Thomas Stringfield and Gen. Jackson. When a little boy we heard the eloquence of Thomas Stringfield. We saw him at the last General Conference for the first time .-In a few days after its adjournment he died. In the editorial correspondence of the Nashville Advocate we find a most interesting reminiscence of him. R. M. Stevens said:-

"I must tell of an interview with General Jackson, which brother Stringer with myself had about twenty days before the General's death. We were riding along and called at

"General Jackson was sick, and not seeing company; but the name of Thomas Stringfield was a pass-word. Stringfield had been a soldier under him-a Christain soldier, for he was converted at eight years of ageand through the war was steadfast as well as brave. We were shown in the room where the old warrior and statesman, whose fame was world-wide, sat feebly in his arm-chair. The greeting between him and Brother Stringfield was hearty; it was like the meeting of brothers long parted. The sight of Stringfield, and the thoughts recalled, put the old General in tears. They coursed down his furrowed cheeks. Jackson was a man of tears, notwithstanding his iron nature .-"Ah, Mr. Stringfield, what times have been since we met first! You were a boy in camp at Emucfaw, and your head was bleeding from an Indian bullet." So it was, and Stringfield's forehead bore that scar to his grave. He was a modest man, and quickly turned the conversation from himself.

"Well, General, you are weak and failing now. General, how is it with your soul?-What are your prospects beyond the grave? To which Jackson replied: "My friend, I am not afraid to die." A pause-"My hope is in the Redeemer of the world; if saved, I shall be a sinner saved by grace." "Had it been in a camp-ground, or even in this church." said Brother Stevens, "I would have shouted out loud; I never wanted to shout so bad in my life. The place was turned into a sanctuary. We all wept. The farewell was touching." "Good-by, General; God bless you." "Farewell, Mr. Stringfield; I hope we will meet where wars are no more."-And doubtless they have met—the General and his soldier—not as the first, but where Physical Benefit of the Sabbath. The Sabbath is God's special present to the working man, and one of its chief objects is to prolong his life, and preserve efficient his working tone. In the vital system it acts like a compensation pond; it replenishes the spirits, the clasticity, and supplies the force which is to fill the six days succeeding; and in the economy of existence, it answers the same purpose as, in the economy of income, is answered by a saving bank. The frugal nan puts away a pound to-day and another pound next mouth, and he who, in a quiet way is putting by his stated pound from time to time, when he grows frail and old, gets not only the same pound back again, but a good many pounds besides. And the conscientious man, who husbands one day of his existence every week-who instead of allowing the Sabbath day to be trampled and torn in the hurry and scramble of life, treasures it devoutly up, the Lord of the Sabbath keeps it or him, and, in the length of days, the hale old age gives it back with usury. The savings bank of human existence is the weekly Sabbath.—North British Review.

Influence of Mothers.

"My mother," said Mr. Benton, not long before he died, "asked me never to drink liquor, and I never did. She desired me at another time te avoid gaming, and I never knew a card. She hoped I would not use tobacco, and it never passed my lips. Not long ago, the Rev. Dr. Mills, in one of his powerful appeals to mothers to consecrate their children to the ministry of the gospel, said: "A youth, after great deliberation, and with the knowledge that his mother desired him to be a clergyman, decided at last to become a lawyer; and soon after, his mother inquired of him, in a tone of deep and tender interest, "My son, what have you decided to do?" "To study law mother." She only replied, "I had hoped otherwise;" and her convulsive sobbing told the depth of her disappointment, "Do you think," said he, "I could go into the law over my mother's tears?" He reconsidered the case, and has long been an able and efficient clergyman.

A dull parson cornered a farmer who he seldom saw at his ministration, by asking him directly, after a little reproof of his sin of omission:

"Shall we see you at church next Sabbath? "Y-e-s," he replied slowly. "Yes, I'll go -or send a hand."

No man can tell whether he is rich or poor by turning to his ledger. It is the heart that makes a man rich. He is rich or poor according to what he is, not according to what he has.

Voltaire, on one occasion, when his friends were conversing on the antiquity of the world, observed-"The world is like an old coquette; she disguises her age."

The most tender-hearted man we ever heard of was a shoemaker, who always shut his eyes and whistled when he run his awl

TEDICAL SCIENCE.
The history of "HOOFLAND The history of "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITthe many cures that have been performed with it in cases of LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA, NERVOUS DE-BILITY, and diseases arising from a disordered liver or stomach, place it among the most astonishing discoveries that have taken place in the medical world. The diseases to which these Bitters are applicable are so universal, that there are but few of our friends who may not test their virtues in their own families or circle of acquaintances, and prove to their own satisfaction that there is at least and prove to their own satisfaction that there is at least one remedy among the many advertised medicines, deserving the public commendation. It is a fact that, in the minds of many persons, a prejudice exists against what are called Patent Medicines; but why should this prevent are called Patent Medicines; but why should this prevent you resorting to an article that has such an array of testimenty to support it as Hoofland's German Bitters? Physicians prescribe it, Why should you discard it? Judges, usually considered men of talent, have and do use it in their own families. Why should you reject it? Clergy men, and those the most eminent, take it; why should not you? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health; if you are sick, and require a medicine, try these Bitters.

These Bitters are prepared and sold by Dr. C. M. Jackson, No. 418 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., and by druggists and storekeepers in every town and village in the United States, Canadas, West Indies, and South America, at 75 cents per bottle. Charge of $5 for Hemmers.

These Machines sew from two spools, as purchased from the store, requiring no re-winding of thread; they Hem, Fell, Gather, and Stitch in a superior style, finishing each seam by their own operation, without recourse to the hand-needle, as is required by other machines. They will do better and cheaper sewing than a seamstress can, even if she works for one cent an hour, and are, unquestionably, the best Machines in the market for family sewing, on account of their simplicity, durability, ease of management, and adaptation to all varieties of family sewing—executing either heavy or fine work with equal facility, and without special adjustment.

After long experience, I feel competent to speak in this manner, and to confidently recommend it for every variety of family sewing."—Mrs. E. B. Spooner, wife of the Editor of Brooklyn Star.

"I have used a Grover & Baker Sewing Machine for two years, and have found it adapted to all kinds of family sewing, from Cambric to Broadcloth. Garments have been worn out without the giving way of a stitch. The Machine is easily kept in order, and easily used."—Mrs. A. B. Whipple, wife of Rev. Geo. Whipple, New York.

"Your Sewing Machine has been in use in my family the past two years, and the ladies request me to give you their testimonials to its perfect adaptedness, as well as labor-saving qualities in the performance of family and household sewing."—Robert Boorman, New York.

"For several months we have used Grover & Baker's Sewing Machine, and have come to the conclusion that every lady who desires her sewing beautifully and quickly done, would be most fortunate in possessing one of these reliable and indefatigable 'iron needle-women,' whose combined qualities of beauty, strength and simplicity, are invaluable."—J. THE HUNTINGDON FOUNDRY IN BLAST AGAIN :—The subscribers take this method of informing their friends and the public generally, that of informing their friends and the public generally, that they have rebuilt the Huntingdon Foundry, and are now in successful operation, and are prepared to furnish Castings of every description, of best quality and workmanship, on short notice, and on reasonable terms. Farmers are invited to call and examine our Ploughs. We are manufacturing the Hunter Plough. This plough took the first premium at the Huntingdon county Agricultural Fair last fall. Also, Hunter's celebrated Cutter Ploughs, which can't be beat—together with the Keystone, Hillside and Bar-shear ploughs. We have on hand and are manufacturing Stoves—such as Cook, Parlor, and Office stoves for wood or coal. Hollow ware, consisting of Kettles, Boilers, Skillets, &c., all of which we will sell cheap for cash or in exchange for country produce. Old metal taken for castings. By a strict attention to business, and a desire to please, we hope to re-attention to business, and a desire to please, we hope to re ceive a liberal share of public patronage.
