The Election.

THE RESULT IN THE COUNTY .- The official returns of the election for the county will be found in to-day's Globe. It will be seen that J. Simpson Africa for Assembly, and S. T. Brown for Prosecuting Attorney, nominated by the Democratic County Convention, have been elected by handsome majorities. Their success cannot be claimed as a party victory as without the votes of their personal friend in the Opposition party, neither could have received a majority of votes in the county.-Their election shows that a nomination by the Opposition is no longer as good as an election-that if the Opposition wish to succeed they must put in nomination their very best and strongest men-and even then their nominees may be defeated, as the Democrats have men in their ranks equal to their best and strongest. Our candidate for Sheriff is defeated by only 56 votes, Jacob Miller by 369 votes, J W. Galbraith by 372 votes, David Barrick by 117 votes, Robert McBurney by 282 votes, and N. K. Covert by 405 votes. We would be better pleased if more of our candidates had came out of the contest with majorities, bu taking into consideration the fact that the Democracy are in the minority in the county, we feel very thankful to the Opposition for the officers they have given us.

We have strived in the campaign just ter minated, to treat all our opponents with that courtesy and respect which is due between gentlemen. Our columns have been free from abuse and personal detraction. If the pub lic acts of an opponent were to be examined it was done in such a spirit of respect and candor, as to elicit the indorsal of our adversaries. Thus we close the contest, conscious that we have done no man a wrong, and confident that we have not sacrificed our manhood in servile obedience to the imperitive behests of blind and heartless party leaders

The Result in the State.

The Opposition State ticket is elected by at least 15,000 majority. This result should satisfy the corrupt men who controlled the action of the Convention that placed Wright and Rowe in nomination, that voters will think and act for themselves. The action of that Convention has also lost to the Democracy, the Senate and House of Representatives, a State Treasurer, and perhaps a United States Senator. In this county, the action of that Convention was repudiated by the press, and we elect a member to the Legislature—a gain—while in some of the strong est Democratic counties and districts the Opposition have gained Senators and Members of the House.

Will the next State Convention be controlled by the same corrupt and proscriptive feel ings as that of last Spring? if so, the campaign of '60 will certainly result as fatally to the Democracy as the one just closed.

SINGULAR.—During the last campaign, Mr. Africa, our candidate for Assembly, was soundly abused through the columns of the Journal and American, and personally by some of the self-constituted leaders of the Opposition party, and yet, at the election, he received the highest vote given to any candidate on the Democratic ticket. Gentlemen, the people of the county didn't appreciate your labor.

Last year Mr. Wigton's majority was This year Mr. Africa's majority is Funeral of Senator Broderick.

[From the San Francisco Bulletin.]

The funeral of Senator Broderick took place on Sunday, the 18th instant, and was one of the most imposing spectacles ever witnessed in California. The hour fixed for the solemn rites was half past 1 o'clock, P. M., when the funeral oration of Col. E. D. Baker was to be delivered on the Plaza; but long before that time the square, all the streets about it, the windows, balconies, and roofs. and the roofs of distant houses, wherever a view could be obtained, were crowded with spectators, many of them ladies. The numbers were variously estimated from five to ten thousand; such a mass as has seldom ever previously gathered in San Francisco.

At the upper portion of the square, about the foot of the flag-staff, was erected a stand for the speaker. It was covered with black, with festoons and mourning wreaths. There were seats behind the speaker's place for the pall-bearers and nearest friends; and, in front of the speaker, a low bier for the remains, over which the oration was to be pronounced. In view of these preparations and the melancholy occasion which gave rise to them, a profound silence reigned over all that vast assemblage; not a word was heard, not a noise disturbed the solemnty of the scene; nothing but the low and muffled tread of the multitude as they moved up towards the

At precisely half past one o'clock, a way was cleared, from the front of the Union Hotel, where the body had reposed in state, to the stand on the Plaza. The coffin was then borne forth, and all eyes were directed to its progress up the solemn aisle which was made among the crowds of citizens. The coffin was an iron one. It was ornamented with wreaths of laurels and flowers. The pall-bearers, some twenty or thirty in number, consisted of the most intimate personal friends of the deceased. In front of these, keeping the way clear, was the Grand Marshal, John Middleton, and his aids-seven in number-all these on horseback. As the body moved up the Plaza, the line of citizens closed in behind it. The remains were borne to the stand and placed upon the platform; and the people crowded up around it. The orator, Colonel E. D. Baker, then stepped forward and delivered the oration.

THE INQUEST.

Wednesday afternoon, a little after two o'clock, the Coroner, Dr. McNulty, held an inquest on the body of the Hon. D. C. Broderick.

Hon. J. C. McKibben sworn: I witnessed a duel on the morning of the 12th inst., at or about seven o'clock; it took place in San Matoe county, near the dividing line, and near the south end of Lake Merced; the principals in that duel were Senator D. C. Broderick and Chief Justice D. S. Terry; the distance was ten paces; the weapons were duelling pistols; the friend of D. S. Terry won the choice of weapons; the choice determined by throwing up a half-dollar piece and calling head and tail; the principals saying they were ready, were given the words, which were "fire, one, two;" they were to fire between the words "fire" and "two;" I saw the pistols loaded with leaden bullets in the presence of both seconds of both parties; they were accepted as being satisfactory; the principals took the positions assigned them at a distance of ten paces; their eyes were at right angles to a straight line between one principal and the other; after taking their positions, the pistols were taken up by the seconds, cocked in each other's presence. and the hair trigger set; each second then proceeded to his principal and delivered the weapon; the seconds men returned some distince out of the line of fire, and the word was given by a second of Mr. Broderick, fireone, two;" as near as I could judge, Mr. Broderick discharged his pistol between the words, "fire" and "one," about one second intervening between the reports of the two pistols: the report of Mr. Terry's pistol was subsequent, but with a very slight interval; Mr. Broderick appeared to look with surprise at the course his ball had taken; I was about twelve feet from him, midway between the parties; Mr. Broderick seemed to gradually wheel and droop; he lowered himself easily upon the ground; I ran up to him and tried to assist Dr. Leohr in opening his garments; I saw the wound; the blood was not flowing freely; there were no other shots fired; the ball from Mr. Terry's pistol wounded Mr. Broderick; Dr. Loehr then proceeded to examine the wound, and, while doing so, the services of Dr. Hammond were tendered and accepted; the physicians gave him all the relief in their power, and, in the course of three quarters of an hour, he was taken up and conveyed to the residence of Mr. L. Haskell; I was with Mr. Broderick up to the time of his death, which occurred vesterday, (Friday,) at twenty minutes past nine o'clock A. M.; D. S. Terry challenged Mr. Broderick; the pistols used I presumed to belong to Dr. Aylett; they were lighter than the ordinary duelling pistols; I examined the trigger of the one used by Mr. Broderick, and I am not positive I did not examine both; I discovered no perceptible difference; I looked at them, tried the springs, and found them alike, as nearly as I could judge; there was a party on the ground more conversant with weapons than myself; I asked him to examine them; he did so, and pronounced them correct; the pistols were loaded alike; Mr. Broderick was born in the District of Columbia, on the 4th of February, 1819; the duel occurred about two miles from the county line; I do not know on whose property; we were not aware of any difference in the pistols, while on the ground, and I know of no difference between them at present; we had a person on the ground for the express purpose of loading the pistols.

After several other witnesses were examined the jury brought in the following:

We, the undersigned jurors, convened to inquire into the cause of the death of David C. Broderick, who died in the city of San Francisco, on the 15th of September, 1859, do find that the deceased was born in the District of Columbia, aged 40 years, and that he came to his death from a wound inflicted by a pistol ball fired from a pistol intentionally, by David S. Terry, on the morning of September 13, 1859.

One of the most remarkable physological facts known in medical history, has recently developed itself in the case of a son of Mr. Charles Davis, of Baltimore. The boy alluded to is about 11 years old, and for a long time has been a sufferer from spasme and severe choking spells, which no physician seemed able to account for. Everything promising relief was resorted to, and indeed a small fortune was spent for expectorants and other medicines. But all proved of no avail; the boy grew no better, and remained a puzzle to everybody until a week or two ago, when, by a sudden and violent retch a curious looking living frog was thrown from his stomach. The boy, however, experienced but little relief by this ejection, and still continues to gasp and choke and retch, as though he was possessed up to the mouth with similar animals.

ANECDOTE OF GENERAL JACKSON.-In the midst of the bank contest, when Clay, Calhoun and Webster were making the Senate Chamber ring with their denunciations of Gen. Jackson, and when his Administration was on the verge of plunging into the war with Louis Phillipe, the Presbyterian General Assembly was being rent in twain by New and Old School quarrel. The Rev. Dr. Stiles Ely, an ostentatious leader of the New School party, and an admirer of Jackson, visited the White House to tender spiritual consolation to its sorely tried Chieftain. With sympathising look he asked, squeezing his hand fervently: "General, of all the questions now convulsing the country, which gives you the most anxiety?" The old hero, who The committee regret they have no authority to award a premium for them. On account of the superior and abundant display of apples, and the small number of premiums offered, the committee are unable to reward the exhibitors of this standard of fruit as they doserve. So much of it is so nearly equal in quality, that your committee find great difficulty in discriminating between good, better the oration, the coffin was borne to Kearny street and placed in the hearse, which stood ready to receive it.
