WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—By the President of the United States of America. A PROCLAMATION. The year that is drawing to its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constant ly enjoyed that we are prone to for-get the source from which they come, others have been added which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften even the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever watchful provi-dence of Almighty God. In the midst of a civil war of unequalled magnitude and severity, which has some times to invite and provoke the ag-gressions of foreign States, peace has een preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere except in the theatre of military conflict. While that theatre has been greatly contract. ed by the advancing armies and navies of the Union The needful diversions of wealth and strength, from the fields of peaceful industry, to the national lefence, have not arrested the plow the shuttle, or the ship. The axe has enlarged the borders of our settlements and the mines, as well of iron and coal as the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than hereto fore. The population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege and the battlefield, and the country, rejoicing in the conscientiousness of augmented strength and vigor, is
