SCOTTSVILLE, July 21, 1860. WM. LEWIS, Esq.-Our town would be quite dull through harvest, were it not for the frequent visits we receive from the officeeverything that honorable men hold dear, seekers of the Opposition ranks. There appears to be a perfect little army of them.-And they all appear to be very clever fellows.

But its fashionable for them to be friendly until after the election. We have but one man in this township who endorses the action of the Seceders. He for-merly belonged to the Opposition. The Democracy are all enthusiastic for the regular nominees of the party. They say that the "Vermont Cabinet Maker of 1831, shall be the Washington Cabinet Maker in 1861." We want nothing more than a pure Douglas and Johnson Electoral Ticket put before the people, and there will be enough of men found in the State who are opposed to Black Republicanism and Sectionalism, to elect it.

The Rail making company of our township has suspended operations. The cause of the explosion of the concern, I believe, was for want of timber. At first when they commenced business, they thought they were go-ing to have easy timber to work; but they have found out that the "Old Hickory" timber of little Clay cannot be split, and worked up with the soft wedge of Abolitionism.

Camp Meeting will be held within one fourth of a mile of this place by the United Brethren denomination, commencing the third day of August. More anon.

Movements of Douglas.

Springfield, Mass., July 20.-Senator Douglas arrived here at noon to-day, and was received by a crowd of at least nine thousand persons, which manifested much enthusiasm n the use of gunpowder, music and applause. Senator Douglas spoke from the balcony of the Massaert House to the assembled multitude, and was frequently interrupted with cheers. He will dine here in company with Maryland Politics.

They feel that they have degraded themselves, violated their party fe-alty, and sunk their manhood by becoming the mere passive tools of a reckless and cor-rupt faction of politicians who aim at the de-struction of our common country. To look upon men placed in so forlorn a condition awakens no pleasurable emotions in the heart. We pity, but can not relieve them.— We are in the way of the faithful, and dare not desert it to hold converse or treaty with sinners who have rebelled and sinned "against light and against knowledge." We can not accept the compromise they have offered, beaccept the compromise they have offered, because, on our part, we have nothing to compromise—our skirts are clean, and we must keep them so, which we could not do were we, by accepting their terms, to associate politically with a band of rebellious disorganizers who have declared their independence of Democratic usages, and combined with Federalists, Disunionists, and Traitors to make war upon the Party and the Union .--We are as much afraid to burthen our consciences with so much guilt, as an honest Christian would be to play "blind man's buff" with the devil. No, we can not extend a helping hand .-We must leave them where they are, to struggle, and sweat, and groan-to come out of the quagmire unaided, if they came at all, and if not, to sink into congenial filth "un-washed, unkempt," the political lepers of inary, among whom may be mention 1860.—State Sentinel.
