

THE GLOBE.

Huntingdon, Wednesday, Mar. 9, 1859.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

An article worth trying—the flour for sale at D. P. Gwin's store.

BIBLES AND HYMN BOOKS—of various sizes and styles of binding, from plain sheep, to the best Turkey morocco gilt—received and for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

HUNTINGDON GAS-LIGHT POLKA.—A new piece of music by Prof. H. Coyle, for sale at Lewis' Book, Stationery and Music Store.—Price 25 cts.,—sent by mail on receipt of price.

A heavy supply of Broad Top Coal for the boatmen is now ready at the basin, waiting the opening of navigation, which we suppose will take place about the first of April. Superintendent Wierman is pushing the repairs and improvements to completion as rapidly as possible.

On Saturday night last, the "Excelsior Band" discoursed some of their delightful music to our citizens. The night was calm and clear, not a cloud to be seen on the horizon, and as they brought forth their soul-stirring strains, we were lost in meditation of the thought, that we could listen to such music for an age. Long may they wave.

In our last we referred briefly to the new dwelling just finished by Dr. R. A. Miller. Since then we have been through the house, and speak from the book when we say it is just the house we would build or buy if all who are in arrears to us would call and square up. It is worth the trouble of any one intending to build, to call and examine the arrangements of the Doctor's house.

MANAGEMENT OF CHILDREN.—It is a popular belief with mothers, that washing young children daily, in cold water, makes them hardy. This is a grave mistake; the feeble circulation of a child requires the aid and assistance of warm water and warm clothing. The greatest medical man who ever lived—John Hunter—recommended three rules for the management of children, and they express the substance of a volume. "Give them plenty of milk, plenty of sleep, and plenty of flannel."

"HOW MUCH SHE IS BELIEVED."—Such were the words that escaped the lips of a man in speaking of another woman yesterday. Well, the secret of her being so is, that she drops sweet words and pleasant smiles as she passes along; she has a kind word of sympathy for every person she meets in trouble, and a disposition to help them out of difficulty; she takes the friendliness by the hand, sympathizes with those in affliction, and everywhere diffuses around her sunshine and joy. Dr. Dodridge one day asked his little girl why it was that everybody loved her. "I know not," she replied, "unless it is that I love everybody." She was truly a little philosopher.

MARCH.—The old adage, "that March comes in like a lion," did not prove correct this time, but as the adage don't end there, we expect to see it go out "like a lion," as it "came in like a lamb." So far however, (the 8th,) it has followed up the gentleness of a lamb admirably. Sunday last, was as fine a spring day as we ever saw. The genial rays of old Sol shone forth in all its splendor and cheerfulness, and people could be seen congregated on almost every street corner, availing themselves of the first coming of the first real spring day. However, we anticipate rough weather yet, before March leaves us, or else we will feel inclined to doubt the truth of wise sayings of the wise prophets of the days of old.

BLOCKADING THE CROSSINGS.—We have a word to say to our farmers and others, who come to town with horses, wagons, &c. We have observed upon several occasions, the different crossings of our streets blockaded in such a manner, as to compel pedestrians to wade through the mud up to their knees, in order to get round the wagon, or whatever it is. People, no doubt, when driving on to the crossing, never think of any person wanting to cross there. We do assure them, that it is no pleasant job, to wade across the streets just at this time, especially for the ladies, as we observed one doing yesterday, on account of the crossing being occupied by a four-horse wagon. We trust our farmers and others will be more thoughtful hereafter, as the fine for so doing is considerable, considering these hard times.

STATE LUNATIC HOSPITAL REPORT.—We have before us the Eighth Annual Report of this State Institution, located near Harrisburg. The entire number of patients since its organization has been males, 622; females 427. Total, 1049. Admitted during the year 1858, 151; discharged 134; leaving 267 at present; supported by friends, 119; by public authority, 148. Seven convicts who had become insane in penitentiaries have been admitted in 1858. The trustees are not willing to continue to receive this class of patients. The following table, we suppose, indicates that matrimony at least, does not tend to insanity:

Table with 4 columns: Married, Widowed, Single, Total. Rows show counts for Males and Females.

ONE THOUSAND CHANCES TO MAKE MONEY.—A new book—"Opportunities for Industry and the Safe Investment of Capital: or, a Thousand Chances to Make Money"—just published by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Phila., pub.—and for sale at Lewis' Book Store. Call and examine it.

Also—"The Legal Adviser: or, How to Diminish Losses, avoid Lawsuits, and Save Time, Trouble and Money, by conducting Business according to Law, as expounded by the best and latest authorities." Lippincott & Co., Phila., pub.—and for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

Also—"A Practical Treatise on Business: or, How to Get, Save, Spend, Give, Lend, and Bequeath Money; with an enquiry into the chances of success and causes of Failure in Business." Lippincott & Co., Phila., pub., and for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

LIT WITH GAS.—The streets of our borough were lit up for the first time, on Friday night last, with Gas. The bright illumination which the gas throws forth, enables the pedestrian to get along with much less trouble and without getting swamped in the mud, which is so plentifully strewn in the streets and along the sidewalks, especially at this time of the year. This is quite an improvement, and after the others are erected and in full blast, persons can then see where they are going after nightfall, and perhaps tend to quell some of the rowdiness which is so prevalent on our streets at night. All praise to our borough "daddys" for this improvement. May they never stop until they have every deficiency remedied that is needed in our borough, is our wish. Go on pappys, we'll give you praise for all such like doings. Who says ours is a one-horse town? Eh! Our Holidays-burg friends are not so very much ahead of us, that's so. We'll beat you up there all hollow, in a few more years.

Being rather "hard up" for items, we, the other day, employed a greeny to hunt an item or two for us. The following is his report:—

"I started down town, as you are aware, to get an item or two for your paper—the Globe. On my way, I met two gentlemen, of rather fine qualities for pugilism, so I tried to get them to fight awhile for me, but they told me 'it wouldn't pay.' I then observed some dogs in the street amusing themselves at play. I called them to me, and endeavored to coax them to fight. (Mr. Editor, this was all for the purpose of getting an item for your paper,) but when I attempted to urge them on, they would wag their tails, and look up into my face with a kind of a knowing smile, as much as to say, 'you are one of those newspaper reporters, and want to put me in the papers—I won't fight.' Failing at this, I next encountered one of our well known "plugs," and wanted to hire him to rob somebody's hen roost, but he informed me that he had stolen the last chickens he knew of, the night before. At this point, I became enraged, and resolved I would either find an item for your paper, or resign my post as reporter forever. I hunted and hunted, but to no purpose. I could not get one single paragraph, and becoming discouraged, I thought I would go and take a "nip" to keep up my spirits, but, Mr. Editor, I took one too many, and in your last issue, I observed a notice of a certain young man who had been found lying in the gutter drunk, but for the respect you had for him, you suppressed his name. Now, Mr. Editor, that was all your fault, for I was always under the impression that it is fashionable for newspaper reporters to get "tight." But to my story. I need hardly tell you that I couldn't find a solitary item, and I herewith tender you my resignation as local reporter of your paper, and I solemnly vow I'll never enter into the business again. Just here, Mr. Editor, I would remind you never to employ an innocent young man like me again, to "hog up" items for your paper, as reporters are looked upon as suspicious characters, and I narrowly escaped getting into the hands of the police. Yours Resignedly, EX-REPORTER."

YOUNG MEN AND LATE HOURS.—There is a great deal of truth in the remark of a cotemporary, that one of the most deleterious influences brought to bear against the strength and vigor of American youths, is the practice of keeping late hours. The simple fact of a young man keeping late hours is not in itself of so much import, though bad enough, but when all is taken into account, the dissipation, and the long string of incidentals connected with leading such a life, it will readily be understood how keeping late hours is calculated to reduce the vigor and strength of our youths, both in body and in mind. We will take as an instance, the young man who has just broken loose from his mother's apron strings, as it is called. He goes into company with men much his seniors, and every night, though against his inclinations at first, he is led step by step into practices at which his pure mind revolted but a few short months before, and which he then thought it impossible that he could ever be induced to take part in. But, imperceptibly, he becomes familiar with them, until at last he first takes part and then delights in them as much as his companions; and as not unfrequently happens, becomes the leader of them all—and the first intimation that his mother receives of the change that has come over him is, that he comes home in the "small hours" of the night, a roaring drunkard! Such is almost invariably the result of keeping late hours; and though our youths may think it merely to smoke and drink like their seniors, they should beware, and remember that it is the first step that has ever led to crime and all its dreadful consequences; and that one of the greatest, if not the greatest, mistake that they can make, is to keep late hours. "Early to bed and early to rise," is as good a motto now as when it was first uttered, and if it does not always make men "wealthy and wise," it does better—it preserves their innocence, their constitution, and keeps them free from sin and its train of evil consequences.

DARING FEAT AT NIAGARA.—Crossing on Stilts above the Falls. The Chicago Press has an account of a Yankee adventurer, named Andrew Greenleaf, crossing Niagara river between Goat Island and the Falls on stilts, on the 12th ult., for a bet of $1000, made with a Southern. Greenleaf (or Moruli, as he calls himself, for he passes for an Italian, and is a "showman,") had with him a pair of stilts about twelve feet long, made of wrought iron, flat, sharp edged and pointed—shaped in fact almost precisely like a double edged dagger. These were firmly lashed to his legs, and he walked towards the terrible river with a confident smile. The morning was clear and cold, but he was attired very lightly in a dress not unlike that usually worn by professional gymnasts. At ten minutes past seven he stepped into the water, which in another moment was boiling, gurgling, and rushing beneath his feet. The boldest of the lookers-on held his breath in suspense, as the daring man receded from the shore. He alone seemed unmoved, and passed on, slowly and carefully, avoiding the larger rocks which were made apparent by the eddying current. His steps at first were very short and carefully made, but afterwards became bolder and longer.—The stilts of course were so placed that the current struck only against their sharp edge, and produced but little effect, but the danger of sunken rocks and the conviction that a single false step would send him to death, produced a feeling which was horribly painful. Once or twice he seemed to lose his balance, and a sickening shudder ran through each of the beholders. Recovering himself he still kept on—still receded, until to our straining eyes he could scarcely be distinguished from the foaming waters.

The middle of the river was attained at last, hours seemed to have fled, but it was barely seventeen minutes since he left the shore. As he approached the deepest and most dangerous part of his route, the suspense became more fearfully intense. No word was spoken except that one man offered another five dollars for a moment's use of his lognette, which offer passed unheeded. Just as Morrell reached the swiftest and deepest portion of the current, he seemed to totter—sink—he threw up his arm—I closed my eyes. Opening them a moment after, I saw that he was still standing. A few moments more, and he had reached the Canadian bank—he was safe, and fell exhausted into the arms of two men who were waiting to receive him.

At this hour (3 P. M.) he was nearly recovered, and though still in bed, receives the congratulations of dozens of visitors who came pouring in. He left the American shore 500 feet above the fall, and came out under 1,000 feet above the Canadian. The money has already been handed over to him, and all will agree that it was fairly won.—His generous opponent is able to afford his loss, and speaks in praise of Morrell more enthusiastically than any.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE. The Publisher's believe that the Seventeen Volumes of HARPER'S MAGAZINE now issued contain a larger quantity of valuable and attractive reading than will be found in any other of the kind. The best Serial Tales of the foremost Novelists of the time; LEVER'S "Marrion Tiernay," BELZONI's "My Novel," Dickens's "Little Dorrit," FRASER'S "The Two Admirals," "Newcomer" and "Virginia," have successively appeared in the Magazine simultaneously with their publication in England. The best Tales and Sketches from the Foreign Magazines have been carefully selected, and original contributions have been furnished by CHARLES READE, WILKIE COLLINGS, Mrs. GAZELL, Miss MITCHELL, and other prominent writers. The larger portion of the Magazine has, however, been devoted to articles upon American topics, furnished by American writers. Contributions have been welcomed from every part of the country, and in declining upon their acceptance the Editors have aimed to be governed solely by the intrinsic merits of the articles, irrespective of their locality. Care has been taken that the Magazine should never become the organ of any local clique in literature, or of any sectional party in politics. Not a period since the commencement of the Magazine have its literary and artistic resources been more ample and varied; and the Publisher's refer to the contents of the Periodical for the past as the best guarantee for its future contents. Terms.—One Copy for One Year, $3 00; Two Copies for One Year, $5 00; Three or more Copies for One Year (each $2 00). Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly One Year, $4 00. Agents, G. W. Child, for every Club of 25 Subscribers.

Clergymen and Teachers supplied at TWO DOLLARS a year. The Agents, Voluntary Agents in Clubs, $2 50 each. Muslin Covers 25 cents each. The postage upon HARPER'S MAGAZINE must be paid at the Office where it is received. The Postage is Three Pence a Year. HARPER & BROTHERS, Publishers, Franklin Square, New York.
