The Farmer and Housekeeper. Sound on the MUSIC OF LABOR.

The banging of the hammer, The whirling of the plane, The crashing of the busy saw, The creaking of the crane, The ringing of the anvil, The grating of the drill, The clattering of the turning lathe,

The whirling of the mill,
The buzzing of the spindle,
The rattling of the loom,
The puffing of the engine, The fan's continual boom. The clipping of the tailor's shears, The driving of the awl-

These sounds of honest Industry, . I love-I love them all. The clicking of the magic type, The earnest talk of men, The toiling of the giant press, The scratching of the pen. The tapping of the yard-stick.
The tinkling of the scales, The whistling of the needle, (When no bright cheek it pales.) The humming of the cooking-stove,

The surging of the broom. The patting feet of childhood, The housewife's busy hum, The buzzing of the scholars, The teacher's kindly call-These sounds of honest Industry, I love-I love them all.

I love the ploughman's whistle, The reaper's cheerful song, The drover's oft repeated shout, Spurring his stock along; The bustle of the market man, As he hies them to the town, The halloo from the tree top As the ripened fruits come down; The busy sound of threshers As they clean the ripened grain, The husker's joke and catch of glee Neath the moonlight on the plain; The kind voice of the drayman, The shepherd's gentle call-

These sounds of pleasant Industry, I love —I love them all.

Oh! there's a good in labor, If we labor but aright, That gives vigor to the daytime, A sweeter sleep at night; A good that bringeth pleasure, Even to the toiling hours, For duty cheers the spirit, As dew revives the flowers.

Then say not that Jehovah Gave labor as a doom-No! 'tis the richest mercy From the cradle to the tomb. Then let us still be doing Whate'er we find to do, With a cheerful, hopeful spirit, And free hand, strong and true.

A LEAK IN THE STABLE.

Not a leak in the roof, though that would be had, but in the floor, which is worse, and many leaks too, leaks between every plank! Why not make the floor as tight as possible, and have a gutter near the heels of the stock, to carry off the urine in a tank below, or into a heap of muck or other absorbent? Or, in place of this arrangement, have the floors opposite the Franklin House in Market Square. Hunting [Sept, 24, 1800.] bark, saw-dust, plaster, or any dry absorbent material. Anybody can see that this would FOR FALL and WINTER save nearly all the urine for useful purpores, and would make the air of the stable pleasant and healthful to the stock and their own-

The importance of this economy will appear when we reflect that the liquid voidings of a cow range from nine to twelve hundred gallons a year, according to the age and size of the animal; and of a horse, from eleven to fourteen hundred gallons; which are worth more, pound for pound, than the solid excre-

As we have often said, the Chinese and Germans, and other European farmers, save this portion of their manure with far greater care than we do. They would as soon let silver slip through holes in their pockets, as this manure leak through holes in their stable floors. Doubtless, American farmers waste millions of dollars annually in this way. Friendly reader, how much do you

KEEPING HORSES' FEET AND LEGS IN ORDER. -If I were asked to account for my horses' legs and feet being in better order than those of my neighbor, I should attribute it to the four following circumstances: First, they are all shod with few nails, so placed in the shoe as to permit the foot to expand every time they move; second, that they all live in boxes instead of stalls, and can move whenever they please; third, that they have two hours' daily walking exercise when they are not at work : and fourth, that I have not a head stall or track-chain in my stall. These four circumstances comprehend the whole mystery of keeping horses' legs fine, and their feet in sound working condition up to a good old age .- Miles.

Hungarian Grass Injurious to Horses.-An Illinois correspondent of the American Agricuturist states that last winter several horses became seriously afflicted with stiffness of the joints. They had been kept in good condition on Hungarian grass, and from the fact of other horses that had been fed on hay being exempt from the disease, the general belief is, that Hungarian grass was the cause of it—not perhaps the hay itself, but the seed. He thinks it ought to be cut for hay while in full bloom.
