The Fourth of March.

The next 4th of March Democratic State Convention will have two important nominations to make-Auditor General and Surveyor General—and strange to say, there has not as yet been a man named for either office. Heretofore there has been no scarcity of applicants for vacancies. Perhaps those who would gladly accept of the offices, are fearful of the platform the Convention may erect for them to stand upon. A nomination now-adays is not as good as an election. Let the next Democratic State Convention act wisely, and its nominees can be successful.

THE GOLD FEVER AT THE WEST.—The New York Journal of Commerce learns from a gentleman of Minnesota, that the gold fever is raging throughout the West, and that hundreds of young men are preparing to start early in the Spring for the newly discovered mines of Western Kansas. In many of the large towns, companies of 50 to 100 are organizing, while individuals are hoping to realize fortunes by fitting out transportation trains, to convey provisions to the "diggings," and passengers at a certain price per head. It is expected that large profits will be made on the provisions, which will command the highest prices at the mines.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

[Correspondence of The Globe.] Monday, January 24. Senate.—Very little business was done to-day, and that transacted was generally of a local character .--House.—The Speaker announced his appointment of a committee to examine the affairs of the Shamokin Bank. Petitions were presented praying the erection of the proposed new counties of Pine and Marion, and for an additional appropriation for the erection of a monument to the memory of the Pennsylvanians who lost their lives in the war with Mexico. Mr. Lawrence, of Washington, offered a joint resolution to pay Wm. E. Frazier, the recently elected Canal Commissioner, for his official services. Mr. F's. political success has been a very brief one, and his official position one of brief honor and meagre profit. Mr. Boyer, of Clearfield, read a bill creating a new Judicial district, to be composed of the counties of Clearfield, Jef-

A bill was reported, entitled a "Supplement to the act to protect the public in | Physiology, 1; astronomy, 8. the full benefit and enjoyment of the works constructed for the purposes of inland navigation."

THURSDAY. SENATE. Bills were reported: relative to the distribution of the final report of the Geological survey of the State; relative to the action of replevin in cases of distress for rent; relative to evidence; relative to testamentary trustees; to prevent disturbances at public meetings. House.-Petitions presented: memorial from the Kennet quakers for the passage of a law preventing the rendition of futo the erection of the Mexican monument; Receipts and Expenditures of County Alms House. The Senate refused to reconsider. A bill relative to executors and administrators passed finally. The Select Committee on the subject of the publication of a Daily Legislative Record, made a report which was accompanied by a resolution, authorizing the same committee to contract with Geo. Bergner & Co., for the publication of such a Record. This being entirely a political movement—gotten up by the Republicans-having no other object in view and prompted by no other motive, than to favor a political friend, it was opposed by the Democrats on the ground that there is now in force a contract with another party for the same purpose, and that in the event of the consummation of this movement, the House would be supplied with two Records-thus entailing an unnecessary expense of several thousand dollars. The matter was discussed up to the hour of adjournment.

SATURDAY. SENATE.—A bill was reported supplemental to the general road and bridge law. Bills read: relative to proceedings in the Supreme Court; relative to partnerships; supplemental to the general act regulating boroughs; relative to the sale and conveyance real estate. A bill incorporating "the Presbyterian Church at Harrisburg," elicited considerable discussion. A year ago, the Presbyterian Church of this place was detroyed by fire. After the destruction of the place of worship, the two elements in the congregation, old and new school disagreed and each branch of the society, resolved to erect an edifice for themselves, and accordingly two buildings are now in progress of construction. This bill refers to the old school wing who claim to be the original stock, and it was passed. House .- Bills reported : declaring dogs personal property; to prevent the intermarriage of the white and black races. Bills in place: relative to state taxes: supplement to an act to protect fruit and punish trespass; relative to the sale of medicine; to protect the wages of labor; relative to recording of deeds; relative to cemetery companies; authorizing the election of collectors of State and County taxes, &c. The resolution authorizing the publication of a Record for the use of the House was agreed to.

The following is the Act abolishing the Canal Board. Another leak in the public Treasury stopped.

An Act

To abolish the offices of Canal Commissioner and State Engineer.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and, it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same,

That, from and after the passage of this Act, the office of Canal Commissioner of this Commonwealth be, and the same is hereby, abolished, and the Canal Commissioners are hereby required and directed to deliver up to the custody of the Auditor General, all books, papers, records and other property belonging to said Department, whose duty it shall be to take charge of, and preserve the

Sec. 2. That, the Auditor General is hereby authorized and required, upon the application of any person or persons to give copies of any entry or entries of the books heretofore kept by the Canal Commissioners, under the Seal of his office, and also, to furnish, upon application, as aforesaid, copies of any paper or papers on file in said office, to any person or persons requiring the same, under the Seal of his office, and for every such Certificate, shall charge the person or persons receiving the same, one dollar, for which he shall account to the Commonwealth, and the copies certified and attested shall be deemed and admitted as legal evidence in any Court of this Commonwealth, with like effect as the original. Sec. 3. That, from and after the passage of this Act, the office of State Engineer be and the same is hereby abolished.

Section 4. That the Auditor General shall cause to be entered in a book, to be procured for the purpose, a list of all claims that have been or may be preferred against the Commonwealth; to be alphabetically arranged, which book shall contain the name or names of claimants, on what branch of the public improvements the said claim originated, and what for, the date when the alledged liability accrued, amount of claim, amount allowed, or when rejected, and when acted upon, and such remarks as may facilitate future investigations; which book shall be deposited in the Auditor General's office, and be completed at the earliest possible day. W. C. A. LAWRENCE. Speaker of the House of Rep's.

JOHN CRESWELL, JR.,

Speaker of the Senate. Approved the twenty-fifth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine. WM. F. PAČKER.

& Co., New York. "Maga" opens the new year with a most attractive number. Bulwer's master-piece, "What will he do with it!" is brought to a satisfactory conclusion. Darrell and Lady Mountfort, Lionel and Sophy, are all made happy, and the intense anxiety of the millions who have read this famous novel is relieved. We trust Sir Edward, who, of late years, gives all his literary labors to the public through the pages of "Blackwood," has something new in store for us as good as the inimitable work he has just completed. "Burmah and the Burmese" is a review of "A Narative of the Mission of the Governor-General of India to the Court of Aya," with notices of the country, government, and people. "A Cruise in Japanese Waters" is continued with unflagging interest, giving us a still further insight into the manners, morals, customs, etc., of the people of Japan, with some humerous remarks on their apparent, not real, indelicacy in exposing their persons at the public baths, in that delicious climate. "How to Boil Peas" is not, as its title indicates, a dissertation on modern cookery, but one of the most witty, pointed articles on the folly of making ourselves miserable that was ever penned. "An Angling Saunter" claims to be of interest to the general reader as well as to anglers, and is certainly a very readable article. "Popular Literature and the Periodical Press" is amply handled. It aims to show that the talent of the realm is leaving other professions, and concentrating in the press, and especially the periodical press of Great Britain; to which fact, more than to any other cause, may be attributed the decline of the drama, and the lessening interest felt for oral discourse, whether from the lecture-room or the pulpit. The article is worthy a careful persual. "The Royal Proclamation to India" closes the list of articles in this interesting number, gives us the Tory view of the present condition and prospects

FATHER AND DAUGUTER, a Portraiture from Real Life, by Fredrika Bremer, complete in one large volume, neatly bound in cloth, $1.25; just published, and for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

The Philadelphia Press, of Saturday, thus speaks of this new book :- "The work alluded to, "Father and Daughter," is the last from the graceful and nervous pen of Miss Bremer, and is fully equal to the best which this talented authoress has given to the public. It abounds in touching scenes, admira ble for their pathos and fidelity to nature, and a plot admirably designed, and consistently and naturally developed. It is not a sensation book, gotten up for a temporary purpose, but a volume which will have a welcome place in every library for years to come. It has the elements of successful popularity in an eminent degree, and the extraordinary zeal of the publishers, in bringing it out, is fully warranted by its remarkable intrinsic merits.

The Indiana State Sentinel, of the 15th, speaking of the Democratic triumph in that BLACKWOOD FOR JANUARY.—LEONARD SCOTT

State, says:
"There is a complete union of the Democratic members of the Legislature in the joint convention held yesterday for the election of various State officers, and the result was a Democratic triumph. All past differences were practically ignored, and the Democrats unitedly supported the Democratic nominees. Prejudices were nobly sacrificed to secure the harmony and maintain the integrity of the Democratic organization. The nominees were all what are termed anti-Lecompton Democrats; yet, the Lecompton Democrats manfully and generously abided and sustained the nominations. We allude to these nominal distinctions to show the devotion that was manifested to the cause and to restore harmony in the ranks, not that we recognize any such divisions in the party as anti-Lecompton or Lecompton Democrats .-The complete sucess of yesterday we regard as a prestige of success in 1860. To secure a Democratic triumph, then, it only requires that past issues should be discarded, and in the future recognition of the rights of every Democrat to all the privileges and honors of "The successful candidates are all Democrats, and will be found faithfully upholding the Democratic banner. They all possess, too, the Jeffersonian qualifications of capacity, integrity, and faithfulness to the Constitution. They will faithfully fulfil the various trusts with credit to themselves and their party, and with honor to the State. We congratulate the Democracy of Indiana on this triumph over Republicanism—a sentiment which will find a responsive echoin the heart of every Democrat."
