THE GLOBE.

Huntingdon, Wednesday, Nov. 10, 1858. What Europe is Doing.

Mr. Walsh, the Paris correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, speaks of the activity which is exhibited by the nations of Europe in military armaments, as well as in the more useful improvements in the mechanic arts, and in the development of their intellectual and physical resources. The following is an extract from a recent letter:

"The British Government is fortifying all bourga cuirassed (iron-sided) frigate, and has others on the stocks. The Trieste Gazette announces that, by order of the Emperor of carry 60 guns; three of the second class, of 50 guns; three of the third class of 31 guns; frigates and two corvettes with propellers; tail. two transport ships that may be armed in time of war; eight gun-boats, &c. All the Governments that have sea-coasts and ports are engaged in rendering themselves naval. A Russian squadron is expected at Toulon. The British press calculates that in another year France will possess 40 screw line-of-battle ships. It deserves to be remarked, that, while there is a general increase of land and sea armaments, all the Powers profess the ble peace; and we may believe them. They are not less earnest in promoting internal improvement of every description. In a recent American speech the term decrepit is applied to Europe. This strikes me as an utter mistake. Europe is advancing wonderfully in social energies, intellectual forces, the mechanic arts, the application of the grand discoveries of the century, improvements of laws and institutions,"

Mr. Clay to the Boys.

The Western Farmers' Almanae for 1859, contains a letter from the Sage of Ashland, to one of his namesakes, which has never before been published, and is so characteristic of that great man, that we take great pleasure in transferring it to our columns:

Ashland, July 7th, 1845. My DEAR LITTLE NAMESAKE :- Your parents have done me the honor to give my name to you. On that account, and at the request of your good mother, I address this note which she wishes to preserve for your perusal, when, by the lapse of time, you shall have attained an age that will enable you to comprehend and appreciate its friendly pur-

Your parents entertain fond hopes of jou, and you ought to strive not to disappoint them. They wish you to be good, respected, and eminent. You can realize their most sanguine hopes, if you firmly resolve to do so, by judicious employment of your time and your faculties. Shun bad company, and all diss :pation -its inevitable consequence. Study diligently and perseveringly. You will be surprised at the ease with which you will master branches of knowledge, which, at first view, will frighten you. Make honor, probity, truth, and principle, your invariable guides. Be obedient, and always affectionately respectful to your parents. Assiduously cultivate virtue and religion, the surest guarantee of happiness, both here and hereafter. In your intercourse with your fellow beings be firm, but at the same time bland, courteous, and obliging. Recognize at all times the particles of your geometric to the view of the product of the view of the view of an energy literature. It will aim to gather about it correspondences to the views of intellect.

The range of articles will be a wide one covering, among other grounds, Essays, Sketches, Humorous Tales, and obliging. Master HENRY CLAY. Such advice, heeded, would have saved us from recording the appalling fratricide, parricide and suicide of last week.

A Pointed Colloquy.

A Pointed Colloquy.

The following dialogue is said to have occurred a few days since between two opponents of Democracy in Boston:

REV. RALPH HOY.

SEBA SMITH,

(JACK DOWNING,)

J. T. HEADLEY,

THOMAS MACKELLAR,

I met at the dinner table the other day our old friend M——, who last year was a shrieker second only to Henry Wilson. At the first glance I saw he was for playing. Says I, after the usual greetings were over: "How goes the good cause up in Berk-

"By this do you mean there is defection MARY FORREST, MARY E. STEBBINS. in our ranks in your section?"

"I mean just this and no more"-said

M _____, filling his goblet with Scotch ale___ "I have read everything on our side from -Summer's bulletins to Sackville's letters, and have come to the conclusion that Banks is a humbug, and the Republican party an _abortion."

"And this you say in the midst of the victories we have achieved all over the country?"

"All fudge, sir. We are eternally gaining victories precisely when no earthly use can be made of them So it will be now .-Our opponents are, and havebeen, too busy in their arrangements for 1860, to trouble themselves much about a few State elections. When their corns are all laid we shall find ourselves in a Democratic trap, just as we did in 1856. The fact is, Mr. Sackville, we have triumphed in recent elections, because we could not help it. The negro does wonders at the North, in making Governors and such small fry, but it is a poor nag when put upon the national course."

Money Spent Abroad.—The Washington correspondent of the North American says: Since Gen, Cass became Secretary of State, ten thousand eight hundred and seven passports have been issued from the Department. Each passport is supposed to cover three of a family on an average, making some thirty thousand persons a year. Allow an expenditure of $1,000 each, and thirty millions a year would thus be carried out of the country from this source only. This estimate represents only a part of the travel, and does - not include those who use their old passports, or those who go to the British dominions, to which none are required, and get passports there from the American Legation, as many do. The fact is interesting and worthy of Starving a Snake out of a Man's Stomach.

The following singular story is told of a man named Beach, who had swallowed a snake in Michigan: For the past seventeen years, the sufferer has been satisfied that there was a living animal in his stomach.-If he drank liquor, the animal would seem to become drunk. This, he judged from the fact that it remained perfectly quiet until the effects of the spirits wore off. At times, when he partook of food offensive to the animal, it would become agitated and roll about with a motion which could be felt by placing the hand upon the stomach.

Having tried many physicians without being relieved, Beach was induced to apply to the exposed coasts of the United Kingdom; a German doctor, who recommended the that of France has just launched at Cher- process of starving the intruder out. As to its original size, our correspondent cannot determine. Its head measured cross-wise, just one inch and a quarter. Its teeth were about one-eighth of an inch long .-From the formation of the head, the correspondent thinks the reptile is of the common water-snake specie. This Institution, formerly an Academy for young gentlemen, alone, has been carried on successfully, for the last year, as a Male and Female Institute. It will, in future, be carried on as a school for both sexes. Those completing the regular course of study pursued in the Institution, will be entitled to Diplomas. COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

The course of study in this Department, is such as to give thorough instruction in Single and Double Entry Book-keeping. Mercantile Calculations, Penmanship, &c. Students can take up this branch of study, either in connection with other studies, or devote their whole time to it alone. Each student receives separate instruction.

The Principal can assure parents and guardians, that they cannot send to a school, where their children will be less exposed to temptation. No one, whose moral character is known to be bad, will be received. Immorality will be a sure cause of dismissal. For further particulars, address
