THE GLOBE.

Huntingdon, Wednesday, Dec. 19, 1860

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

DRESSING CHILDREN.-NAKED ARMS AND NECES .- We have frequently condemned the "fashionable" mode of dressing children, especially during the winter season. A distinguished physician, who died recently, once declared that during the twenty-six years he had practiced his profession in a large city, thousands of children had been carried to the cemeteries a sacrifice to the absurd custom of exposing their arms. Another eminent follows, and we commend his remarks to the careful perusal of every reader of the GLOBE who is a parent :-

I have often thought if a mother were anxious to show the soft white skin of her baby, and would cut out a round hole in the little thing's dress, just over the heart, and then carry it about for observation by the company, it would do very little harm. But to expose the baby's arms, members as far removed from the heart and with such feeble circulation at best, is a most pernicious practice.-Put the bulb of a thermometer to baby's mouth; the mercury rises to ninety-nine degrees. Now carry the same bulb to its little hand; if the arms be bare, and the evening cool, the mercury will sink forty degrees.

Of course all the blood which flows through these arms and hands must fall from twenty to forty degrees below the temperature of the heart. Need I say that when these cold currents of blood flow back into the chest, the child's general vitality must be more or less compromised? And need I add that we ought not to be surprised as its frequently recurring affections of the lungs, throat and stomach? I have seen more than one child with habitual cough and hoarseness, or choking with mucus, entirely and permanently relieved by simply keeping its arms and hands warm. Every observing and progressive physician has daily opportunities to witness the simple cure.

ABOUT BEDBUGS .- According to an article in the last number of Harpers' Magazine, bed bugs are an American invention, and have been exported from this country to all parts of Europe, excepting Ireland, where a bedbug is never to be found. The insect made its appearance in England as early as the year 1503, when two noblemen were "punctured" by them, and the physicians called in great haste. The bug is a parasite of the bat family, and is so tenacious of life that no degree of heat or cold can affect it. Freeze one until you can break it in two: thaw the pieces and they will revive. Freeze the eggs until they are congealed in ice; let them thaw, and they will hatch again as usual. Boil both insect and egg and they will revive soon as cool. If they can get nothing to eat they will live and propagate on what nourishment they may derive from the atmosphere.

A friend writing us from Clearridge, ten miles east of Bedford says :- "The high water in November done considerable damage here, washing away fences, and in some instances, carrying away whole crops of corn, causing those that expected large crops, to buy. On the 12th inst. a bear was captured in the neighborhood.

DIARIES FOR 1861 .- A fine assortment just received and for sale at Lewis' Book Store. Diaries should be in more general use. The young man in particular should keep a Diary in his pocket and note down something every day in the year. A good thought or a good action carefully noted down every day during 1861 might produce good fruit in after life.

R. NEWELL,
GALLERY OF ART,
724 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

COMMENDATIONS: From Hon. Lewis D. Campbell, M. C., Ohio. My family and friends all concur in the opinion that the (Newell) picture is more life-like than any thing they ever saw. My likeness has been repeatedly taken by different Artists in various ways, but I have never yet had one which presents so true to nature, all the features and expressions of countenance as this.

From Hon. E. Joy Morris, late Minister to Italy, The exquisite finish, beauty and softness of your por-traits, conjoined with their durability of color and faith-fulness as likenesses, cannot full to commend them to the attention and patronage of all who appreciate true art. From Col. James Page.

PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY,

No. 724 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

No. 721 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

One of the largest and most complete Galleries in the States, where the best Pictures, known to the Photographic art, are taken at prices no higher than are paid for miserable caricatures.

The Proprietor, a practical Photographer, attends personally, every sitting—and allows no picture to leave the Gallery unless it gives perfect satisfaction.

Daguerreotypes and Ambrotypes, of absent or deceased friends, photographed to any required size, or taken on Canvass. Life size, and painted in Oil by the best Artists.

At this Gallery pictures can be taken in any weather—as perfect in cloudy days as when the sun shines.

Persons visiting the city are respectfully invited to examine our specimens, which for price and quality defy competition.

Having occasion for a portrait, I procured one from Mr. Robert Newell. of the city of Philadelphia, a miniature in Oil Coiors, under the new process discovered by hum, and take great pleasure in expressing the satisfaction given me, not only by the accuracy of the likeness, but its artistic finish in all respects, and recommends him to the patronage of those disposed to encourage the beautiful art.
