The Star-Spangled Banner.

t and stripes and bright stars through the perilous nt, e ramparts we watch'd, were so gallantly stream ing!
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there
Oh! say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foes haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fittilly blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam;
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream—
'Tis the star-spangled banner! the long may it can 'Tis the star-spangled banner! Oh, long may it wave, O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoe of war, and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wash'd out their foul footsep's poll
No refuge could save the hireling and slave, Their blood has mean down and slave, or effige could save the bireling and slave, com the terror of dight or the gloom the grare! And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave, O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!
