A Pleasant Incident.

Sitting in our sanctum, says a western editor, now some years past, on a cold, blustering autumn day, we were attracted by the entrance of a bright-eyed, thoughtful little boy, but thinly clad, who told the story of "no father-family sick-out of employment," &c. We were disposed to express mock sympathy, and say we could do nothing, but the boy's eyes were so swimming with tears, and he so trembled from head to foot, while his conduct and demeanor bore such an impress of truthfulness and sincerity, that we could not find it in our heart to speak harshly, and finally dismissed him with a handsome little sum, contributed in main by printers—who, by the way, are proverbial the world over for their generosity.

The next evening we were somewhat surprised to find the little fellow hanging diffidently about our office door. This time, however, his eyes were bright with happiness, and a sweet smile played over and lit up his features. We asked him to come in, he merely stepped forward timily so as to catch our ear, and earnestly, though stutteringly, whispered, "Mamma prayed for you last night," and then disappeared as noiselessly as he

Thank God, thought we, for that mother's prayer. And though years have passed since then-though we have bustled through incidents, and mingled in life's struggles, as we are all forced to do-the remembrance-"Mamma prayed for you last night," still sounds as grateful and as sweet as when it first fell from the lips of that innocent boy.

An exchange paper says of a late reverend divine, walking out back of his house, where a new street was opening, saw an Irishman hard at work with a crow-bar striving to dislodge a huge stone from the ground where it was held fast by the root of a tree. His patience was fairly exhausted by the vain struggle he had made, and at last he ex-claimed in a passion—"The devil take it! the devil take it!" The old pastor approached him and quietly remarked that he ought not to make such free use of the name of the evil one, and certainly not to throw such a big stone at him as that. The Irishman, striking his crow-bar into the ground, and leaning leisurely on it, replied—"Och! then, and it's yerself that's findin' fault wid me for sayin' that same, when, it's yees and the likes o' yees that's paid by the year for abusin' the ould gentleman all the while!" The pastor turned away to smile and enjoy the

That after seven cords of oak wood and three of pine had been consumed around the Safe, it was opened in the presence of the committee, and the contents taken out, a little warmed but not even combined. but not even scorched Several Silver Medals heretofore received by the manufacturers, and a large quantity of documents were in the Safe, and came out entirely uninjured.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 17, 1859.—Messrs. Evans & Wat WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 17, 1859.—Messrs. EVANS & 11 A1 SON, Philadelphia.

Gentlemen:—The Salamander Fire-Proof Safe of your manufacture, purchased by us from your Agent, Ferris & Garrett, of our city, some nine months ago, was severely tried by burglars-last Saturday night, and although they had a sledge hammer, cold clisels, drill and gunpowder, they did not succeed in opening the Safe. The lock being one of "Hall's Patent Powder-proof," they could not get the powder into it, but drilled a hole in the lower panel and forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and althe powder into it, but drilled a hole in the lower panel and forced in a large charge, which was ignited, and although the door, inside and out, showed the explosion not to have been a small one, it was not forced open. We suppose they were the greater part of the night at work on it. We are much gratified at the result of the attempt to enter it, and if the above facts are of any service, you are at liberty to use them.

Yours, truly,

GREAT FIRE!—ANOTHER TRIUMPH!! KNOXVILLE, Tennessee, March 13th, 1859.
Messrs. EVANS & WATSON, Philadelphia:
Gentlemen—It affords me great pleasure to say to you that the Salamander Safe which I purchased of you in that the Salamander Safe which I purchased of you in February, 1858, proved to be what you recommended itas sure protection from fire. My storehouse, together with several others, was burned to the ground in March last.—The Safe fell through into the cellar, and was exposed to intense heat for six or eight hours, and when it was taken from the ruins and opened, all its contents where found to be in a perfect state, the books and the papers not being injured any whatever. I can cheorfully recommend your Safes to the community, believing, as I do, that they are as near fire-proof as it is possible for any Safe to be made.
