THAT EXHIBITION .- On Friday night last, as was announced, the Standing-Stone Liter-Huntingdon, Wednesday, Dec. 29, 1858.

Locals. MANLINESS .- There seems to be a very poor conception at the present day, of what may be styled manliness of character. To see this truth illustrated, we have only got to look out of our own windows-take a walk upon our own streets-or visit our public meetings and places of Divine worship. The boy of twelve or fourteen is now a man, or at least, he thinks he is. He sticks a plug of tobacco in his mouth, or a cigar out of it, and struts the streets with as many airs as those who are twice his age. And as if this were not enough, the little urchin is heard to utter the most profane oaths, and indulge in the most filthy and obscene language. And we suppose that if inquiries were instituted, it would be found, that this same class of "hopefuls" might be found with flasks in their pockets, taking their introductory steps in the downward road of drunkenness and ruin. And this is all regarded as a part of manliness. "This is the way men do," says Young America, " and we must be men, too." But how much mistaken! Is it necessary, in order to grow up men, that we must begin by running the streets at night, when we should be at home, reading our books and improving our minds? Is it a part of manliness to first learn to curse and swear, and use filthy words? Do these things make boys, men? Is that man possessed of true manliness, who is seen stagger ing from side to side on our public walks, and occasionally tumbling into our gutters? Surely, such an one is no man. This is not manliness. Such conduct is unmanly, if not a great deal worse; and we are unwilling to connect the idea of manhood with any such doings. Let our boys, then, remember that to be men, it is not necessary first, to learn to smoke cigars, chew tobacco, swear great oaths, misbehave in church or school, and get drunk ! But to be a man, it is necessary that we should strive to cultivate the true feelings of manhood. This we may do, by improving our minds by reading and study; cultivating good manners by imitating the wise and good, and by associating with such. This is the way to be men.

A CHALLENGE .- Mr. Editor :- I am in formed that certain persons are just now doing me great injustice. It is not true that I have been "stumped" by any mathematical question sent me by any person whatever .---It is not true that I have refused to work any question, provided the curious ones who sent it, were willing to pay me for my time-I do not find it very profitable working for nothing. I am somewhat proud of my mathematical attainments, and to those who wish to know how much I am capable of doing, I will make the following proposition : I will give the demonstration or solution of any question, problem, or proposition, in Arithmetic, Mensuration, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Surveying, etc., and involving the principles of Philosophy, Astronomy, Geography, or Geology-provided that each question sent me, be accompanied by $25. If the question, problem, or proposition, be exceedingly difficult, there may be an additional charge. I would like very much, in these hard times, to make a little money in this way-please send in your order.

ary Association gave an exhibition, which, we are pleased to say, did credit to those who participated in the exercises. We were very agreeably surprised at the vast amount of intellect displayed on this occasion .--Every one deserve great praise for their efforts, and as we anticipated, the whole thing came off with great eclat. The orations were excellent pieces of composition, and well delivered. The debate was handled with marked ability on both sides. The essay on 'Health," was a masterly production, and the author should extend his efforts still further. The "Literary Casket," edited by one of the members, shows tact and ability .---We think they could not have selected a more competent person. A choir of vocal music enlivened the exercises, which, in our opinion, was hard to beat. They also deserve the praise of the community.. All in in all, the whole was a grand affair. After the exercises were concluded, a vote of thanks was unanimously agreed to by the audience.

PRESENTS .- Mr. C. Schneider has our thanks for the fine beef steak he left with us for our Christmas breakfast. It was fine and no mis-steak.

Our friend, II. Roman, presented us with a large can of fine Oysters, which took the place of the turkey we had'nt, for our Christmas dinner. He will please accept our thanks for the handsome present.

Mr. A. Lewis and lady, of the Mt. Union Hotel, will accept our thanks for the large cake, &c., sent us the morning after the social party given by them. We understand that Mr. L. did not dispose of his Hotel-and we are pleased to learn that he intends to continue as landlord, and will be pleased to render satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Co On Sunday evening last, the Rev. O. O. McLean preached his farewell sermon in the Presbyterian Church of this place. The sermon was directed more particularly to the young men of our borough, and contained some very seasonable advice, and if heard and heeded by all of them, there would be less drunkenness and rowdyism on our streets after nightfall. The young men would then find more time to engage themselves at home reading some good and useful book.

new Christmas passed off with but very few incidents worth chronieling. Drunkenness seemed to be the order of the day. The only thing that transpired worthy of note, was a surprise party, gotten up by some of our young people, and which came off at the Exchange Hotel, now kept by Col. T. K. Simonton. Everything passed off pleasantly and to the entire satisfaction of every one A present, not excepting the Col. and his estimable lady.

OUR TABLE.

The NEW YORK WAVERLEY, a magnificent paper, pub lished in New York, and at 15 Brattle street, Boston, at only $2 per annum, on the finest satin surface paper, elegantly illustrated with original cuts, is a most excellent, as well as artistically beautiful paper, well worthy an honored place in every family. A great feature is the publication of the " Warerley Novels," worth more annually than the price of the paper-and this week begins a great Story, entitled "The Skeleton Hand!" An extraordinary romance, mysterious, thrilling, full of tragic romance founded upon a series of well-known facts in the history of New England, New York, and the West Indies. In which the whole secrets of the great Bond street tragedy are revealed, and the mysterics of the Broadway Gambling Saloon are shown up-yet full of the richest touches of the softer feelings and passions of our nature-vivid descriptions and home scenes, and teaching the youth of our land a great moral lesson-that though vice for a time may thrive-ultimately virtue will triumph, and happiness follow in its train. Everybody should subscribe for and read the NEW YORK WAVERLEY.

LAND SLIDE .- On Wednesday night last about eleven o'clock, a part of the stone quarry, just below town, and on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, gave way with a terrible crash, carrying with it everything in its way, completely demolishing three or four cars standing on the siding, loaded with coal, and covering up the track for several rods. No one was near the place at the time it fell, but the watchman, who was passing along, and who was immediately under the embankment, but, fortunately, escaped without injury; and as the train from the west was due at 11.50, he signalled them of their danger, thus preventing what might have been a most appalling accident. The fast lines due at 11.50 P. M. and 12 M., changed passengers and baggage at the slide, and backed to the places from which they started. The Railroad Company had a gang of workmen promptly on the spot, and at half past seven, Thursday morning, they had the track to the Express train from the east, due at on New Year's. 7.11 A. M.

THE BONES OF A MAN FOUND .--- On Wednesday the 22d inst., the bones of a man was found on Terris mountain, by Mr. John. Hefner. From the appearance of the bones, and a peddler's small wooden box close by, it was supposed they had been lying there undisturbed for five or six years. There was nothing in it but a match box and a few shirt buttons. The bones were lying between two trees, the full length of a man of six feet, and some fifty yards off the road leading to Cassville, distant from this place about seven miles. There are strong suspicions in the neighborhood that the man was dealt foully with.

MUSIC .--- By reference to an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that Prof. H. Coyle, a very successful teacher of music, intends to permanently locate in this place. We feel satisfied that his superior qualificabions will secure him a liberal support.

A New PAPER.—A new Democratic paper, the Pennsylvania State Sentinel, has been established at Harrisburg. It is a large and well-executed sheet, and ably edited by C. D. Hineline, Esq. It is an independent paper, repudiating the new platform manufactured by President Buchanan, Bigler, Black & Co., for the Democracy of Pennsylvania. It defends the platform of the last Democratic National Convention, and leans warmly towards Hon. S. A. Douglas.

OUR NEW BUSINESS .- We have had our Book and Stationery Store open but two short weeks, and the patronage of the public generally has been so unexpectedly liberal, that we cannot avoid returning thanks publicly. We shall use every honorable means to merit a continuance of favors.

Mr. Jon. Focht, colporter of the American Tract Society, after a three weeks stay in this place, returned home last week.-While here he visited 380 families, including those of Smithfield, and sold books to the amount of $107.00. He was kindly received, and tenders his thanks.

in the most superior manner, and are the only in the market that are so well and simply made, that they may be sent into families with no other instructions than are contained in a circular which accompanies each ma-chine, and from which A CHILD OF TEN YEARS may readily learn how to uso them, and keep them in order. They make upwards of Fifteen Hundred Stitches a Minute, and will do the sewing of a family cheaper than a seam-stress can do it, even if she works at the rate of ONE CENT AN HOUE. Is there a husband, father, or brother in the United States, who will permit the drudgery of hand sewing in his family, when a Grover & Baker Machino will do it better, more expeditiously, and cheaper than can possibly be done by hand?
