THE GLOBE.

Huntingdon, Wednesday, Nov. 23, 1859.

LOCAL & PERSONAL. An Incident.—The life of editors and reporters is truly a chequered one; and to show our readers one of the many backsets they have to contend with, the local will narrate a little incident that happened him in the Court House last Friday evening. We would state for the gratification of our readers, that the other hero of our little incident, once distinguished himself by getting up a map of Huntingdon county, and whom we happened to recognize, though not personally acquainted: and, by the way, we had the advantage of him, for he didn't know us. We entered the Court room (not as a felon, but as a spectator) and took our seat behind the said gentleman. Nothing happened to mar our pleasure until after a certain worthy functionary of and prices. the Court came and spoke to the gentleman. We also bid the time of day. After the functionary had addressed a few words to the gentleman, he left the room, when the man turned round abruptly to us, and said: "Are you concerned in this case?" [meaning the one then before the Court.)

"No sir."

- "Do you live in town?"
- "Yes, sir."
- "Are you engaged in business?"
- "Yes, sir."
- "What business are you engaged in?" " Printing."
- "What office?"
- "The Globe."
- "Are you what they call the devil?"

We hesitated a moment at this question, stroked our beard gently, and finally answered in a clear, manly tone, "No, sir." Just at this moment, the Court-ing gentleman returned and stopped to speak with our inquisitive stranger again, thus interrupting him in his interrogatories with us, and we took our hat and left, fearing he might cross-question us, and thinking in our own mind, that we had just as good a right to sit there without being questioned as to our business, as PROF. COYLE'S CONCERTS.—The Concerts given by Prof. Coyle and his class of young ladies and Misses, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings last, were received with great cclat, by large and appreciative audiences .-We never saw the Hall so crowded, as on these occasions. The ladies acquitted themselves to the honor and credit of both teacher and pupil. The class of little Misses performed admirably; and should they be kept under the instruction of the Professor for a short time, we predict for them a place in the first ranks of the musical world. In fact, the whole class displayed no small amount of musical talent. The stage, too, should is usual at all gatherings at the Court House, not be passed by without notice. It is an the boys made the most noise. old saying that where the hand of woman predominates, neatness, cleanliness, and good taste is bound to prevail. Just so in this case. It was a most handsomely gotten up affair. Indeed, so comfortable and tidy was it, that nobody but a crusty old bachelor would ever think of attributing the taste and skill displayed thereon, to any one but to the ladies. The whole affair was one of the most successful ever gotten up in this place.

expenses were paid, amounted to something like $40; and as the money belonged to the ladies, they met on Saturday evening last, to agree upon what they would do with it, and without a dissenting voice, agreed to take the money, purchase a watch, and present it to Prof. Coyle, as a slight token of their high esteem and appreciation of him as a gentleman and a teacher.

We would now, as we have on numerous former occasions, entreat boys who wish to be happy and respected, to refrain from spending their time in idleness and on the streets, especially after nightfall. Such a course is ruinous both to their health and morals. Under the cover of night, in an unhealthy and excited state of mind, they are almost certain to acquire profane, vulgar and obscene practices, criminal sentiments, and a lawless and riotous bearing, that will surely forfeit the confidence and esteem of the wise and good, render them suited to the society of the bad and dissolute, and bring them at last before the Bar of Justice as degraded criminals. Let them rather seek the company of the virtuous and good, and the pleasures of the family fireside. Let them read good books, and therefore store their minds with useful knowledge, and qualify themselves for honest and honorable citizenship. Let them do this, and our word for it, their youthful hours will glide away pleasantly, they will become respected and happy, and never regret reading these lines penned for their special benefit.

There is not a few boys in Huntingdon, who should never be permitted to enter a place of amusement where good order and decency should be observed-neither should they be allowed to display their rowdyism outside of public places to the annoyance of respectable people inside. It does appear that such boys do as they please wherever they go, and that the men who should keep order are afraid of them.

Ex-Sheriff Greenland who was severely injured some days ago, we are happy to know, is rapidly recovering, but is still confined to his bed.

formed by several persons that during two or three weeks past, a number of men fully uniformed like regular soldiers, with rifles, pistols and knives by their sides, have been repeatedly seen on the mountains in Springfield township in this county. They go to farm houses and get their meals and pay liberally. They have intimated that they are a few of a large number preparing to rescue Brown or punish his persecutors.

The people must have discovered that they can save money by buying their Books and Stationery at Lewis'; as he is compelled to order new supplies almost every day, to keep up to the demand. The "one-horse Book Store" is saving hundreds of dollars to the people of the county. No "mammoth" dead stock on hand to require heavy profits on what is saleable. Call and examine stock

Sheriff Graffus Miller will retire from the duties of the office this week, and his place will be filled by Gen. John C. Watson, duties to the satisfaction of the people of the county. Sheriff Miller has made a most excellent and popular officer, and well deserves irrespective of party.

Teachers' Blank Certificates, showing the progress and standing of scholars for the week, month or term, printed and for sale at Lewis' Book, Stationery and Music Store .-These Certificates are very convenient and useful for giving information to parents of the progress and standing of their children, at a very trifling expense.

Postmaster Colon erected a Washington contribution box in the Post Office, on Friday last, and on Monday evening, there was a dollar and ten cents in it. Good for the "ancient borough," she has taken the right step, and we give her credit for it.

Brother Jolly, editor and proprietor of the Tyronc Star, paid us a pop visit last week. Twenty-nine years ago, we were neighbors in old Montgomery, but we did not think then, that in the course of time we should rise to be publishers of the two best papers in neighboring counties.

We received a communication from 'Populus," giving the particulars of the affray in West township, which is not materially different from the account we have already given, and therefore deem it unnecessary to publish it.

Dr. Mackenzie's Lecture before the Standing-Stone Literary Society, on Thursday evening last, was pretty well attended, and is highly spoken of, by persons who were near enough to hear everything he said. As LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE. ROCKVIEW, Nov. 12, 1859.

MR. Editor:-Last season being one favorable to an abundant crop of wortleberries, great many of our neighbors and their children sought to roam over "Warriorsridge" for a "few." Among the number was a gentleman (friend) who concluded to take a leasure trip to the "Ridge" for a quart or wo of the delicious berries, but thinking pleasure could not be found on "footback," as he termed it, he succeeded in bridling a stray jack, (that had been browsing on our plantation for a number of days, and annoying us every morning with his harsh music,) with the intention of going on "jack-back." After accomplishing all that was needful, he mounted his "steed" and started, to the great joy of the bystanders. Not knowing how he enjoyed his trip until the other day, I shall give it in his own words, as found among his writings. Hear it: Up the ridge I wended my way—

Though occasionally the jackass would bray,
I cared not for that, but used well the cowhide,
And determined on having a right pleasant ride.
Arriving safely at the top of the hill,
I eagerly proceeded my belly to fill;
This accomplished, I started for home,
Safely arrived, and sent the jackass to roam.
Set the dogs on—out the lane they went,
And the poor old jack to his feelings gave vent,
In a "yell" which appeared his thrapple to rent.

FRANKLIN Nov. 18, 1859.

MR. EDITOR: -The Franklin Teachers' Institute held its third session at Coleraine Forge, on Friday evening, Nov. 11, 1859 .-Mr. Clarke occupied the chair. Rev. A. R. Miller, teacher of the Coleraine school, opened the evening's exercises with an interesting and instructive oration, subject-"Youth. As his superior talent is well known to the public, it is needless to say that we were all delighted to hear him speak. Suitable to the

What Does it Mean?—We have been in-occasion, he had his scholars, numbering aboutseventy-five, syctematically arranged before him, behind which were his patrons and a crowd of spectators. At the close of his address we were charmed by the sweet voices of his little girls, who united in singing a delightful and appropriate song. The following subject was then introduced for discussion: "Resolved, That parents should be compelled to send to school:" It was argued in a very spirited manner, by both citizens and teachers, but the true friends of education were numerous and the affirmative triumphed. The following day was occupied with discussions upon various subjects. A goodly number of the citizens and scholars being present, contributed greatly to the interest of the session. Before adjournment the following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That we, as an association, tender our hearty thanks to the citizens of Coleraine for their kindness and hospitality.

Mr. Editor:—The Ladies' Literary Social Circle, of this place, gave select performance. mance on Monday evening of this week. It was truly a rich literary feast. The exercises consisted of Reading, Essay and Recitation, in all of which were displayed an emiwho, we hope and believe, will dischargesthe nent degree of cultivated taste and talent, and unaffected modesty. The sweetest charm of female excellence, characterized every performer. At the close of their exercises, Rev. J. S. Beyer, their chosen speaker, delivered It Tells You the warm friendship of his fellow-citizens, an address that did honor to the circle and won the esteem and applause of the entire audience. We believe that the design of the circle is to promote literature, to prepare its members to meet the claims of society, and fit them to discharge the active duties of life, and as such it merits the warmest respect and approbation of the people. Female education possesses a real worth that can not be too highly prized, it gladdens and elevates society, and breathes life, hope and harmony around the domestic hearth.

The Circle is now raising a library, and contributions will be thankfully received.— Grateful thanks are tendered to Messrs. Wm. Lewis and R. Milton Speer, for their liberal contributions—would that such true friends of education were more numerous.

Gentlemen:—The Salamander Fire-Proof Safe of your manufacture, purchased by us from your Agent, Ferris & Garrett, of our city, some nine months ago, was severely tried by burglars last Saturday night, and although they had a sledge hammer, cold chisels, drill and gunpowder, they did not succeed in opening the Safe. The lock being one of "Hall's Patent Powder-proof," they could not get the powder into it, but drilled a hole in the lower panel and forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and aland forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and although the door, inside and out, showed the explosion not to have been a small one, it was not forced open. We suppose they were the greater part of the night at work on it. We are much gratified at the result of the attempt to enter it, and if the above facts are of any service, you are at liberty to use them. Yours, truly,

GREAT FIRE!-ANOTHER TRIUMPH!! KNOXVILLE. Tonnessee, March 13th, 1859. Messrs. EVANS & WATSON, Philadelphia: Messrs. EVANS & WATSON, Philadelphia:

Gentlemen—It affords me great pleasure to say to you that the Salamander Safe which I purchased of you in February, 1858, proved to be what you recommended it—a sure protection from fire. My storehouse, together with several others, was burned to the ground in March last.—The Safe fell through into the celiar, and was exposed to intense heat for six or eight hours, and when it was taken from the ruins and opened, all its contents where found to be in a perfect state, the books and the papers not leing injured any whatever. I can cheorfully recommend your Safes to the community, believing, as I do, that they are as near fire-proof as it is possible for any Safe to be made.
