

Semi-Weekly Globe.

WAL LEWIS, Editor and Proprietor. A. TYHURST, Associate Editor.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 4, 1862.

Our Flag Forever.

NOTICE.

We have not the time nor the inclination, to run personally, a large number of persons who have unsettled accounts upon our books of several years standing.

NEW TERMS.

All Original Court printing, including Administrators and Executors Notices, all Auctioneers Notices, occasional advertisements, etc., must hereafter be paid for in advance.

Just now we hear curious talk and find from all parties, not at all complimentary of the late Secretary of War, Gen. Cameron.

As the price of the Globe remains as usual, we are glad to hear of it, as we should be sorry to see that reduced in these war times.

As the price of the Globe remains as usual, we are glad to hear of it, as we should be sorry to see that reduced in these war times.

As the price of the Globe remains as usual, we are glad to hear of it, as we should be sorry to see that reduced in these war times.

COUNTERFEIT DETECTORS, for sale regularly, at Lewis' Book Store.

WE LIVE in a strange world, or at least, the people who inhabit it are strange. Almost every man entertains opinions different from those of his neighbor, so that there are as many different opinions as there are people.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

It is said that during the recent illness of Gen. McClellan, when his friends thought him in a somewhat dangerous condition, one of them urged upon him the propriety of confiding whatever military plans he had in his mind to some competent and trustworthy person.

THE GREAT VICTORY IN KENTUCKY. A VISIT TO THE BATTLE FIELD. Thrilling Scenes and Incidents.

Having seen many accounts of the battle of Webb's Cross Roads (variously called the battle of Fishing Creek, Old Fields, Somerset and Mill Spring), it would seem unnecessary to chronicle anything further relative to it.

During two weeks prior to the engagement, I was at Somerset, attending to some business matters for the Twelfth Kentucky Regiment.

Early on Sunday morning, Jan. 19th, we heard the roar of cannon beyond Fishing Creek, which betokened a battle between two armies.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

THE GREAT VICTORY IN KENTUCKY.

A VISIT TO THE BATTLE FIELD.

Thrilling Scenes and Incidents.

Having seen many accounts of the battle of Webb's Cross Roads (variously called the battle of Fishing Creek, Old Fields, Somerset and Mill Spring), it would seem unnecessary to chronicle anything further relative to it.

During two weeks prior to the engagement, I was at Somerset, attending to some business matters for the Twelfth Kentucky Regiment.

Early on Sunday morning, Jan. 19th, we heard the roar of cannon beyond Fishing Creek, which betokened a battle between two armies.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

While calculating my chances in one of the most recent cases I ever saw, a gentleman upon a powerful strong-limbed horse rode up and gave it as his opinion that the creek could be bridged.

ing to Mill Spring, in a south or south-westerly direction. I entered the woods on the east side of this road.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

to look upon once in his life time in order to occupy all his power of reflection. Following the wake of our victorious and pursuing army, the road, the adjoining fields and woods, were strewn with blankets, knapsacks, hats, cracker boxes, broken wagons, &c., &c., as perfect a scene of destruction as can well be imagined.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

While the line was halted for the skirmish to ensue in the woods, I had an opportunity of conversing with Col. Fry, of the Kentucky 4th, relative to the death of Zollicoffer.

would be likely to judge "fit for treason, stratagem and spoils." I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

I have only noted such items as came under my own observation, and comparatively only a few of them.

Our Army Correspondence.

CAMP CALIFORNIA, VA., Jan. 29, '62.

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."

DEAR GLOBE:—"Fall in for drill!" was the common and well known sentence amongst the men of the 53d regiment, P. V., until a few weeks since it was changed to "stay in your quarters or you will swamp."