New Volume. This number is the last of the 19th Volume of this paper. With the prompt and efficient aid of an intelligent people, and for the earnestness with which they support the cause we have chosen, we have no hesitation in issuing another Volume, and link ourselves with the great question soon to be settled and fought with it to the end.

Death of Sergeant Jas. Cunningham. It is again with feelings of profound regret we record the death of another Huntingdon county soldier—Sergeant JAMES CUNNINGHAM, Co. B 49th Regt. P. V. This patriot was one of the first to respond to the call of the country for help against its foes; the first term of three months expiring he returned to his home, to find his country in greater peril, and then enlisted for three years in the 49th Regt. and went immediately to the front. With this regiment the deceased has been closely attached in its every engagement, and shared with its members their sufferings and privations. He also participated in the late battles in Virginia, in which his chief regimental commanders, among whom was the lamented Col. Miles of this place, were killed. He was spared by Providence to see those engagements ended, and to witness the success and triumph of our arms, until, on the 7th inst., he was shot by a sharpshooter while climbing over a rifle pit. His parents have lost an affectionate and dutiful son, his friends at home a generous companion, and his comrades in arms, a faithful friend and self denying and dutiful co-patriot and soldier. May the ravages of desolating war never desecrate this resting place good soldier, nor the example of thy good deeds ever be lost for imitation.

Returns of the Reserves. Once more the gallant heroes of Co. G, of the Fifth Reserves are in our midst, and receiving the hearty congratulations of warm friends and beloved kindred in appreciation of their services rendered in behalf of our country and its great interests. They have come fresh from the bloody battle fields of Virginia and out of the midst of trial, peril and suffering, and have returned to their homes and native land into the midst of peace, plenty and prosperity. Wishing to take the inhabitants of this place by surprise and compel us to an unconditional surrender of thanks and welcomes, a detachment arrived here in the Thursday morning train and the remaining part of this company came in the evening, so that the voice of welcome continued not only during the day but through the evening. It was truly a patriotic sight to see those veterans who after having escaped all the dangers of a soldier's life, returning with weather beaten and war worn countenances to our number again. All were cheerful, the scenes of horror and bloodshed that they have continuously witnessed having produced no depression in their buoyant spirits, and all were as pleased to meet their former associates and friends as they were anxious three years ago to go forth and battle for their Nation's rights.

They all have confidence in the ability and integrity of their late leader—General Grant, and though they have seen more vigorous service since, his instatement that they ever did under any other General, yet they have faith in his spirit of determination and think it will soon end in the termination of the rebellion.

While we see and congratulate those who have returned, we should not forget those who left our number to fight with them, but who, from the ravages of disease or the shock of battle, have been stricken down in their manhood to fill an honorable grave. Their names should ever be remembered, and we should always be ready to extol their deeds of valor and the willingness and cheerfulness with which they bowed their head on the altar of sacrifice as a ransom for their country.

Summer Resort. The popular summer resort, the Broad Top Mountain House, at Broad Top City, has been opened by Chas. M. Allmond & Co., of Philadelphia. The house will be kept in the best style, and visitors cannot fail to enjoy themselves well. Capt. L. B. Negley, we understand, will superintend the house, and this fact will be sufficient to satisfy any person acquainted with the Captain, that visitors will be made comfortable. See advertisement in another column.

The Festival. The ladies who had charge of the Tea Cream and Strawberry Festival, held for the benefit of the Soldiers, report the entire receipts to be $152.95. Deducting expenses, which were $22, 95—$130 remained—$50 of which has been forwarded to the Restaurant Department of the Great Central Fair, Philadelphia, and the remaining $80 to the Christian Commission.

They desire to thank the citizens generally for their very liberal contributions and patronage, and Mr. Summers for the use of his house and grounds, and hope the result is as satisfactory to the public, as it is gratifying to themselves.

Honor the Brave. We suggest a general picnic on the 4th, in honor of the Reserves and other braves. Every family to provide something—bring hams, bread, butter, pies, cakes, etc., etc. Let the Court House yard or other ground near town be selected—a committee appointed to prepare and superintend—the Reserves and soldiers in service and discharged veterans to be specially invited. We hope our citizens will at once move towards making the necessary arrangements for a grand picnic on the 4th.

Another Brave Soldier Gone. On Monday we received a telegram from the Chaplain of Seminary Hospital, at Alexandria, Va., that JOHN B. McILROY, of Jackson township, number of the 45th Regt. P. V. in General Burnside's corps, wounded on the 3d of this month, was dead, and his body would be embalmed and sent home—Mr. McIlroy was one of the best citizens of the township, a truly loyal man, and felt it his duty to volunteer. He leaves a wife and many relatives and friends to mourn his death.

Robert Goodman Dead. This brave soldier, son of Mr. Daniel Goodman, member of 13th Pa Cavalry, died at Columbus, Ga., in March last. He was taken prisoner last fall and remained in Libby prison until spring when he with others were removed to Columbus. He was a member of Capt. Harry Gregg's company, and was taken prisoner at the same time the Captain was.

The Draft on the 25th. We call attention of all interested to advertisement of Provost Marshal Lloyd in another column.

Army Letters. We have received three or four from our "boys" since our last issue, but they have been so long on the way that the news they contained would be old news if we published them. We have therefore concluded to give the papers they would occupy to other matter, hoping our soldier friends will write us again.

One of the letters is from our young friend T. H. McFarland, announcing to us the death of Sgt. J. D. Cunningham. He was shot just above the left eye on the morning of the 7th just as his companions were sitting down to breakfast, and died instantly. His remains were taken to the rear and buried, and his grave marked.

Another letter is from our friend Sgt. S. W. Gohrett, Co. K. 22d Pa Cavalry, and we are pleased to hear of the good health of Capt. Boring and B. F. Honck, Lt. C. H. Mitchell, privates Aaron L. Cooch and Jas. Nail.

A Handsome Bouquet. Miss KATE B. LOVE of Juniata tp., will please accept our thanks for the handsome bouquet left with us on Thursday last.

Two and one Cent Coins. These coins are being brought and rapidly circulated through this place. The two cent piece is composed principally of copper, is larger and from its thickness of the nickel, and from its appearance it is calculated to recall to the mind the days of guineas and 5 dollar "shiners." At the head of one side of this coin is placed the very appropriate motto—"In God we trust." The one cent coin is of the same circumference but thinner than the old coin. It is also composed principally of copper. The same design is stamped upon this coin as the nickel. Both coins are pretty, and both we trust will tend to reduce exorbitance in price, from the number to be circulated, and also prevent hoarding from their cheapness. We are afraid, however, that hoarding of these coins will not be prevented until they attain the size and weight of a 6-pounder cannon-ball. This of course, would be very inconvenient for the miser as well as the people, but a hoarder would even then, we think, attempt an impossibility.

The 4th of July. Notwithstanding this grand gala day is fast approaching and is so high; nothing as we have heard of is being done to commemorate it,—not even in the way of a Sunday school celebration. This day should be still more held in remembrance when we look at what transpired on that day one year ago. Remember the victories at Vicksburg and Gettysburg and rejoice with more joy and enthusiasm. Something should be done in appreciating the action of our forefathers of '76 and the still later services of the heroes of '83.

We have since learned that the M. E. Sunday School will hold a celebration and picnic at the Cottage on Monday next, the Fourth.

Fatal Accident. George Mattern, a carpenter, living at Tyrone, was run over on bridge No. 12, by the emigrant passenger train on Friday last, and his right leg crushed. The limb was amputated by Dr. Gemmill, but he only survived until 2 o'clock the next morning. He leaves a large family.

IN MEMORIAM. Another of our brave heroes has gone. ABRAHAM L. SMITH, of Co. F, 2nd Regt. P. R. V. Co. 1st Brigade, 3rd Division, 6th Army Corps, was killed May 18th, 1861, in his 23d year. He fought gallantly through several battles, and was instantly killed by a ball at Spotsylvania County House. Three months after his death, we can truly say within ourselves, though hardly so coward's grave. "I was hard to part with this dear friend, and glad would we have been to have looked upon thy noble form in the hour of death to have wiped the dampness from thy gentle brow. Thy noble deeds will be remembered when years have passed away; thy name will be embalmed on the page when its leaves begin to droop and die. We will think of thee though thou rest beneath the southern soil far away from friends that love thee. He was much beloved by all his comrades for his bravery—His time was up in the army the 21st of August, 1864; we would have been made full on his return, but it was God's will to take him away. We trust our loss is his eternal gain. He leaves an indulgent father, loving mother, affectionate brothers and sisters, and a large circle of warm friends to mourn his loss. Rest, soldier, rest, thou hast fought thy last battle. K. E. J.
