LOCAL & PERSONAL.

CAMP PATTERSON .- For a week previous to the commencement of the Encampment and Fair at this place, the Committee appointed for the purpose, were busily engaged in making arches over the streets, and by Monday morning of the Encampment, they completed their work, having erected eight on Hill street, beside three or four on Washington street, and one on the corner of Smith and Allegheny streets. The citizens of Hill street, decorated the fronts of their houses with wreaths and festoons; and we noticed several houses in the back streets also suitably and tastily arranged. Altogether, our town presented rather a grand spectacle, and speaks well for our citizens. No pains were spared in mak- in human shape, we ever saw, this one takes ing it look beautiful, which, we are proud to say, pleased every one who was fortunate enough to be in our midst.

At an early hour on Monday morning the soul-stirring and spirit-reviving music of the the expense of the poor creature, but our drum and fife greeted our ears and soldiers made their appearance on our streets, equipped for service. The Standing-Stone Guards of this place, were out in full trim, receiving companies of soldiers that were coming in from every direction. [Here a list of the officers and companies present should be inserted, but we were not furnished with a report of the same, neither could we find any one who appeared to care or know anything about it. However, there were twenty-two companies in attendance, and between 8,000 and 40,000 people.]

Tuesday morning dawned upon us beautiful and clear, the rays of old Sol reflecting brightly over all creation. The crowd was largely on the increase and more soldiers coming in. Many sights were to be seen and everybody were out eight-scoing. A detachment of soldiers from Camp were sent into town in the morning to take under arrest all the soldiers to be found in town and march them back to Camp. As soon as the news spread abroad a general stampede took place among the soldiers from the hotels and other places of resort. Some running one way and some an-other, hotly pursued by the guard; some es-caped and others were taken triumphantly back to headquarters. A high wind prevailed during the morning, which blew a portion of a chimney off the Franklin House, the bricks falling into a crowd that was standing on the pavement in front of the house, and strange as it may appear, nobody was hurt. Quite an excitement prevailed. We visited the Encampment grounds in the afternoon, where a large crowd had congregated to witness the soldiers go through the mili-tary evolutions. Taking all things into consideration, they did remarkably well. The roads were a perfect sea of dust, which made it rather unpleasant but nobody seemed to mind it.

Wednesday was another fine day, with very Camp in abundance, all filled to overflowing with passengers. It is estimated that there in town. The streets were lined, bar-rooms and shops crowded, and the road leading t the Camp literally jammed with people, some on foot and some in carriages and hacks .-itary skill, which pleased everybody. All the realities of Camp life were enacted, to the delight of visitors and satisfaction of officers and soldiers. The soldiers were a gay set of fellows. They made great sport for the visitors. Singing and dancing were car-ried on extensively in and about the tents. Thursday was dark and dreacy, black clouds hanging over Lead, and rain falling almost incessantly until about the middle of the afternoon. Notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather, the crowd was still larger than on the day previous. The trains from every direction came in crowded with people, and hundreds were unable to get on at some stations along the road. There was a perfect iam in town. The hotels, shops, and private houses were all filled, yet hundreds were not accommodated with anything more than they could eat, and some didn't even get that.-This was the day for the grand parade of the military. The Division was reviewed in the morning by Gen. Bell, and in the afternoon a grand parade came off. The Division was brought into town and paraded through the different streets, where they presented a grand appearance and behaved like good soldiers. On Friday military excitement was on the decline. The Camp broke up in the afternoon. By invitation they visited the Fair forenoon, to see and be seen, after which they disbanded and returned to their homes weary and fagged, but well satisfied with the benefits derived from regular military duty. The military of Huntingdon county probably have | ble to secure comfortable lodgings on Weda better idea of soldier's life now than they ever had before. The simple shouldering of a musket or the putting on of a uniform, does not make a soldier; nor does the marching on our streets on the Fourth of July, or the anniversary of Washington's birth day, or on other like occasions, resemble at all military life. Something more is required; and we think in the lesson taught in "Camp Patterson," and Camps for similar purposes, will be planted the germ that will create the brave soldier, and in the time of our country's need either for internal disorder, or for external foes, will show its effects.

THE FAIR .- Notwithstanding the excitement occasioned by the military, our annual County Fair was well patronized. The display of fruits, flowers, vegetables, grain, stock, and mechanical implements, although not in quite such an abundance as on some former occasions, yet, we think the articles on exhibition will vie favorably with any ever before exhibited in this county. Considerable interest was manifested by our country friends, as well as those living in town.

The Fair was not devoid of out-side shows either. Among the sights to be seen, and, indeed, the principal one, was "dat wonderfel papy, only seven months old and weighs petween eighty and ninety pounds." It was a wonderful papy indeed. Of all the beings the lead. The poor child looked more like a lump of fat than a live human being. We have heard several good things gotten off at space will not admit of a rehearsal.

Another feature about the Fair, was a tent erected along the board-walk leading through West Huntingdon, with "wonderful sights" innumerable, all of which could be seen for 'one dime." Connected with this establishment, was a target to be shot at with bow and arrow. We saw several try their hands at it, who made a poor fist at the business.-We think any man would have been safe in standing as a target at a distance of twenty naces.

Among the novel sights we witnessed on the Fair grounds on Friday morning, was an elephant, belonging to our military friends. The military were on the grounds by special invitation, and in order to amuse the people, they got up a mock elephant. It was rather a funny sight, and seemed to please everybody that saw it.

Eating tents and refreshment tables were in abundance on the Fair grounds. Our purpose of raising money to help defra, the expenses incurred in introducing gas into their church.

The Excelsior Cornet Band of this place, liscoursed sweet music on the Fair ground, to the infinite delight of all present. The net receipts of the Fair will amount to about the same as last year.

FATAL ACCIDENT-Two Men Killed and a Third Scriously Injured .- On Thursday evening last, just at the time the Fast Line was due at the depot from the east, the Huntingdon Wide-Awakes were passing down Railroad street, with the Band in front, attracting the attention of the great crowd of people which filled the pavements and the street swindle from the start-besides others, which from Jackson's Hotel to the Station. The though called back to earth, live only to omit high wind. The crowd was immense, the dust awful. Conveyances to and from the some distance above the Exchange Hotel, and the crowd either not noticing the arrival of washetween eight and twelve thousand people | the train, or not expecting it to pass the Station without stopping, was suddenly run into. and strange to say, but two men were killed, and one, though severely injured internally, The soldiers made a fine display of their mil- is thought to be out of danger. Peter Mc-Carthy, a single man from Alexandria. was run over, cutting and tearing his body in a most frightful manner, and scattering it along keep up under the pressure, but the whole hon, a man of family, was struck down by the cow-catcher and badly cut on the head and otherwise injured. He lived for about two hours. The third, Francis Kanc of Stone Creek, a young man, was struck on the breast and thrown heavily outside of the track. He was taken away insensible but recovered during the night, and is now thought to be in a fair way to be about again in a few days .--No others were injured, but thousands were hadly frightened. How it happened that there were not a much greater number killed and crippled, surprises every one who was

Mr. Curtin's Services and Promises.

We have never thought that gratuitous attacks upon the personal character of political opponents are the best means of bolstering our own candidates or damaging the success of our rivals. In the present canvass we have abstained from personal allusions to the candidate of the Abolition party for Governor of this State, not because we believe him to be immaculate, or because we are not perfeetly aware that his most intimate friends and ardent supporters know him to be anything else but immaculate, or even safe unless hedged about with a strong wall of circumstances over which there is no escape, and within whose bounds there are no dangerous pitfalls into which he may decoy, dupe, or precipitate a rival. Not for such reasons. have we refrained generally from criticisms on the character and failings of Mr. Curtin, but because we believe that general principles of public policy and interest are the best subjects for discussion before the people, and the tests of political success.

However, some of the newspaper advocates of the Abolition cause have chosen to leave the arena of politics and descend to slanderous and scurrilous attacks upon Gen. Foster, the Democratic candidate, a man whose character is so far above all reproach, and whose position is so superior to the platform of demagogueism that his opponents think proper to libel him down to the standard of their own party because they dare not meet him in the presence of the people. The record of Mr. Andrew G. Curtin is not a very long one, for he sprung into notoriety upon the fungus of Know-Nothingism, and capped the climax of imbecility which distinguished the administration of the amiable, but unfortunate Pollock. While the tendency and the desires of this gentleman were toward what he hoped was right, the restless conceit and tricky proclivities of his premier were forever bent upon evil, and that administration was only safe from inanition when plunged into vice. During the reign of Mr. Pollock, while the Governor was meekly striving to get himself through the ordeal of bastard politics with a conscience unseared and Methodist friends also had a table set, fir the a skin unscarred, his Secretary was industriously looking into the job-work and outside emoluments of patronage.

And so it happened that under that dynasty of feeble intellect and forcible craft, the good people of Pennsylvania were more egregriously duped and swindled than for many a day before. The Bank trick-a favorite scheme among old hacks for enriching themselves and their families and at the people's expense-was displayed with great success. And the currency was beautified and improved by such benign institutions as the Shamokin Bank, which went down with fearful rapidity, but was subsequently revised and now floats under the flag of one of the Pollock family-the Central Bank, at Holli-daysburg, which broke up and left no trace but debt-the lioga County Bank, a dead the odor of the grave. Such are the booms which the people got from the generalship of Mr. Curtin, and such only increased fourfold or more, may they expect, if this same ex-Secretary Curtin should ever chance to be Governor.

It has always been said of Curtin that he was a strict disciplinarian in the school of party, and that his levies on the poor applicants for office in consideration of their appointment, is yet sorrowfully remembered by many of his dupes. In fact, these demands were so onerous that the party could not BADLY HOAXED .- A telegraphic dispatch to the Philadelphia papers from this place on the night of the accident, stated that a large Republican meeting was being held here, and that the crowd was at the depot to receive delegations coming in. The truth is, there were no delegations in that train, neither had delegations arrived in any other train for the purpose of attending a Republican meeting. The meeting that was to be, would have been a failure, even had the accident not occurred. A dog fight in any public street in town during the exciting days of last week, would have brought together as large a crowd as any of the Republican orators could have done.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING AT SAULSBURG,-A Democratic meeting will be held at Saulsburg on Friday next. John Scott, Esq., and others will address the meeting. The voters of the surrounding country are requested to turn out and attend the meeting.

an eye-witness to the accident. Inquests were held by David Snare, Esq., and the verdicts of the juries consure those in charge of the train with gross neglect of duty. As we expect a full investigation of the sad affair by the Company or our Court, we shall defer expressing an opinion as to who should be held responsible for the accident.

The Crowd.-Never have we seen, nor never do we want to see again, such a crowd (which we notice in another place,) in the in the "ancient borough," as was here last week. The crowd was too great to countwe can only say the town was full-chuck full and running over. Hundreds were unanesday and Thursday nights. After filling every room in the hotels, and almost all the private houses being thrown open for lodgers. the Court Room was warmed up where many passed the night of Thursday. It was a tremendous mass meeting of all parties, so closely packed that it was impossible to get a division to ascertain which of the Presidential candidates had a majority of the voters. All agreed, however, that Foster would be elected Governor by a large majority.

BOP On Saturday last we were present at one of the largest, if not the largest Democratic meeting ever held on Broad Top. The meeting was held at Barnetstown, and was ably addressed by John Scott, R. M. Speer, and J. Simpson Africa. We were pleased to see that the right spirit prevailed amongst the hard working operatives of that region. The Abolition-Republican Know Nothings cannot deceive the honest miners into the support of their candidates. A torch-light procession came off in the evening. We expect a good report from Carbon next week.

PICK-POCKETS .--- Quite a number of pickpockets were in attendance at the Encampment and Fair. A Mr. Jesse Jones, of Fannettsburg, Franklin county, had his pocket picked of $440, and several notes of considerable amount, whilst entering the cars on Thursday evening. We heard of several other cases of similar import on the Encampment and Fair grounds. The amounts, however, were small.
