Interesting Miscellany.

Short Patent Sermon.

I shall give you a sermon to day drawn from the following text: The lady who before the tub, Is not ashamed to wring and rub;

> Or on the floor ashamed to scrub, And cares not who calls into see, Her laboring so industriously, Will make a wife for you or me.

My brethren, since you know that marriage is a divine institution, and that every one of you should have a wife, what kind of a rib would you select? A pretty useless little doll, or a woman big and spunky enough to rassel with a bear, and come of first best? I imagine you would care nothing for either extreme; but you would look for personal charms. O, you foolish idolators at the shrine of beauty! Know you not that hundreds of husbands are made miserable by handsome wives, and that thousands are happy in the possession of homely ones? homely without, but beautiful within. Alas! what is beauty? It is a flower that wilts and withers almost as soon as it is plucked, a transcient rainbow, a fleeting meteor, a deceitful will-of-the-wisp, sublimigated moonshine. The kind of a wife you want is of good morals, and knows how to mend trowsers, who can reconcile peeling potatoes with practical or fashionable piety, who can waltz with the churn dash, and sing with the tea kettle-who understands broomology, and the true science of mopping-who can knit stockings without knitting her brows, and knit up her husband's raveled sleeve of care; who prefers sewing tears with her needle, to sowing tares of scandal with her tongue, such is decidedly a better half. Take her if you can get her-let her be up to the elbow in the suds of the wash tub, or picking the geese in the cow stable.

My hearers-my text speaks of a lady before the wash tub. You may think it absurd, but let me assure you that a female can be a lady before the tub in the kitchen as much as in the drawing room or in the parlor. What constitutes a lady? It is not a costly dress, paint for the cheeks, false hair and still falser airs; but it is her general deportment, her intellectual endowments, and that evidence of virtue which commands the silent respect and admiration of the world. She would be recognized as a lady at once. It matters not where or in what situation she were foundwhether searching for bed-bugs with a hot poker, or hollering hallelujah at a Methodist camp meeting. All that I have further to say, fellow bachelors, is, that when you marry, see that you get a lady inside and outone who knows how to keep the pot boiling and looks well to her household. So mote it Dow, JR.

Booth, the Tragedian.

In the early and palmy days of his theatrical career, Booth, and several friends had been invited to dine with an old gentleman in Baltimore, of distinguished kindness, urbanity and piety. The host, though disapproving of theatres, and theatre-going, had heard so much of Booth's remarkable powers, that curiosity to see the man had overcome all scruples and prejudices. After the entertainment was over, lamps lighted, and the company re-seated in the drawing-room, some one requested Booth, as a particular favor, and one which all present would, doubtless, appreciate, to read aloud the Lord's Booth expressed his willingness, and all eyes were turned expectantly upon him.-Booth rose slowly and reverently from his chair. It was wonderful to watch the emotions that convulsed his countenance. He became deadly pale, and his eyes, turning tremblingly upwards, were wet with tears. As yet he had not spoken. The silence could be felt. It had become absolutely painful, until at last the spell was broken, as if by an electric shot. To his rich-toned voice, from white lips, he syllabled forth, "Our Father, which art in Heaven," etc., with a pathos and solemnity that thrilled all hearts. He finished. The silence continued. Not a voice was heard or muscle moved in this rap-audience, until from a remote corner of the room a subdued sob was heard, and the old gentleman, (their host,) stepped forward, with streaming eyes and tottering frame, and seized Booth by the hand. "Sir," said he, in broken accents, "you afford me a pleasure for which my whole future will feel grateful. I am an old man, and every day from my boyhood to the present time, I thought I had repeated the Lord's Prayer, but I have never heard it before, never."

"You are right," replied Booth. "To read that prayer as it should be read, has caused me the severest study and labor for thirty years, and I am yet far from being satisfied with my rendering of that wonderful -production. Hardly one person in ten thousand comprehends how much beauty, tenderness and grandeur can be condensed in a space so small, and in words so simple. That prayer itself illustrates the truth of the Bible, and stamps upon it the seal of divinity."

"So great was the effect produced," says our informant, who was present, "that conversation was sustained but a short time longer in subdued monosyllables, and almost ceased; and soon after, at an early hour, the company broke up and returned to their several homes, with thoughtful faces and full

we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative; we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all eur friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can, therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair.

Huntingdon. October 5, 1858. THE LIVER INVIGORATOR!-PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD .- Compounded entirely from GUMS is one of the best purgative and Liver medicines now before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, milder, and more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the bowels and stomach to carry off that matter; thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feeling experienced in the operations of most cutharties.
