LOCAL & PERSONAL.

AN IMPROVEMENT. - A movement is on foot, to have the fence in front of the Court House, set back ten feet, or just inside the row of trees fronting the Court House, so that the pavement at the point will be twenty feet wide, for the purpose of making a promenade. We have one of the prettiest and most pleasant towns in the interior of the State, and such an improvement, is just what we want. That part of the town is a delightful spot and is eminently suited for that very purpose.-It would be such a nice place for "ye lovers" to walk "by moonlight alone" as well as all others, who love to promenade. We hope the project will not fall through.

An Encampment will be held in this place beginning on the 24th of September, and to continue for one week. We learn that four hundred dollars have already been sub--scribed by our citizens, to help defray the expenses which will necessarily be incurred in getting it-up. Another hundred is to be made up yet, but it is confidently hoped that our citizens will meet the demand promptly. A large attendance is expected, our business men will lose nothing by subscribing liberally, as the affair will bring a rush of customers to town, when they can get their money back with interest.

Good.—The spirit of patriotism having pervaded the hearts of some of our old ladies, they gave vent to their pent up feelings by baking themselves a lot of "ye good cakes" and sich like, and on Thursday evening last, repaired to McCahan's Grove, where, we learn they had a gal-orious time. Strange the spirit does not enter the heads and hearts of some of our young ladies. Move along girls, or your mothers will get ahead of you.

SEND US THE NEWS .- We hope our subscribers in different sections will tell us occasionally of things happening in their localities .-It is surprising what an interesting sheet a paper can be made when friends help us in would throw into his cap, by which, it is said, this way. Don't be alarmed that we will he realized a handsome sum. In about fifteen minutes he again made his appearance, charge you anything for publishing your items, but send them along any way, and we will fix them up, and be thankful for the fa-

A son of Peter C. Swoope, while endeavoring to climb to the top of a tree near Roman's store, on Monday evening last, lost his hold, and fell with his back on the curbstone; but sustaining no other injury than a severe shock, and rendering him insensible for a few moments. It was, indeed, surprising that his neck was not broken.

SLIGHT FIRE.—One day last week, the roof of the jail was discovered to be on fire, but son, a butcher doing business on Main street before making much headway, it was fortu-his week's business—about $115.—N. A good idea, that; but would it not be better to tear it down and erect a new one.

Rev. O. O. McLean, of Iowa, Iowa City, formerly paster of the Presbyterian Church of this place, passed through here on Wednesday last, on his way east, to see his friends. Hope he will stop to see us on his way home.

A colored woman from Liberia, preached in the colored church, on the corner of Mifflin and Bath streets, on Tuesday evening last.

On Wednesday evening, another colored woman lectured on Liberia. We did not hear either of them, but those who did, speak in high terms of their productions.

On Monday last, we had quite a "refreshing" thunder shower, accompanied by a slight fall of hail. It was of short duration, however, and immediately after, the sun came out in all its glory.

Sunday School and family Libraries and all other books published by the American Sunday School Union, furnished to order on application at Lewis' Book Store, where catalogues of Books can be seen.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT .- On Saturday last, a young man named James Dean, of Mapleton, this county, fell off a swing at that place, and was instantly killed. His funeral took place on Monday last,

A School Exhibition will take place at the M. E. Church, of this place, on Tuesday evening next.

A SECOND TELL, IN THE SHOOTING LINE .-Mr. Fred. Whitehead, of St. Louis, is astonishing the sharp-shooters with his marksmanship. A few days since, Mr. T. F. Lennox stationed himself off at the distance of ten paces, and placed a common-sized lemon on the top of his head. Mr. Whitehead took a pistol and popped away at the lemon. The ball entered fairly in the centre and cut the know whom to admire the most, Lennox, for paralysis gradually extended over the body, expected in Philadelphia on or about the 7th his intrepidity, or the marksman for his skill.

The Rope-Walking Mania.

De Lave Crosses the Patterson Falls on a tight

Rope.Mons. De Lave, who following in the wake of Blondon, at Niagara, achieved some noto-riety by his feats at Rochester in crossing Genesee Falls on a tight rope, yesterday gave a similar exhibition at Patterson, N. J., which was witnessed by many thousand persons.— The place selected for the "Grand Ascension" was below the Falls, where the river passes through a gorge at least six hundred feet in width, and nearly two hundred feet deep. The rope, which was of Manilla, and of the size of an ordinary hawser, was stretched across this chasm from near "The Cottage on the Cliff" to the top of "Morris' Mountain." On the cliff side it was rove through a stout block near the top of a tree to give it the required height or level, and was then hove taught and firmly secured. Lateral and perpendicular stays of small rope were also attached to the large one to render it firm, and prevent it from swaying under the feet of the performer. In order to turn the affair to the best account a high board fences protected the entrance to the grounds; but while hundreds paid their quarter, thousands who did not pay witnessed the feat from prominent points in the neighborhood. Morris' mountain was covered with spectators, a large portion of them being la-dies. The "island," the windows and top of the gun-mill, the print-works and machineshop, commanding a view of the scene, were alive with people. It was estimated that is coming on finely. nearly ten thousand persons witnessed the

Everything being in readiness, De Lave made his appearance shortly after 4 o'clock, and mounted the ladder which led to the starting-point on the rope. He was greeted with cheers, which he acknowledged by taking off his cap and waving it to the multitude below. He paused a few moments to survey the rope, and after directing that two of the stays, which were rather slack, should be tightened, he poised himself upon the rope with a pole in hand, and began the walk, keeping time with the band, which played "Hail Columbia." The cheers of the multitude were now hushed, and each one held his breath as the under his step, but there was no interruption | growth." in his progress, and in about four minutes he reached the opposite side at the top of Morris' mountain.

Prolonged cheers now greeted him from both sides of the fearful chasm over which he had passed. Here De Lave passed among the crowd, receiving what each one having exchanged his jaunty little cap and feather for a drab Kossuth hat. After waving a signal to the band, which struck up the growing wheat crop from Fredericksburg to "Marseillaise," he began his return. In the the mouth of the Rappahannock river—emmiddle of the rope he stopped, laid dawn up-on his back, rose, sat astride of the rope, then on one side, and repeated these feats several times, the spectators cheering from both sides of the river. He concluded his walk, appearing considerably "winded," and in a profuse perspiration. The performance was now concluded. De Lave gave notice of a repetition al parts of the county of Amhers, and is playof the feat on Monday next, when he would ing sad havoc with the growing wheat. walk with peach baskets tied to his feet, strud on his head, and perform other "terrific feats." Our Pennsylvania Yanceys. The Democratic papers of this State, in their general condemnation of the course of the disunion bolters at Charleston, appear to forget that we had some Yancevites in our own delegation who should not be lost sight of. Those are they who, under the lead of Senator Bigler, were willing to leave the Convention and join the fire-eating factionists of the South, and even offered inducements to get delegates from other States to go out also. How shall such men be viewed by Democrats? They certainly cannot be considered friends of the party, for they were willing to break it up by joining the secessionists, whom they encouraged in their treasonable designs.

When Yancev and other avowed disunion men made their most ultra speeches in the Convention, denouncing the Democratic Convention as false to its pledges among other things, Bigler and friends were the first to congratulate them, and otherwise out-Heroded Herod in catering to their extreme views. They were willing to break up the Democratic, the only national party in the country, in order to carry out, to the bitter end, their hostility to Mr. Douglas. Their subserviency was so marked as to be contemptible in the sight of all honorable men. The course of Mr. Bigler does not much surprise us, for his policy, during the past two years, has been in keeping with it. He has shown a willingness to accede to the most ex treme views of the Southern fire-eaters, and in all things, was but too happy to serve them. The cherished principles of the Democratic party have such slight hold upon his political conscience that he is entirely willing to give them the go-by, and take to his bosom the rankest heresy. This easy virtue of his is most beautifully exemplified in his late vote upon the resolutions of Senator Davis. In this he deliberately advocates a Congressional slave code for the Territories, and says that he is in favor of slavery being kept in them against the will and wishes of the peo-ple. He takes the Republican ground that the power of Congress is supreme over the Territories, which makes them feeble depenthe evenings of the 28th and 29th of June, inst. dencies of the National Government. Remember Pennsylvanians, that Wm. Bigler, your Senator in Congress, was willing to destroy the Democratic party at Charleston, by joining the secession traitors of Mr. Yancey; also remember that if any of you shall remove to a new Territory, he will be one of the the first to ask Congress to compel you to have slavery, in case you do not accept it voluntarily. He thus violates the usages and principles of the Democratic party, and therefore is no longer worthy our confidence .--We hope Democrats will bear it in mind when he comes to ask them for further political favors .- Doylestown Democrat.

SINGULAR DEATH OF A TELEGRAPH OPERA-TOR .- The Marietta, Ohio, papers announce the death of George L. Slocomb, a telegraphic operator at that place. A short time since, lemon in two. The Prospects of the Growing Crops.

Generally, the intelligence in regard to the crops is very encouraging. The long drought which threatened a famine in the Northwest has been broken by copious rains. "The fields are green, the fruit trees are in bloom, already verdure has commenced luxuriant growth, and all nature looks refreshed and nvigorated." The Milwaukee News says :-'If the present weather continues but a short time longer, no fears need be entertained that the harvest which is to follow will far exceed in bounty and fruitfulness its predecessors for many years. With a genial atmosphere, an abundance of moisture, and careful attention, the coming autumn will witness a gathering of cereals which will gladden the heart and insure prosperity for the future." The St. Paul (Minnesota) Pioneer is informed by a gentleman, who has travelled over large portions of Minnesota, that all sorts of crops are in a better condition than ever before known at this season of the year, and more than double the amount of ground is under cultivation than last year. In Kansas the prospect is not so favorable, the drought continues, its bad effects are very severely felt. The farmers are apprehensive that they will not be able to get in their corn in time to ripen before the frosts. The fall wheat is entirely killed out for want of rain. The oat crop will be nothing, unless rain comes .--The prospect is good in Iowa. The rye harvest will be very large. An unusual area of corn has been planted in this State, which

The Michigan papers speak of the wheat crop as looking remarkably well. A late and thus he once more got free. Nothing is number of the Detroit Advertiser notices known of his subsequent history. headed out; the wheat was at least three feet, and would probably have exhixited heads in a week's time. Such crops are predicted in Kentucky. The Louisville Journal says: We hear many complaints about the wheat in this State. A good many of the fields in which the wheat has been frozen out have been planted in something else. The remaining fields present a spotted appearance, the plants being of uneven height. The cause of this is stated to be the work of a fly, which delittle Frenchman walked rapidly forward over | posits its egg near the root, the worm eats the dizzy height. The rope slightly swayed into the stalk, producing a weak and sickly

Grain and fruit promise well in Pennsylvania. The Pittsburgh Journal thinks the fruit crop in the western section of the State will be unprecedented. Pears, plums, cherries, apples, all promise an abundant crop.-The strawberry never looked finer, and such is the case with the other small fruits. The wheat crop never looked better thoughout the State, and is advancing finely; and from present indications will mature early. The insects are making serious ravages in Virginia. The Fredericks (Va.) Herald says that the bracing the large and fertile valley of the Rappahannock, nearly one hundred miles in length—is less promising than for many years past. In Richmond, Westmoreland, Middlesex, Spottsylvania, King George, Orange, and Stafford, the worm is making great inroads. The worm has made its appearance in sever-

States that were struggling for emancipation from the dominion of National Democracy. consideration to the People's party of Penn. as a terrible instance of Divine wrath, and sylvania and New Jersey, we were invited to | may not the thoughtless take warning? participate in the Chicago Convention .-There is no Republican party proper in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. An immense number of the Opposition of those States, recently acting with the Republican party are Americans. But yet, at Chicago, Hon. Edward Bates, of Missouri, was attacked and defeated as a prominent contestant for the nomination of President, on the sole ground that he presided over the Whig National Convention of 1856, which nominated Mr. Filmore, and was, therefore, under the suspicion of having had a sympathy with the American cause, although it was known full well that he had never been in any way connected with that party. Governor Koner, of Illinois, Carl Shurz, of Wisconsin, and other Germans as exponents of that foreign element in the United States, at Chicago, formally waited on the Indiana delegation, that was supposed to be favorable to Mr. Bates, and threatened the revolt of the whole German vote of the country, and the running of an independent ticket, in case Mr. Bates was nominated. In this way the sentiments and sympathies of the American portion of the Opposition, all through the free Statss and the friendly slave States, was defied and cast contemptuously out of the programme of the Chicago nominations. Even Gov. Banks, of Massachusetts, though Republican as he is, was fairly hooted out of the field at Chicago because of his Americanism.

"These are facts mortifying and humiliat-ing; and how they are likely to effect the Whig and American vote in Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Delaware, Connecticut and New York, remains to be seen." Parson Brownslow says of the late speech of Senator Douglas: "In the Senate, this day, at one o'clock, Senator Douglas commenced his reply to the speech of Jeff. Davis, and his expose of the Democratic Senatorial caucus resolution, repudiating squatter sovereignty. In order to secure a seat in the gallery, I repaired thither one hour and a half before the Senate was called to order. The immense galleries were crowded with ladies and gentlemen, and all the vacant space on the floor of the Senate was crowded with foreign ministers and members of the House. Douglas spoke three hours and five minutes, and then gave way to a motion to adjourn, and will conclude to-morrow The speech was an able one, both powerful and convincing, for, as a debator, I doubt whether he has a superior in American puplie life. * * * But he sways the people, and inspires both friends and foes with admiration for his abilities. I think I have heard all who spoke of it say the same. He literally ruined the Democratic party, and made tne Senate caucus, who adopted Davis' resolution condemning squatter sovereignty, look ike a gang of stupid asses, utterly ignorant of what they were doing."

THE HALF-HANGED HIGHWAYMAN .- One would naturally suppose that a man who had suffered all the horrors of hanging, just short of actual deat,h would never risk the gallows again; but such, in one case at least, was not the result. A house-breaker named Smith was hanged at Tyburn, Dec. 24, 1705, and when he had hung nearly fifteen minutes, the people shouted "a reprieve" He was cut down, bled, and recovered!

When asked what his feelings had been, he replied, in substance, that "when he was turned off, he for some time was sensible of very great pain, occasioned by the weight of his body, and felt his spirits in a strange commotion, violently pressing upwards; that having forced their way to his head, he, as it were, saw a great blaze or glaring light, which seemed to go out of the eyes with a flash, and then he lost all sense of pain; that after he was cut down, and began to come, to himself, the blood and spirits forcing themselves into their former channels, put him, by a sort of pricking or shooting, to such intolerable pain, that he could have wished those hanged who had cut him down." Ever after-wards he went by the name of "Half-hanged Smith." This fellow soon returned to his former evil habits, and was again tried at the Old Bailey for house-breaking; but the jury brought in a special verdict, leaving the affair to the decision of the twelve judges, who decided in favor of the prisoner. Even this second wonderful escape did not deter him from resuming his malpractices; and the third time he was to have been brought to trial, but the prosecutor died before the day appointed,

Novel Marriage.—A couple were married by Justice Purdy yesterday, says the Detroit Free Press, of the 26th ult., one of whom was a female, aged fifty-eight, and the other a verdant-leading. verdant-looking young man, who had apparently reached the mature age of about eighteen. He maintained, and stuck to it, that he was thirty-seven years old, and, in order to make up the deficiency, she brought her years down to forty-five. The dodge did not work, and upon being informed that they must make oaths to the facts, they declined, and requested to be united without any questioning. The young fellow said he had no particular objection to telling his age, but the lady was captious, and refused to divulge until she was informed that she must give up all hope of possessing the youngster as a penalty. She said he didn't amount to much as a man, but then he would be handy to have around, and she thought she might as well take him, as she had more money than she knew what to do with, and wanted somebody to spend it. The bridegroom looked as if he might fulfil the duty with a little judicious

AN AWFUL WARNING .- The Baltimore Clipper, of Thursday, says we heard yesterday, from an entirely reliable and responsible source, the particulars of an occurrence, which can only be looked upon as an instance of Divine rebuke for taking the name of the Almighty in justification of a falsehood. We refrain from mentioning names through consideration of the parties, residing in the south-western section of the city. It appears that a few days since the aunt of a young girl about eighteen years of age, accused her of having been guilty of some misconduct, which she positively denied, and on being again accused, she called upon God to strike her blind if she was not telling the truth. In a moment after, according to her own statement, a flim seemed to pass before her eyes, and in the course of five minutes, The result has not vindicated the assu-she was totally blind, and has continued rances of Republican liberty to the Southern | sightless ever since. The afflicted victim of her own impiety, confessed that she had called upon her Maker to justify her in what It has not vindicated the assurances of just was a falsehood. May not this be considered

DEATH OF BYRON'S WIDOW.—The death of Byron's widow is announced. This lady, who was born in 1794, was the only daughter and heir of Sir Ralph Milbanke Noel, by the sister and co-heir of the second Viscount and ninth Baron Wentworth. On the death of the other co-heir, Lord Scarsdale, in 1856, she succeeded to the barony of Wentworth by writ, the viscounty becoming extinct. She was married to the great poet in 1815, but the union, as is well known, was a most unhappy one for the husband and the wife.-Their only child, Ada, was married to Earl Lovelace, and died in 1852.

In the stomach of a dead cow at Double Springs, Ky., were found eighty-two balls of $2,00. hair, varying in size from four to ten inches. They were almost round, hard, and perfectly compact. We are placed under obligations to the bride and groom for the generous supply of CAKE sent us, which, by the way, was delicious, (for Jenny cannot be excelled in baking cakes) and take this opportunity of returning our thanks, and offering our congratulations. We wish the happy couple a long and prosperous life, and hope that they may never be brought to realize any of the numerous ills to which this world is heir. May a bountiful profusion of son-shine ever gladden their hearts in their new and pleasant relation of life, and we sincerely hope that they may ever share the pleasing consciousness of a printer's blessing.
