

THE GLOBE.

Huntingdon, Wednesday, Mar. 13, 1861.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

For Every Subscriber to The Globe is requested to act as Agent to extend its circulation and usefulness.

We are anxious to publish a first class newspaper, and will be most gratified to see the names to do so. We want every subscriber to interest himself, not only in procuring for us additional patronage, but also in putting us in position of all the local news of the interest to the general reader. A little effort on the part of our patrons would be as much to their advantage as to ours, as with increased patronage we would be enabled to give a better paper. We can afford to do this honestly with all men or most don't mind the subscription yearly or half yearly in advance. Subscriptions can be sent to us through the mail at our risk, the Postmasters witnessing the same. We earnestly and most respectfully ask our friends to make an effort to increase our patronage.

THE GLOBE JOB PRINTING OFFICE.

Complaints will find us here, we have a Job Office furnished with a more extensive assortment of the best style of types and materials than can be found in any other county town in the State. Our work compares favorably with any done in the cities. We have four presses, which enables us to put out all kinds of job work with dispatch and at reasonable prices.

DEATH OF WILLIAM AND JOHN COLDER.—WILLIAM COLDER, Sr., died at his residence in Harrisburg on Tuesday morning of last week, at the advanced age of 73 years. Mr. Colder came to Harrisburg in 1812, and commenced life in the capacity of a stage-driver. By frugality and industry, he soon entered a more enlarged field of operations, and became a stage proprietor, and eventually was largely interested in the canal packets, from the day they first were placed upon the canal until the railroad crushed them out.

When the enterprises in which he had taken such an active part expired, by the force of circumstances, Mr. Colder invested his profits in real estate in and adjoining Harrisburg, much of which has trebled in value.

Mr. Colder was always regarded as a good, moral, straight-forward, honest man, who had few enemies—but many friends. He lived a few years over the time allotted to man, and leaves behind him three children to mourn his loss.

JOHN COLDER died in Harrisburg on Saturday evening last. He went to that city to attend the funeral of his brother. Immediately on his arrival there he was taken seriously ill. His disease was consumption, with which he had been afflicted for some years. Mr. Colder removed to this country from Lewistown several years ago, and since then his best efforts had been given to the improvement of his farm and stock. There are few, if any, as good farmers in the county. He had the confidence and respect too of all who knew him, and his death will be a loss, not only to his family, but to the farming interest of the whole country. The age of Mr. Colder was 65 years, 11 months and 21 days.

The remains of Mr. Colder were brought to this place yesterday noon, and the funeral took place at one o'clock from the residence of Mr. J. Kinney McCalman.

THEY WONDER HOW WE DID IT.—Last week we issued the President's Inaugural Address in The Globe in advance of the Tuesday morning's city daily papers. Of course we were ahead of all our brothers of the country press. Our readers should remember that The Globe establishment is no longer a one-horse concern. Our rapidly increasing list of subscribers speaks most favorably for The Globe.

EASTER.—This annual Festival occurs this year on the last day of March. Easter was celebrated by our pagan ancestors in April, as a festival in honor of Eostre, the Saxon goddess of love, or Venus of the North. It is now observed by the Christian church as a festival in commemoration of our Savior's resurrection, and answers to the Passover of the Hebrews.

FRUIT TREES.—We invite the particular attention of farmers and others to the sale of Fruit Trees which will commence at Taylor & Cremer's Nurseries in this place on Friday next.—See advertisement.

VARIETY ENVELOPES, containing a fine assortment of commercial and fancy note paper, letter and note envelopes, steel pens, etc., at wholesale prices, for 25 cents. Prepared and for sale at Lewis' Book, Stationery and Music Store.

REMOVAL.—The Journal & American printing office has been removed to the business part of the town, a few doors west of The Globe office.

A NEW STYLE OF NOTE PAPER AND ENVELOPES—"red, white and blue"—for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

SOMETHING NEW AND GOOD.—Just received at Lewis' Book Store, a new article of writing fluid. It costs but a trifle more and is much superior to any writing inks.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

CASSVILLE, March 5, 1861.
FRIEND LEWIS.—I seat myself once more to fulfill my promise of "more anon." There is nothing, however, of much importance to chronicle. The humane citizens of Cassville and vicinity held a meeting in the "Old School House" on Tuesday evening last, to raise means to aid the sufferers in Kansas; but there not being a full turnout the meeting was postponed to meet on Friday evening last. They met on that evening again, and were called to order by the appointment of A. W. Evans, Esq., as President. Dr. L. Brown was then chosen Secretary. A very eloquent address was delivered by Rev. J. A. Coleman, in behalf of the sufferers in Kansas. A committee of seven was appointed, and authorized to collect money to be forwarded to John W. Forney, of Philadelphia, for transmission to Kansas. The secession excitement here is gradually dying away.

The schools in this township have all closed. The borough school closes this week.

We have been enjoying very fine weather here for the last week or so. The two last days have been cold and blustery with some snow. To-night is pretty cold.

What anything of any importance transpires in this "neck o' timber," I will let you know.

NOTICE.

Mr. Buchanan at Home.

LANCASTER, March 6.—Mr. Buchanan was received here this afternoon by a large concourse of his fellow-citizens.

The civil and military procession was several squares in length. The arrival of the special train was greeted with a national salute of thirty-four guns and the ringing of bells.

Mr. Buchanan is accompanied by Miss Harriet Lane and Miss Hetty Parker.

The procession was composed of the Mayor and City Councils, the firemen,

Fencibles and Jackson Rifles, and large delegations from the country. It halted at Centre Square, where Mr. Preston, on behalf of the Baltimore City Guards, made a neat speech, handing Mr. Buchanan over to Mayor Sanderson.

MR. BUCHANAN'S REPLY TO THE MAYOR.

Mr. Buchanan replied substantially as follows:

My old neighbors, friends and fellow-citizens—I have not language to express the feelings which swell in my heart on this occasion; I do most cordially thank you for this demonstration of your personal kindness to an old man who comes back to you, long to lay his bones at rest with your fathers. And here let me say, that having visited almost every climate under the sun, my heart has ever turned to Lancaster as the spot where I would wish to live and die, and be buried.

When yet a young man, in far remote

U.S.A., my heart was still with your fathers—my friends and neighbors in good old Lancaster. (Applause.)

And although I have always been true to you, I have not been half so true to you as you have been to me. Your fathers took me up when a young man, and fostered and cherished me through many long years. All those have passed away, and I stand before you to-day as a man living in a second generation. (A voice—“I saw you mount your horse when you marched to Baltimore, in 1812.”) I feel with all my heart, though in the midst of posterity, that these sons are manifesting the same kindness which their fathers would have done, had they lived to this day. Generations of mortal men rise and sink and are forgotten, but the kindness of the past generation to me, now conspicuous in their sons, can never be forgotten.

I come home, fellow-citizens, to pass the remainder of my days among you, as a good citizen, a faithful friend, and a benefactor of the widows and fatherless. (Loud applause.) All political aspirations have departed. All that I have done during a somewhat protracted public life, has passed into history, and if I have done ought to offend a single citizen I now sincerely ask his pardon.

May God grant that this Union and Constitution may be perpetual. (Applause.)

I close by repeating the sentiment dear to my heart. God grant that the Constitution and the Union may be perpetual, and continue a shield of protection to ourselves and our children forever.

Mr. Buchanan retired amid enthusiastic applause. He then resumed his place in the carriage, and was escorted to Wheatland.

ARRIVALS IN NEW YORK IN 1860.—

The annual report of the Metropolitan police gives the following items:

“Actors arrested during the year 1860, 58; artists 201; alderman 1 only; bar-tenders 111; clerks 1,491; custom house officers 9; deputy sheriffs 6; editors 5 (bad men); hotel keepers 641 (awful); prostitutes 4,473; priests 3; proof-readers 2 (little better than priests); reporters 11 (fair); servants 3,659; lawyers 80 (more than all the editors, proofreaders, reporters, and printers combined); telegraph operators 5 (exactly as bad as editors); volunteers 4. The total number of all sorts and conditions of people arrested by the police during the year was 65,809, of which over fifty thousand were under forty years of age, and twenty thousand of them females. Out of the 65,809, nearly fifty-five thousand were arrested for crimes against the person, and only ten thousand for crimes against property. Of the former, the complaints enumerate the following: Murder 57, bastardy 190, abandoned 306, rape 30, attempt at rape 24, indecent exposure of the person 103, rescuing prisoners 54, abduction 6, seduction 14, personating policemen 6, assault and battery 9,879, intoxication and disorderly conduct 36,947. Thus you see that liquor caused nearly three-fourths of all the arrests that were made in this modern Babylon during the year last past.”

German and English Almanacs for 1861, only 3 cents, for sale at Lewis' Book Store.
