NEW WATCH & JEWELRY STORE. ROVER & BAKER'S CELEBRA- PROFESSIONAL & BUSINESS CARDS

New Styles—Prices from $50 to $125. Extra

Charge of $5 for Hemmers.

These Machines sew from two spools, as purchased from the store, requiring no re-winding of thread; they Hem, Fell, Gather, and Stitch in a superior style, finishing each seam by their own operation, without recourse to the hand-needle, as is required by other machines. They will do better and cheaper sewing than a seamstress can, even if she works for one cent an hour, and are, unquestionably, the best Machines in the market for family sewing, on account of their signalisation of management.

TESTIMONIALS.

"Having had one of Grover & Baker's Machines in my family for nearly a year and a-half, I take pleasure in commending it as every way reliable for the purpose for which it is designed—Family Sewing."—Ars. Joshua Leavitt, wife of Rev. Dr. Leavitt, Editor of N. Y. Independent

"I coniess myself delighted with your sewing Machine, which has been in my family for many months. It has always been ready for duty, requiring no adjustment, and is easily adapted to every variety of family sewing, by simply changing the spools of thread."—Mrs. Elizabeth Strickland, wife of Rev. Dr. Strickland, Editor of N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Christian Advocate.

"After trying several different good machines, I preferred yours, on account of its simplicity, and the perfect ease with which it is managed, as well as the strength and durability of the seam. After long experience, I feel competent to speak in this manner, and to confidently recommend it for every variety of family sewing."—Mrs. E. B. Spooner, wife of the Editor of Brooklyn Star.

"I have used a Groven & Baken Sewing Machine for two years, and have found it adapted to all kinds of family sewing, from Cambric to Broadeloth. Garments have been worn out without the giving way of a stitch. The Machine is easily kept in order, and casily used."—Mrs. A. B. Whipple, wife of Rev. Goo. Whipple, New York.

"Your Sewing Machine has been in use in my family the past two years, and the ladies request me to give you their testimonials to its perfect adaptedness, as well as labor-saving qualities in the performance of family and household sewing."—Robert Boorman, New York.

"For several months we have used Grover & Baker's Sewing Machine, and have come to the conclusion that every lady who desires her sewing beautifully and quickly done, would be most fortunate in possessing one of these reliable and indefatigable "iron needle-women," whose combined qualities of beauty, strength and simplicity, are invaluable."—I W Morris, danabter of Gen. "If Homer could be called up from his murky hades, he would sing the advent of Grover & Baker as a more benignant miracle of art than was ever Vulcan's smithy. He would denounce midnight shirt-making as the direful spring of woes unnumbered."—Prof. North.
"I take pleasure in saying, that the Grover & Baker Sewing Machines have more than sustained my expectation. After trying and returning others, I have three of them in operation in my different places, and, after four years' trial, have no fault to find."—J. H. Hammond, Senator of South Carolina.

Interesting Miscellum. Groceries,

The little boy by your side asks for a story. that in those few moments you have gained a new influence over your child-the little might be multiplied indefinitely, but one must suffice. Just such simple, thoughtful acts like this, adapted to each period of the child's life, shall hold him true to you and to the right, when commands may prove all powerless to restrain. Here let us not be misunderstood. We do not mean that he shall always be dependent upon you for amusement; rather we would have you train him to selfreliance. We only say, Have always a thoughtful regard for his happiness. He need not see this in you; it would be better for him to feel the sunshine without knowing whence or why it comes, to enjoy the fragrance while the flower is hidden-for it might make him selfish to know that he is the object of so much thought. We have only thrown out a few hints on this most important subject; we have simply sought to lead you to "think on these things," and in closing, we would say to parents, Let the happiness of your children be made a definite aim in your home education; and while you yet are a parent, and so must counsel and discipline and control, be at the same time a friend to be trusted and loved--and oh, remember how much the whole future of your children may depend upon the kind, gentle, loving influence of a happy home.

It is extraordinary how many defects

we can discern in a friend after we have quarrelled with him. The same remark ap-rents need to be reminded that they have something more to do for their children than merely to provide for their physical wants, to educate, (we use the word in its limited sense,) and to govern them. To talk and smile pleasantly when one is sad, for the sake of the child, to play games, to tell stories, to gaze admiringly on cob houses or pictures on slates, to sympathize with sorrows, and to double little joys—all this seems never to suggest itself to many parents, who are yet auxiously seeking the best good of their children. And thus they lose one element from their home education which would serve to make all the others effective in producing the result they desire. Children crave sympathy, and their hearts are drawn out toward those who give them what they seek; children must have amusement, and those who try to make them happy will have a peculiar power over them. We are led to say these things, because we have of late been impressed with the thought, that a prominent reason why there are so many dissipated young men at the present day, is because there are so few happy homes. If a boy has pleasant smiles, agreeable occupations, and more than all, sympathy and companionship at home, why need he go abroad? And if he find none of these there, is it strange that he seeks them where brilliantly-lighted rooms, jovial companions and freedom from restraint invite him away from the dull evening at home? Said a young man who had just been sentenced to the State's prison, "Mother! you sent me here! You drove me into the street when I was a boy, to get rid of my noise and the troubles I made, and this is the result!" Parent! the course which your boys will take during the dangerous age between boyhood and manhood, depends very much upon yourselves. If you would save them from the perils of that period, be daily weaving that thread of love to home and to you, which, though delicate as gossamer, shall yet prove in the day of temptation a stronger bond than a chain of iron or a band of steel. Do you ask how you shall do this? Let us reply by giving a single illustration that will explain our meaning. Now, if you take him on your knee, tell him in a loving way some little tale, and then send him to his play again, you shall find heart will be nearer to yours after that than it was before. Illustrations of this kind sell at fair prices. Those in want of a good Coat, Vest, or pair Pants, will call and examine his stock.

to bear that sacred name. The simple words suggest to us a beautiful picture of the life and character of a true woman in the sphere for which she is particularly designed and fitted by Heaven. We know without seeking the history that she was a successful mother; children trained in such a home went forth in life both shielded and armed for the battle. Yet when we speak of this a peculiarly happy home, we do not mean that it was a home where capricious whims were laws, or where every wish was gratified; we know that it was a home where obcdience to the will of the parent was understood and recognized as a first principle, and yet where mutuallove was an all-pervading influence which led to gentleness and forbearance, and kind, thoughtful efforts for the comfort and happiness of each member of the dear circle. We know this, because it is only this combination that makes a truly happy home. The first of these principles is generally recognized in theory, if not in practice, but the influence and importance of the last is too often entirely overlooked. Parents love their children, but they do not allow their love to manifest itself in a kindly interest in what interests them, in forming little plans for their amusement, and in seeking as a prominent object their happiness. Very many pa-undersigned owners of the Huntingdon Mill inform the farmers and the public generally that they now have their new mill in running order, with all the modern im-provements in the Water Wheels and Machinery. provements in the Water Wheels and Machinery.

THE HUNTINGDON MILL.—The

They have put in five of the Improved Jouval Turbine Water Wheels, and can grind in all stages of water, and during the coldest weather any and all kinds of grain.
They are prepared to sell, and have on hand for sale at all times at Market rates all kinds of Flour, Feed, and Stuffs; and Farmers can have their own grain ground and take it back in a return load, or they can be furnished in exchange at a moment's notice, an equal quantity of Flour and Bran, or chopped feed.

Their smut machine is of improved manufacture, and they will insure a "a full two out" of superior quality to every bushel of grain left at their mill.
