

The Globe. HUNTINGDON, PA. Wednesday morning, Dec. 23, 1863. W. Lewis, Editor and Proprietor.

Our Flag Forever. I know of no state in which a loyal citizen may so well demonstrate his devotion to his country as by sustaining the flag of the Constitution and the Union, under all circumstances, and under every administration...

Gen. Butler and the Exchange of Prisoners.

Accounts from Washington state that the whole subject of the exchange of prisoners has been placed in the hands of Major General Butler, and that he expects to resume the exchange, man for man, until the fifteen thousand Union soldiers now held in captivity are given up.

We hope that no delay will occur in the resumption of exchanges, and that every man now confined in the Libby or on Belle Island will soon be free, and his own country will be glad to receive him.

An Amendment to the Draft Law is now before Congress, which repeals the $500 condemnation clause, and consolidates the two classes provided for in the 3d section of the original act.

Gen. Buford died in Washington, Wednesday, of typhoid fever, contracted while in camp, and was, before his severe illness, in the prime of health and manhood.

Re-Capture of the Chesapeake. The steamer Chesapeake, taken possession of by rebel pirates some two weeks ago, was recaptured by a U. S. steamer, twenty miles from Halifax, on the 17th.

Rebel Finances and Prospects. Mr. Meminger, the Rebel Secretary of the Treasury, in a report just published, states that over eight hundred millions of Confederate money is in circulation.

The Richmond Prisoners. We are permitted to publish the following letter: Office Commissioner of Exchange, Fort Monroe, Va., Dec. 16, 1863.

The Ohio Election.—The official returns for Governor including the home vote and the soldier's vote, have at length been published as follows: Home. Soldiers' Total. J. Brough 247,194 41,180 288,374

Majorities 61,920 39,962 100,882 The Clerk of one of the Democratic counties (Brown) did not return the soldiers' vote for that county, otherwise Brough's official majority would have been 101,002.

Congress. Washington, Dec. 17, 1863. Unconditional Resolutions.

HOUSE.—Mr. Smith, of Kentucky, submitted a series of resolutions, of which the following was the first in order: Resolved, That as our country and the very existence of the best Government ever instituted by man is imperilled by the most immoral, causing, and wicked rebellion...

QUANTRELL.

Quantrell has been in Texas for four weeks. His command of four hundred men was distributed in detachments, in various counties, in the northwestern part of Texas. Their business seems to be to act as spies on the people, hold the country in subjection, arrest deserters, kill suspected Union men, and plunder indiscriminately.

The Union sentiment in the State is strong, and would be expressed in immediate political action if the people could be protected by the Union army. Four or five thousand young men are hidden in the brush awaiting the approach of the Federal forces to join them.

BOZON, Dec. 19.—The New Orleans correspondent of the Traveller, under date of the 10th inst., says: Gen. Washburn holds the coast of Texas from the Rio Grande to within one hundred miles of Galveston.

FROM CHARLESTON. The Bombardment of the City. Fort Sumter during the Effect of Greek Fire.

Fortress Monroe, Dec. 16. The flag of truce from New York arrived here to night. The Richmond papers contain the following dispatches: Dec. 11.—Twelve shots were thrown into the city last night, at intervals of three hours. The damage was trifling.

LATEST NEWS.

FROM EAST TENNESSEE. CINCINNATI, Dec. 21.—Gen. Grant arrived at Nashville on Saturday. A special despatch to the Commercial, dated Cumberland Gap, the 18th inst., says: "General Longstreet divided his army on Monday, the 14th inst., making an attack on Bean's Station, and the other at Kelly's Ford, the design being to cut off the forces of General Schofield and Foster; but the movement of General Ferrier frustrated the plan of the enemy."

General Longstreet divided his army on Monday, the 14th inst., making an attack on Bean's Station, and the other at Kelly's Ford, the design being to cut off the forces of General Schofield and Foster; but the movement of General Ferrier frustrated the plan of the enemy.

It was near sundown when Gen. T. J. Wood, who had been ordered to meet the three days' battle marked him one of the ablest leaders of the national army, rode along the lines of his superb division. Loud shouts of enthusiasm everywhere greeted his appearance, until at last his feelings, no longer controllable, broke out in a longer outburst.

"Brave men!" said he, "you were ordered to go forward and take the rebel rifle pits at the foot of these hills; you did so and then, by the Eternal without you pushed forward and took all the enemy's works on top! Here is a fine chance for having you all court-martialed and I myself will appear as the principle witness against you, unless you promise me one thing."

"What is it?" "What is it?" laughingly inquired his men. "It is," resumed the General, "that as you are now in possession of these works, you will continue against all opposition of Bragg, Johnston, Jeff. Davis and the Devil, steadfastly to hold them!"

At the conclusion of this speech the enthusiasm of the soldiers knew no bounds. They left the ranks and crowded around their general. "We promise! we promise!" they cried. And amid such exclamations as "O for corn we will hold them!" "I of any one try to take them from us!" "Bully for you!" "Three cheers for old Wood," the gallant officer rode off the field.
