Names that Live.

Mr. EDITOR :- Man not only desires the good opinion of others with reference to the present, but Nature has planted a principle within him, that causes him to wish to be remembered, when dust shall have returned to dust, and the spirit to Him who gave it .-With the hope of realizing this desire, we find him engaging in pursuits, braving untold dangers, and sacrificing every present luxury that affluence and ease can afford, that he may, in the record of deeds of unwonted daring, enshrine his name, to be remembered and revered until time shall cease to beat her noiseless waves against the shores of eternity. At the bidding of this impulsive desire, monumental piles rise in towering grandeur to mark the resting-place of the illustrious dead. By it names have been carved deep in Fame's fair temple. Yet how few of earth's millions are there whose names have not been forever obliterated by the erasing finger of time! If we go to the ancient Orient, where its vast plains are dotted with the massive structures of art, that have withstood the destroying influences of centuries, and as we with feelings, which the majestic grandeur of of their gigantic proportions are wont to produce, seek an acquaintance with the history of their founders, what is the lesson they teach? Nature is mute, history fails to supply the desired information, and what was once the pride of power and hope of immortal fame to its founder, now contemptuously mocks the weakness and derides the folly of human ambition. Devotees at the shrine of honor, have in many instances succeeded in insinuating themselves into positions of distinction. By a glittering display of genius, they have obtained a momentary fame from their enthusiastic dependents, but they have sunk into unremembered nothingness, and the mists and clouds of their own evanescent fame have become their winding-sheet. Encomiums have been unsparingly lavished upon the victor. The monarch's crown has decked the brow of honor obtained by the sacrifice of the life-blood of devoted veterans. Gaudy triumph's have been graced by the spoils of desolated kingdoms; but how many of the vast numbers who have thirsted for glory amid scenes of carnage, have obtained the goal! The great majority have not left even the wreck of a name as a memorial. Of those who have stood highest on the records of renown, and whose names have been enrolled upon the immortal scroll, only a part of their works have survived. But these remnants are enough to delight, to impress, to instruct. Although in certain instances, misguided effort may have cast reproach or even fixed an eternal stigma upon the otherwise laudable character, there are those evident manifestations of design and resolution in every action which challenge the admiration of the beholder. Earnestness has been the talisman of their success. By it'they won the confidence of their own generation, a confidence which which will be sold Cheap.

We also deal in PLASTER, FISH, SALT, and all kinds gives influence, an influence in which is power to revolutionize the world of mind and political institutions. Whether we contemplate

posed of, or of him

in whatever respects they may be dissimilar, in one thing they are the same—their history bears the unmistakable impress of carnestness. To attain an imperishable name is no work of proxy. The very page that bears such a name is emblazoned with the record of actions which have in some way effected the condition, not merely of some particular lo-cality, but of the entire world. Many have by their own personal endeavors so identified their memories with the history of the world, that to erase their individual history, the annals of their age would be lost in the silence of an eternal slumber. Their memories have become constituent parts of the world's history. Time, in her relentless march, may strive to tear away the trophies of life's bat-tle, but her ruthless hand possesses no power to erase their memory. The means employed by those who have sought to place their names "above mortality," have been various. Perhaps it is most commonly sought in military achievements. Far back in the history of the world, when rivalry for power was the prevailing passion of the nations, when furious warfare was ever waging between jenlous rivals, the art of war was the study of all who aspired to positions of rank. Then it was that every power and energy was called forth, and he who came off victor in one instance, was the more eager to further his conquests, until unlimited power has been usurped, and the world tremblingly acknowledges the usurper her conqueror, and time tenders a wreath of immortal fame to adorn his memory .-Classical literature is replete with the glory of the victor, and modern history points to her mighty conqueror. "Yet the laurel of the conqueror grows only in the soil which is moistened with blood. It is stained with the JUST RECEIVED AND READY FOR SALE, tears of the widow, and thrives in the midst of desolation." Others to their age less known, have left a germ of influence that has spread with the lapse of time-a growing monument, one that shall glow with unsullied splendor when the sculptured granite shall have become a smouldering heap of ruins, and the ever-during brass an unsightly

Whether with the few, vindicating and supporting the truth in opposition to prevailing error, or single-handed and alone, exposing unheeded wretchedness to the sunshine of public observation; from their beatific spirits have emanated those genial rays which have left a heavenly and perennial brilliancy on the pages of history, and shed around the cherished memory an undefined halo of glory. To such there is no noon-day brightness-no declining splendor-

CROVER & BAKER'S CELEBRA-TED FAMILY SEWING MACHINES New Styles—Prices from $50 to $125. Extra Charge of $5 for Hemmers.

These Machines sew from two spools, as purchased from the store, requiring no re-winding of thread; they Hem, Fell, Gather, and Stitch in a superior style, finishing each seam by their own operation, without recourse to the hand-needle, as is required by other machines. They will do better and cheaper sewing than a seamstress can, even if she works for one cent an hour, and are, unquestionably, the best Machines in the market for family sewing, on account of their simplicity, durability, ease of management, and adaptation to all varieties of family sewing—executing either heavy or fine work with equal facility, and without special adjustment.

As evidence of the unquestioned superiority of their Machines, the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company beg leave to respectfully refer to the the following TESTIMONIALS.

"Having had one of Grover & Baker's Machines in my family for nearly a year and a-half, I take pleasure in commending it as every way reliable for the purpose for which it is designed—Family Sewing."—Mrs. Joshua Leavitt, wife of Rev. Dr. Leavitt, Editor of N. I. Independent dent.

"I confess myself delighted with your Sewing Machine, which has been in my family for many months. It has always been ready for duty, requiring no adjustment, and is easily adapted to every variety of family sewing, by simply changing the spools of thread."—Mrs. Elizabeth Strickland, wife of Rev. Dr. Strickland, Editor of N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Strickland, wife of Rev. Dr. Strickland, Editor of N. Y. Christian Advocate.

"After trying several different good machines, I preferred yours, on account of its simplicity, and the perfect ease with which it is managed, as well as the strength and durability of the scam. After long experience, I feel competent to speak in this manner, and to confidently recommend it for every variety of family sewing."—Mrs. E. B. Spooner, wife of the Editor of Brooklyn Star.

"I have used a Groven & Baken Sewing Machine for two years, and have found it adapted to all kinds of family sewing, from Cambric to Broadcloth. Garments have been worn out without the giving way of a stitch. The Machine is easily kept in order, and easily used."—Mrs. A. B. Whipple, wife of Rev. Geo. Whipple, New York.

"Your Sewing Machine has been in use in my family the past two years, and the ladies request me to give you their testimonials to its perfect adaptedness, as well as labor-saving qualities in the performance of family and household sewing."—Robert Boorman, New York.

"For several months we have used Grover & Baker's Sewing Machine, and have come to the conclusion that every lady who desires her sewing beautifully and quickly done, would be most fortunate in possessing one of these reliable and indefatigable 'iron needle-women,' whose combined qualities of beauty, strength and simplicity, are invaluable."—L. "If Homer could be called up from his murky hades, he would sing the advent of Grover & Baker as a more benignant miracle of art than was ever Vulcan's smithy. He would denounce midnight shirt-making as 'the direful spring of wees unnumbered."—Prof. North.

"I take pleasure in saying, that the Grover & Baker Sewing Machines have more than sustained my expectation. After trying and returning others, I have three of them in operation in my different places, and, after four years' trial, have no fault to find."—J. II. Hammond, Senator of South Carolina.

"My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take much pleasure in recommending it to the public."—J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.

"It is a beautiful thing, and puts everybody into an excitement of good humor. Were I a Catholic, I should insist upon Saints Grover and Baker having an eternal holiday in commemoration of their good deeds for humanity." day in commemoration of their good deeds for humanity."
—Cassius M. Ciay.

"I think it by far the best patent in use. This Machine can be adapted from the finest cambrie to the heaviest cassimere. It sews stronger, faster, and more beautifully than one can imagine. If mine could not be replaced, money could not buy it."—Mrs. J. G. Brown. Nashville. Tenn.

"It is speedy, very neat, and durable in its work; is easily understood and kept in repair. I earnestly recommend this Machine to all my acquaintances and others."—Mrs. M. A. Forrest. Memphis, Tenn.
