Interesting Miscellung.

Didn't Think.

Walking in the country one morning, in early spring-time, we seated ourself to rest on soon we observed a large man hanging to the top-most limbs of a small apple tree with one hand, while with the other he was cutting off a large stone near an orchard-gate. Very twigs and branches. We bade him good morning. He answered cheerfully; and we ventured to hint that the tree he had climbed bore a heavy burden. "Yes," he said, "the trees all need pruning, but I can only attend THE SALAMANDER SAFES OF PHILADELPHIA AGAINST THE WORLD. to a few of them. The others wouldn't bear my weight."

"Why don't you fasten your saw to a pole, stand on the ground, and prune such limbs as most require it?" we asked.

"Well, I declare," he answered, "that would do-I didn't think of it."

There was a valuable lesson in that confession-"I didn't think of it." It explained why, in many respects, the farmer was not prosperous. He was a hard worker. He endeavored to be economical; but he was always behind. His orchard didn't yield abundantly-his cattle had disease-his grain was often poor-and he could only sell at a low price, because he didn't think. He had never learned fore-thought-he did not know what it was to consider—he did not understand how judicious head-work assists hand-

Didn't think-that is the sorry explanation of much error—of many a crime—of many a failure—of many a hardship, and many an abuse.

Little boys and girls, bear in mind that whatever advantages you may have at home, in school, in business, or in society, unless you think, your lives will be sad and your efforts unsuccessful. Learn, then, while you are young, the art of thinking. To be great and good, you must understand the art of reflection, as well as appreciate the pleasure

The Secret of Happiness.

The most common error of men and women is that of looking for happiness somewhere outside of useful work. It has never yet been found when thus sought, and never will be while the world stands, and the sooner this truth is learned the better for every one. If you doubt the proposition, glance around among your friends and acquaintances, and select those who appear to have the most enjoyment in life. Are they the idlers and pleasure-seekers, or the earnest workers ?-We know what your answer will be. Of all the miserable human beings it has been our fortune, or misfortune, to know, they were the most wretched who had retired from useful employments in order to enjoy themselves. Why, the slave, at his enforced labor, or the hungry toiler for bread, were supremely happy in comparison. Earnestly would we impress upon young minds the truth we have stated. It lies at the foundation of all welldoing and well-being. It gives tranquility and pleasure to the youth, just stepping across the threshold of rational life, as well as to the man whose years are beginning to rest upon his stoop shoulders. Be ever engaged in useful work, if you would be happy .--This is the great secret.—Arthur's Magazine.

A Tough Story.—There is a place in Maine so rocky that when the down easters plant corn, they look for crevices in the rocks and shoot the grains in with a musket; they can't raise ducks there no how, for the stones are so thick that the ducks can't get their field; and the humble bees have to go down on their knees to get at the grass; all the BRICKER'S mosquitoes died of starration and the BRICKER'S mosquitoes died of starvation, and the turkey buzzards had to emigrate.

But there is a county in Virginia which as the PLACE can beat that—there the land is so sterile is the PLACE is the PLACE that when the wind is at the north-west, they have to tie the children to keep them from to see a man, and when the dogs bark they have to lean against the have to lean against the fence; the horses are so thin that it takes twelve of them to make a shadow, and when they kill a beef they have to hold him up to knock him down.

Travelers, and citizens of the county, are informed that no pains will be spared to make them feel comfortable and at home at this House.

[April 6, 759.] they have to hold him up to knock him down.

Mrs. Partington says: "I haven't any desire to live longer than the breath remains in my body, if it isn't more than eighty years. I wouldn't wish to be a centurion; and the idea of surviving one's factories always gives me a disagreeable censoricusness. But whatever is to be, will be. and there is no knowing a thing will take place till it expires."

Precipitation ruins the best laid designs; whereas patience ripens the most difficult, and renders the execution of them

Philadelphia, April 12th, 1856.

Messrs. Evans & Warson—Gentlemen—It affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you, that owing to the very protective qualities of two of the Salamander Safes which we purchased of you some few months since, we saved a large portion of our jewelry, and all our books, papers, &c., expessed to the calamitous fire in Ranstead Place, on the morning of the 11th instant.

When we reflect that these Safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied, and that they fell subsequently into a heap of burning ruins, where the rast concentration of heat caused the brass plates to melt, we cannot but regard the preservation of their valuable contents as most convincing proof of the great security afforded by your Safes.

We shall take much pleasure in recommending them to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.
