embraces the proudest beauties and the most intractable of the sterner sex!" These powders are sent by mail at three dollars a box. They cannot cost the manufacturer much more than three cents each. He assures the gullible that the use of one box is generally sufficient; a second is almost certain to captivate the coldest; but in rare instances a third must be resorted to. That, however, was never known to fail! The victim receives the first and second boxes in return for his six dollars; but he never gets a return for his third investment. He might write fifty times after that to the love powder man, but he will receive no answer. Another sharper advertises that he is the manufacturer of bogus coin, which will pass for good even at the mint—a description of coin, that will successfully stand all chemical tests and defy the shrewdest bank detectives. The rogue who would deal safely in bogus money sends five dollars to purchase some .-He receives in return ten dollars in good coin manufactured at the mint. The sharper is now out five dollars, but his victim, finding that the ten dollars sent him pass readily at a profit to him of fifty per cent., concludes to go to work on a larger scale. He sends fifty dollars, and expects one hundred of the perfect "bogus" in return; but he hears no more from the coin operator, who by giving ten dollars for five dollars gains fifty dollars. This fellow, it will be perceived, is completey secure from criminal prosecution. He oes not deal in bogus coin at all, and his victims dare not complain, because in doing so they would be compelled to admit to the world that they were anxious to operate in counterfeit money.

Another advertises that for the moderate sum of fifty dollars he will impart to any lawyer a secret that will, beyond all chances, enable him to win every suit in which he may be engaged, whether of love or law .-The charm consists in the possession of the eyes of a very rare Egyptian fowl, which none can procure but the advertiser! Strange as it may seem this fellow has eaught some flats and pocketed their money. When asked what return he proposed to make to one of his victims, he replied that he would go into State street, purchase a spring chicken, cook and eat the meat, extract the eyes and send them to the wistful lawyer, and if they could see further than his victim's eyes, of which he had no doubt, he might win the suit.

These sharpers bear fictitious names, and nence all communications to them are retained. They will be sent to the dead letter

It may not be amiss to say that the general order affects a few, in this city and elsewhere, whose business is deemed by the public comparatively legitimate, but who, for reasons best known to themselves, have thought proper to conduct it under names other than their own. The dflieulty with regard to them

He watched her one day as she went with another lady to pick strawberthe other woman fled. Horror stricken, she promised to live with him again. He replied by telling her that she was lying, and immediately fired at her, the ball grazing her temple. She sprang to him and begged for mercy. He refused. She then appealed to him for time to pray, and was allowed to pray for her husband, her children and herself. Arnold then grasped her with one arm, inexorable to all her supplications for mercy, fired at her three times, each ball taking effect in the head. The woman who fled told the story, and Arnold was pursued and arrested at his mother's house, in the act of writing his will.

UNTINGDON WARM SPRINGS.
The WARM SPRINGS, at the base of Warrior's Ridge, five miles North of Huntingdon. overlooking Standing-Stone Creek, and environced by romantic hills and woodlands, have been leased by the former proprietor of the Leamer House. The extensive Hotel buildings, Bath houses, &c., erected at great expense by Gen. A. P. Wilson, have been completed—and the Groves have been beautifully laid out and adorned. The Hotel Parlors and Chambers are airy and comfortably furnished; and the prospect, from the Verandahs, for Beanty, cannot be excelled.

For half a century, these Springs have been celebrated for their Medicinal qualities, and the Great Virtue ot the waters in Rheumatic or Chronic affections. The temperature of the water being 69½ degrees renders the Bathing delightful and invigorating. In the surrounding woods and mountains Game abounds, and the finest fish are caught in Stone creek.

OTICE TO CLAIMANTS of the Juniata Division and Portage Rail Road.

By the 17th section of the Act to provide for the payment of certain claims against the Commonwealth approved the 24th of April. 1858, the Canal Commissioners are authorized to examine all claims against the Commonwealth contracted by Wm. S. Calohan, late Superintendent of the Portage Rail Road, and by J. D. Leet and J. A. Cunningham, late Supervisors on the Juniata Division, and which were not reported by those officers to the Board. In pursuance of this authority the Board of Canal Commissioners will meet in Hollidaysburg on Tuesday the 6th of July, and at Johnstown on Tuesday the Sth of July next, for the purpose of examining all such claims as are embraced in the provisions of said act.

Claimants will present their claims at either of these places as may be most convenient to them, and be prepared with such proof as may be necessary to their proper authoritication.

authentication.

The claimants will perceive the necessity for their prompt attendance at the times and places above stated, as it may be the last opportunity the Board may have to examine and take action upon these claims.

By order of the Board,

THOMAS L. WILSON, Secretary. May 25, 1858.
