THE GLOBE.

Huntingdon, Wednerday, Jan. 16, 1861 LOCAL & PERSONAL. "The Union and the Constitution, Nov

and Forever, One and Inseparable. We, the undersigned citizens of Huntingdon county, having watched with a deep and abiding interest the progress of disunion in our country for ome time past, now feel satisfied that unless the potential voice of the Unionloving people be not raised in behalf of our blood-bought institutions-under which we have attained, among the nations of the earth, our present enviable position-we shall ere long behold the abhorrent spectacle of civil war; "of States dissevered, discordant, beligerent-in which brother shall war against brother." Believing, from the history of passing events, that to this end we are fast hastening, we recommend that a general Mass Meeting of the citizens of Huntingdon county be held in the Court House, in the borough of Huntingdon, on Thursday evening, Jan. 17th, to attest their fidelity to the Union and the Constitution, and to give an expression of opinion as to some means of adjusting the present difficulties existing between the Northern and Southern States.

OF ITS CONTENTS .-- About So'clock on the morning of the 26th ult., the barn of Benjamin Shope, at Three Springs. in Clay township, was discovered to be on fire, and in half an hour was consumed, together with most of its contents, consisting of his entire crop, provender for stock, a valuable set of carpenter's tools, barn tools, and some farming utensils. Mr. Shope had but lately finished threshing his crop, and had the grain gathered in the barn .-By strenuous effort, a portion of the wheat and oats was saved by openings made through the floor underneath the garners, through which it descended into the basement; it was then carried away, and otherwise prevented from being entirely consumed, though saved in a damaged condition. Fortunately the live steels wan woliofrom the stable without injury, with the exception of several hogs and one or two calves, which perished in the flames. The horse-gears were also the mischief of two little boys-one a son of Mr. Shope, about eight years of age, and the other a neighboring boy -who, with matches, set fire to a straw-stack adjoining the barn, which in an instant communicated to the barn. Estimated loss, $2,000. No insurance. The loss bears heavily on Mr. Shope.—Shirleysburg Herald.

We have received from the publishers, Dinsmore & Co., No. 9, Spruce street, New York, Dinsmore's Railroad and Steam Navigation Guide. It contains a vast amount of useful information, and should be in the hands of everybody. It gives the correct time of all the roads in the United States, names of stations, the distance between each, and all other information any one can desire. A large map accompanies the work, showing the different railroads completed and those in the course of construction, the route of each, &c., &c. Price twenty-five cents.

My own convictions upon the whole sub ject remain unchanged. The fact that great calamity was impending over Africa were re-elected Managers for the nation was even at that time acknowledged by every intelligent citizen. It had already made itself felt throughout the length and breadth of the land. The necessary consequences of the alarm thus produced were most deplorable. The imports fell off with a rapidity never known before, except Grand Concert in the Court House this in time of war, in the history of our foreign commerce. The Treasury was unexpectedly left without the means which it had reaonably counted upon to meet its public engagements, trade was paralyzed, manufactures were stopped, the best public securities suddenly sunk in the market, every species of property de-preciated more or less, and thousands poor men who depended on their daily labor for their daily bread were turned out of employment. I deeply regret that I am not able to give you any information upon the state of the cate. On the contrary, matters are still worse at the present time than they then were. When Congress met, a strong hope pervaded the whole public mind that some amicable adjustment of the subject would be speedily made by the representatives of the States and of the people, which might restore peace between the conflicting ections of the country. That hope has been diminished by every hour of delay, and as the prospect of a bloodless settlement fades away the public distress becomes more and more aggravated. As an evidence of this, it is only neessary to say that the treasury notes authorized by the act of 17th December last were advertised according to Pleasure parties frequently occur among the pleasant and benevolent law, and that no responsible bidder of fered to take any considerable sum at par at a lower rate of interest than twelve per cent. I also declared my opinion to be that, even if that right existed, and should be exercised by any State of the Confederacy, the Ex ment had no authority, under the Constitution to recognize its validity by All is right and again we go. The Union is a sacred trust, left by our revolutionary fathers to their dehas rendered us prosperous in peace and triumphant in war. The national flag has floated with glory over every the South:

Would that South Carolina had ets, and Joel only one of the minor been convinced of this truth before her precipitate action. I therefore appeal, through you, to the people of country to declare in their might that THE UNION MUST AND SHALL BE PRE-SERVED" by all constitutional means. I most earnestly recommend that you devote yourselves exclusively to the question how this can be accomplished in peace. All other questions, when compared with this, sink into insignificance. The present is no time for palliation. Action, prompt action, s required. A delay in Congress to prescribe and recommend a distinct ind practical proposition for conciliamay drive us to a point from which it will be almost impossible to recede. A common ground on which conciliation and harmony may be produced is surely not unattainable.

The proposition to compromise by letting the North have exclusive conrol of the territory above a certain ine, and giving Southern institutions protection below that line, ought to receive universal approbation. In itself, indeed, it may not be entirely satsfactory; but when the alternative is between a reasonable concession on both sides and the destruction of the Union, it is an imputation on the patriotism of Congress to assert that its members will hesitate for a moment.

Even now the danger is upon us .-n several States which have not seceded, the forts, arsenals, and magazines of the United States have been seized. This is, by far, the most serious step which has been taken since the commencement of the troubles.— This public property has long been left without garrisons and troops for its protection, because no person doubted ts security under the flag of the country in all the States of the Union .-Besides, our small army has scarcely been sufficient to guard our remote frontiers against Indian incursions.

The seizure of this property, from all appearances, has been purely aggressive, and not in resistance to any attempt to coerce a State or States to remain in the Union. At the begining of these unhappy troubles, I deermined that no act of mine should increase the excitement in either section of the country. If the political conflict were to end in civil war, it was my determined purpose not to commence it, nor even to furnish an excuse for it by any act of this Government. My opinion gemains un-changed, that justice, as well as a peaceful solution of the questions at ssue between the North and South .-Entertaining this conviction, I refrained even from sending reinforcements to Major Anderson, who commanded the forts in Charleston harbor, until an absolute necessity for doing so, should make itself apparent, lest it spending the greater part of the evening pleasantly, glad tidings were borne to us, that we might "cat, drink to make the laws. I was assured, by distinguished and upright gentlemen from South Carolina, that no attack on Major Anderson was intended, but that, on the contrary, it was the desire of the State authorities, as much as it was my own, to avoid the fatal consequences which must inevitably follow a military collision.-And here I deem it proper to submit, for your information, copies of a communication dated the 28th of December, 1860, addressed to me by R. W. Barnwell, J. H. Adams, and James L. Orr, Commissioners from South Carolina, with accompanying documents, and copies of my answer thereto, dated the 31st of December. In further explanation of Major Anderson's removal from Fort Moultrie to Fort Sumpter, it is proper to state that after my answer to the South Carolina Commisioners, the War Department received a letter from that gallant officer, dated on the 27th December, 1860. (the day after this movement), from which the following is an extract: "I will add, as my opinion, that many things convinced me that the authorities of the State designed to proceed to a hostile act." [Evidently referring to the orders dated December 11, of the late Secretary of War.]-"Under this impression, I could not hesitate that it was my solemn duty to move my command from a fort which we could not probably have held longer than forty-eight or sixty hours, to this one, where my power of resist

THE BIBLE ON SECESSION.—The Provdence (R. I.) Journal says:

We find in a Charleston paper the following striking paragraph, which proves conclusively that the prophet oel was in favor of sesession:

The 20th verse of the second chapter of the Book of Joel reads as follows: "But I will remove far off from you the Northern army, and will drive him into a land barren and desolate, with his face toward the East Sea, and his hinder part toward the utmost sea.

It may be a comfort to those who are alarmed by this, to be assured that Jeremiah is on our side. For, in the 13th chapter and 19th verse, he says: 'The cities of the South shall be shut emiah being one of the greater prophprophets, the advantage is clearly with

POHRER'S PRACTICAL CALCU-

A Book of Plain Rules on Calculations for Business Op-rations, by Martin M. Rahrer, Practical Surveyor an Conveyancer. New Edition, published by J. B. Lippin cott & Co., Philadelphia.

Conceyancer. New Edition, published by J. B. Lappincoll & Co., Philadelphia.

This work contains 204 pages, and upwards of 500 Rules and Examples, entirely and thoroughly practical, such as arise every day in the common pursuits of Business. It has aircasty passed through a number of editions in rapid succession, and is pronounced by all classes of business men to be the handlest book of reference, pertaining to calculations, that has ever been published.

Every example in the book is worked out in full and stated in a plain manner, so that when a parallel case arises, those referring to the work will find no difficulty in solving it; in a word, the general arrangement of the CALCULATOR is simple, that any one who knows how to add, subtract multiply and divide, can easily solve anyordinary example that arises in business, or arrive at the true result of any estimate required.

The chi-faim of the author has been to eschew theory and philosophy in figures, aiming only at facts and simplicity, believing that business men care little about spending time in discussing the philosophy of niles, or the scene of figures, demning it sufficient for their purpose to be able at a moment, by reference, to arrive at the irrecult. The CALCULATOR differs in this respect from all other Arithmetics of the day and kindred works—it is a key to practical business calculations—it is, in the hands of the business man can be a key to mathematical works in the hands of the teacher in the school room—it facilitates time and insures correctness.

COMMENDATIONS:
From Hon. Lewis D. Campbell, M. C., Ohlo.
My family and friends all concur in the opinion that he (Newell) picture is more life-like than any thing they ver saw. My likeness has been repeatedly taken by the crent Artists in various ways, but I have never yet lad ne which presents so true to nature, all the features and xpuesions of countenance as this.

The exquisito finish, beauty and softness of your por-traits, conjoined with their durability of color and faith-fininess as likenesses, cannot fail to commend them to the attention and patronage of all who appreciate true art. From Col. James Page.
