conveyancer. New Patton, published by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia.

This work contains 304 pages, and upwards of 500 Rules and Examples, entirely and theroughly practical such as arise every day in the common pursuits of Business. It has already passed through a number of editions in rapid succession, and is pronounced by all classes of business men to be the landlest book of reference, pertaining to calculations, that has ever been published. Every example in the book is worked out in full and stated in a plain manner, so that when a parallel case arises, those referring to the work will find no difficulty in solving it; in a word, the general arrangement of the CALCULATOR is simple, that any one who knows how to add, subtract, multiply and divide, can easily solve any or dinary example that arises in business or arrive at its true result of any estimate required.

The clief aim of the author has been to exclou theory and philosophy in figures, aiming only at facts and simplicity, believing that business me care little about spanding time in discussing the philosophy of rules, or the science of figures, deening it sufficient for their purpose to be able at a moment, by reference, to arrive at the true result. The CALCULATOR differs in this respect from all other Arithmetics of the day and kindred works—It is a key to practical business calculations—it is, in the hands of the business mai, what the key to mathematical works in the hands of the texter in the school resonance.
