LOCAL & PERSONAL.

How to Foretell Weather .- In a manual Trade, the following useful observations occur; "Whether clear or cloudy, a rosy sky at sunset presages fine weather; a red sky in the morning, bad weather, or much wind (perhaps rain;) a gray sky in the morning, fine weather; a high dawn, wind; a low dawn, fair weather. Soft looking or delicate clouds foretell fine weather, with moderate or light breezes: hard-edged or oily clouds, wind .-A dark, gloomy, blue sky is windy; but a light, bright, blue sky indicates fine weather. Generally, the softer clouds look, the less wind (but, perhaps more rain) may be expected; and the harder, more "greasy," rolled, tufted, or ragged, the stronger the coming wind will prove. Also, a bright, yellow sky at sunset presages wind; a pale yellow, wet; and thus, the prevalence of red, yellow or gray tints, the coming weather by instruments, almost exactly. Small inkylooking clouds foretell rain; light scud clouds driving across heavy masses show wind and rain; but, if alone, may indicate wind only. High upper clouds crossing the sun, moon or stars in a direction different from that of the lower clouds, or the wind then felt below, wind and fair weather may be expected; preach them a sermon. when they hang about the land or over it, wind with stormy weather. There are other signs of a coming change in the weather known less generally than may be desirable, and, therefore, worth notice; such as when birds of long flight, rooks, swallows or others hang about home, and fly up and down or low-rain or wind may be expected. Also, when animals seek sheltered places, instead of spreading over their usual range; when pigs carry straw to their sties; when smoke from chimneys does not ascend readily (or straight upwards during calm) an unfavorable change is probable. Dew is an indication of fine weather; so is fog. Neither of these two formations occur under an overcast sky, or when there is too much wind. One sees fog occasionally rolled away, as it were by wind, but seldom or never formed while it is

GORGEOUS OCTOBER .- The year is drawing to a close, and glorious as an army with banners she walks through October. In the language of Virginia Townsend, they who rejoiced in the gladness of the spring, and the beauty of summer, shall soon revel in such paintings of sky and earth as only God's pillars of flame. In the west are seen great ing was resorted to, to fill out the newspaper; fleets with sails of crimson, and looking on the face of the earth, we know that solemn. and stately, and gorgeous October has taken up her march in the sisterhood of the months. In a little while the year will fall into chill and shadow. The wood-fires will be kindled | Doubtless, in some quarters, even in our day, in the kitchens of old country houses; there extracts from the Bible would be, "new inwill be the sad, rustling sound of the leaves on the earth, the fall of apples on the pale orchard grass, the dropping of nuts in the woods. And later there will come that last smile of the year, the still, serene, yearning Indian Summer, and afterward the early nights, the cold, pallid, stricken days and the wild storms-and then the year must arise and gird herself, and prepare to go out REPUBLICAN JUBILEE.—On Friday night, the Wide-Awakes, and other friends of Lincoln, Hamlin, Curtin and Wharton, paraded our streets, with torches and transparencies, in honor of their late victory. The whole procession was headed by the Excelsior Band. A number of the victorious candidates were also in rank. After parading all the streets in the town, they again returned to the Court House, the place of starting, where a scries of resolutions were offered, read and adopted, reading Dr. Benj. E. Mc-Murtrie, Major McMurtrie, Wm. McMurtrie, Major Jas. Steel, J. Sewell Stewart and Jona. McWilliams outside the pales of the party .-They also had a bon-fire in the Diamond, where tar barrels and boxes had to suffer .-In the procession were three or four transparencies, with mottoes emblematic of their party. One especially attracted our attention, as we were somewhat concerned. It was a ship bound for Salt River, with our Post Master as Captain. Old Abe was conspicuously displayed on one of the transparencies, and looked as ugly and natural as life.

A Hanging Scene at Pike's Peak. A letter from Colerado city, dated the 25th

"Four weeks ago a Mexican was brought into town, accused of stealing horses. It was Sunday morning, the people were on their way to church, the captors, with the prisoner attracted attention, a crowd collected, and a court was speedily organized. A lumber may be foretold very nearly; indeed, if aided | wagon was used for the Judge's bench, clerk's desk, &c., and near the wheel sat the unfortunate man, with one end of the rope about his neck, the other in the hands of the sheriff: he was surrounded by the crowd, all of whom were the jury. Counsel were appointed, and the trial commenced. It had proceeded but a short time, when the clergyman who was to preach that morning appeared. He mounted the wagon and stated to the crowd that foretells a change of wind. When sea birds he was late, but if they would give him a fly out early, and far to seaward, moderate quarter of an hour, he would be ready to

"A person informed the reverend gentlewhen they hang about the land or over it, man that they had a hanging job on hand sometimes flying inland, expect a strong and could not attend to him. The clergyman then put the question to the assembled crowd, whether they would have the hanging or the sermon first. They decided by an unanimous vote to have the hanging first, and proceeded with the trial. The evidence was conclusive that he had stolen the horses, and he was sentenced to be hung. The prisoner begged for mercy; offered two thousand dollars, fifty head of cattle, and twenty horses to be released, promising to leave the country and never return. His offer was refused. When he found there was no hope he begged them to hurry and hang him as soon as possible.-A platform was constructed. He declined making any remarks, and in the presence of the citizens of the town, he was launched into

NEWSPAPERS IN OLDEN TIMES.-When newspapers were first established, they were quite destitute of advertisements, and nothing was more common than for papers to be issued with a blank page. The first newspaper printed in America had only three pages of reading matter, as there was not foreign, or domestic news enough to fill out all the columns? In England, after a while, a new method was adopted to fill up the space not required for the current news, by published selections from the sacred scriptures, and many an old newspaper is now extant with a whole page copied from the Bible. Chapters from the New Testament were placed at the head of the column, and the space below was hand can accomplish. The forests are great | filled out with a psalm of the required length. the Bible was not so common or so cheap as district shall hereafter hold their general and township at present, and doubtless much good resulted from the practice. What would some of the subscribers to our popular journals say if their favorite sheet was to appear with seven or eight columns selected from the Scriptures?

midnight marauders have again commenced their depredations on the chicken coops of our citizens. On Saturday night, Mrs. Harry Wharton had four chickens and a turkey taken from her coop, and Wm. McMurtrie had five taken from his premises. It is about time that this thing should be stopped. It would be advisable for our citizens to keep an eye on their hen-roosts, and give the first person seen prowling about them, a dose of pepper and salt.

Martinsburg, Blair county Penn'a.

E. J. OSBORN, A. B.,
J. W. DICKERSON,

This institution will commence its first session with an able and experienced corps of instructors. MONDAY, the 5th of November, 1860. No expense has been spared to make it thorough and complete in every department.—
The building is one of the largest in the State: being constructed and furnished on the most improved modern plans. It contains a hall capable of seating 600 persons, with office, music room, library and class rooms, suffacient for a school of 300 students.

The school is located in a region of country unexcelled for its beauty and healthfulness, and surrounded by a moral, and industrious community. The distance to Cove Station, Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad, 6 miles; to Hollidaysburg Station, Penn'a. Railroad, 12 miles with daily stage from both places, thus making the school easy of access from all parts of the State,

The objects of the school are:

1st. The Professional Training of Teachers.

2d. The thorough education of young ladies and gentlemen in the English, and ornamental branches.

3d. The preparation of students for college.

The Teaching class will meet daily for lectures, on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, for recitation from some standard work on the subject, or for discussion of the
