LOCAL & PERSONAL.

The Quota of Huntingdon County.

Table listing names and numbers for the quota of Huntingdon County, including Jackson, Barre, Porter and Alex, etc.

Local Scratchings.

14th of February—Saint Valentine's day. 15th of February—Father Abraham's day.

Saw his shadow—The ground bog on Thursday last. Consequence thereof (so it is said) six weeks cold weather.

The East Baltimore M. E. Annual Conference will be held this year at Danville, Pa., commencing the first week in March.

There was a little commotion created here last week by the information that there were indications of oil on the banks of Stone Creek. Divulge the hidden wealth.

Thomas Schell, recently assistant Freight Agent at Lewistown station, has been appointed Agent for the station at Mill Creek.

The Crawford County Bank, robbed some weeks since, has recovered all it lost. The book-keeper of the Bank was the robber and having been arrested, confessed to the act.

Troops have been passing through from the Western Departments, en route for Sherman's and Grant's armies. The indications are that there will be an early and effective Spring campaign, provided peace does not interfere.

Deserters from the army are frequently nabbed by the Provost Guard and sent on their way to their respective regiments. They come principally from the lower portion of the county.

The Clerk of the weather for this Judicial District, reports the weather as belligerent and defiant, fomenting the streams with cruel bonds, and extorting confessions by means of icy thumb screws.

The company of Capt. Johnston, we are pleased to state, has been rapidly filling up. There is still room for more, and we trust the opportunity, (for it is the last before the draft,) will not be let go unimproved.

The members of the company will shortly start for Harrisburg, we are informed to-morrow.

Rev. W. H. Snyder, of McConnellstown, this county, was on Sunday last installed as pastor of the German Reformed congregation of Harrisburg. The exercises were very impressive, and attracted a very large number of spectators.

Patriotic.—We are pleased to note the patriotism of some of the youths of the ancient borough in promptly responding to the country's appeal.—The boys think that the war will not end until they are permitted to take the musket and thus put to shame those of stouter build but less patriotic hearts. The youthful patriot makes the manly soldier.

A skating club has been organized at Hollidaysburg. A tax of one dollar levied upon each member for the purpose of defraying expenses, such as keeping the ice clean, flooding it, at night, providing lights, and other matters. Such a step should be taken by our skaters, so that the highest sport of the season should always be in season, and afford the requisite facilities for our ladies to improve in the advantages concomitant to the pastime.

Huntingdon Ahead.—Though Huntingdon is far behind its neighbors in a few important cases, yet we are pleased to note wherein it surpasses them. In reading our exchanges that interest themselves in relation to the draft, and how to avoid it, we discover that very little interest but great dread is manifested by the people that they represent. The inducements offered in this place to those who desire to volunteer not only surpass those offered by our neighbors, but they are on a par with those professed in the cities. This is a fact that our people should bear in mind, and should be a preventive to those who desire to enlist in the city, and receive its bounty. Another great inducement is that the families of our soldiers are cared for during their absence, while the city authorities have not the time, convenience or inclination to attend to this important consideration.

The bounty offered is $400, and a favorable opportunity is presented of receiving this bounty, by enlisting in the company of Captain William F. Johnston, of this place. There is no time for delay, as the day upon which the draft is most assuredly to come off, is on the 15th of this month.

The Last Chance.

While the day for draft comes on apace, we are surprised that so few of the young men of the county, and especially those liable to draft, avail themselves of the opportunities offered to enlist, and thereby effectually save themselves from the fear of being drafted, and of the still worse position of being drafted. It is needless to cite the difference between a volunteer's and a conscript's position, at least with respect to the pecuniary consideration. The fact that a drafted man receives neither Government or local bounty is well known to every one. We cannot see, therefore, why a man refuses all bounty, and remains in dread of the draft, while he could receive the money, and "save his bacon" (so far as dread is concerned,) by volunteering. We appeal to the common sense of every individual, and entreat each one to consider wherein he loses and wherein he gains. Captain Johnston will continue to receive recruits but for a few days longer, and we advise all who intend to volunteer to call on him at the Court House, without delay.

A New Organization.

The Temperance meeting held in this place, on Thursday evening last, lectured by Revs. McMurray and McClain, and Charles Stratford, Esq., was productive of some good. After the meeting adjourned, several names were received as members of the Good Templars, to be forthwith organized. On Saturday evening last a deputation arrived from Lewistown under Mr. Stratford, and the necessary arrangements were completed for the organization of the new society of "Good Templars." There are about twenty members in the association, comprising ladies and gentlemen, and there are fair prospects for a vast increase in numbers.

We learn that an organization of the same nature has been started at McAlary's Fort, in this county. About twenty members have been initiated, and the society is under full headway.

An Agreeable Surprise.

Some months ago we announced, upon what we considered the best authority that Sergt. Alfred W. Kenyon, of Barre, Co. C, 13th P. V. Cavalry, in front of Petersburg, had been killed by the rebels. We never heard anything to the contrary until last Tuesday morning, when Alf entered our office, looking the very picture of a live soldier. Of course we were rejoiced to see him, and to learn from "documents" in his possession that he was not only alive but had been commissioned by Gov. Curtin as 1st Lieut. of his company. There is no better soldier in the field than Lieut. Kenyon.

"Where Shall I Go?"

As the first of April draws near, the question forces itself upon the many non-property holders: "Where shall I go?" In vain they traverse the streets in search of "To let's"—they are nowhere to be found, and in many instances the tenements they now occupy have increased in rent to such an extent that they cannot afford to remain in them. Then the question of where shall they go, becomes to them one of serious import. All over the country the same state of things seems to exist. The Erie Dispatch says: "As fitting time," the first of April approaches, the question, "where shall we live," is becoming a serious one to those of our citizens who are obliged to rent, and many will have to leave town, being unable to procure house room for love or money. Lucky is the man who has a house of his own."

Eviding the Draft.

As a draft ere long will take place [if the quota is not filled] it will be well for all of those ambitious young men, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, who are living upon the substance of things hoped for—whose assets consist of relatives, credit or generosity—to note the substance of a bill now before the Legislature, which provides that "all persons who may leave their homes or enrollment districts for the purpose of avoiding military service, or who may conceal themselves or refuse to report after having been notified of their being drafted, shall be deprived of their citizenship within the Commonwealth, and shall be incapable of inheriting any estates under the intestate laws of the Commonwealth, or by contract acquiring, possessing or disposing of any real or personal estate within the same."

A Man Seriously Injured.

A man, whose name was ascertained to be Wm. F. Fauster, a stranger to this community, was struck by the engine of the mail train westward on Saturday evening last, while walking or standing on the track near Fisher's warehouse in the centre of railroad street. Shortly after the train had passed he was found in a bleeding condition, and upon examination it was discovered that there was a fearful contusion upon his head. He was immediately taken to the hotel of Mr. Jacobs, where surgeons were summoned to dress his wound. They did so, and the man lingered in his agony until Monday morning, at eleven o'clock. He was properly buried in the Cemetery. It is unknown from whence he came but his name may be the clue by which his acquaintances will reveal his home.

Common Schools.

We learn from the report of the Superintendent of Common Schools of this State for the past year that the whole number of schools in the State, not including the city and county of Philadelphia is 12,556, an increase on the preceding year of 405. The whole attendance of pupils is 637,785, an increase of 3,286. Average attendance, 399,522, an increase of 1,800. Percentage average, 626; the preceding year, 635. Average length of school term, 5 months, 17 days. Average cost of each pupil per month, 58 cents, an increase of 8 cents. Whole number male teachers in 1864, 6,903; in 1863, 7,270. Whole number female teachers, 7,705; in 1863, 7,172. Average salary male teachers per month, $25.42; female teachers, $20.16. Total cost of tuition $1,092,664, an increase of $194,624. Total cost of system, being whole amt. of tax levied and State appropriation, including $23,335 to Philadelphia schools, $2,381,173; an increase of $97,073. The total number of schools, including Philadelphia, is 12,932; and pupils, 709,930. The total cost of the system, including taxes levied, amount paid by Philadelphia, and State appropriation, was $3,218,355. By examination of the foregoing statistics, it will be seen that the State has nobly sustained her benevolent educational system, even amidst the horrors and uncertainties of a desolating civil war.

School Report.

We have received the annual Pennsylvania School Report for the past year, and will publish the report of this county by Mr. McDivitt in full, in next issue. There are many interesting statistics connected with his report that we deem worthy of publication. There are in the county, 182 school houses and 191 schools. The number of male scholars is 4,551, female, 4,202; male teachers, 123, female, 68. Total amount of tax levied for school purposes was $28,692 88; levied for building purposes in four townships, $11,941 41; State appropriated, $2,640 30; received from Collectors of School Tax, unassigned lands and other sources, $25,545 98. Expended for instruction, $20,773 98.

The Broad Top Coal Region.

The U. S. Rail and Mining Journal says: The Broad Top Semi-Bituminous Coal Region, notwithstanding the hindrances consequent from the inability of the Pennsylvania Railroad to furnish power, in time and measure equal to the wants of the Broad Top trade—the trunk road being wholly inadequate to the movement of the traffic offered at its many sources of business supply—in the year 1864 increased its production over the preceding year, 80,966 tons.

The Broad Top coal region was opened to the market in 1856, and, consequently, 1864 was its ninth year of trade; from 42,000 tons of coal in 1826, it increased its production in 1864 to 386,045.

The Cumberland, Maryland, coal region was opened to market in 1812, and in its eleventh year, to wit, 1852, its tonnage was 334,173, being 52,467 tons less than the Broad Top in its ninth year.

This comparison is made, not in disparagement of the Cumberland region, which in 1860, the year before the war, forwarded to market 788,909 tons of coal; but simply to show that the growth of the trade of the Broad Top region has been more rapid than was the trade of its neighbor in Maryland.

The quantity of coal forwarded from the Broad Top region, in all the nine years of its development is herein given:

Table showing coal production from 1856 to 1864: 1856, 286,045 tons; 1857, 305,987; 1858, 105,478; 1859, 234,135; 1860, 73,812; 1861, 272,625; 1862, 42,000; 1863, 187,853.

Fire in Hollidaysburg.

The Exchange Hotel in Hollidaysburg took fire on Thursday morning last, and was burned to the ground. It was one of the principal hotels in that place, the American being the other. Mr. Wingate had been the proprietor for a long time, and the hotel had an excellent reputation. The loss is estimated between $12,000 and $15,000. The fire, it is supposed, originated through carelessness.

Mr. Antz, late of Mount Union.

Mr. Antz, late of Mount Union, this county, was the proprietor of the hotel for a month preceding the fire. Several of our citizens were in the building at the time the fire broke out.

THE BOUNTY TO VETERANS.

HUNTINGDON, Feb. 6th, 1865. DEAR FRIENDS.—Having received several letters, recently, from veteran soldiers who enlisted about one year ago, to the credit of this borough, concerning a local bounty, I take this method of answering, knowing that your paper reaches most of them. In February, 1864, we raised by voluntary subscription, about $9,000 and passed a resolution at a town meeting that we would pay $100 to all who enlisted to the credit of this borough, until our quota should be full, whether veterans or recruits, and at the same time appointed a committee to recruit. We went vigorously to work, and in about one week put in near 30 new recruits, thus filling our quota. A number of veterans enlisted and credited themselves to our borough before this took place and some hearing that we were paying $100 enlisted afterwards, but the only veteran who got his certificate before the quota was filled and the money exhausted, was Sergt. (now Lieut.) John Light, of the 44th Regiment, P. V. After this we received $200 from the Government for recruiting and this we concluded to distribute to the veterans at $20 each as far as it would go, and it has been so paid out.

It is true that this borough has had the benefit of the credits thus given and on the score of merit these enlisted veterans should have had a higher bounty than new recruits, but they will readily understand that the money was raised to avoid the draft, and what that was accomplished it would have been almost impossible to raise the money by subscription to pay for additional enlistments. Several veterans no doubt gave their credit here, because they heard we were paying a bounty of $100, but the failure to get that bounty was owing to the facts I have stated, and not from any inclination to wrong them, and I still hope that when we are a little relieved from the pressure of new levies and heavy bounties we will pay a tax and pay our veterans to the last cent. I am sure there is no class of citizens that deserve better of their country than those who have stood up for us through all these long years of strife, and when this war is successfully ended, as I trust it soon will be, they will have a record of which they may well be proud.

DIED.

Near Eagle Foundry, Trough Creek Valley, Huntingdon county, on January 26th, 1865, Henry MILLER, aged 83 years and 5 days.

The deceased was born in Washington county, Md., where he resided until married, when he and his wife removed to Broad Top, where he resided until the making of the Broad Top Railroad. They being old and not wishing to be annoyed with the cares of the world, removed to Trough Creek, and in the fall his wife, CATHARINE MILLER, departed this life. Both were known and respected by a large community, and we are pleased to know they lived to love and serve their God, and now they sleep side by side in the grave yard, near the old church in Trough Creek Valley. A large connection is left to mourn their death, but the loss to the community is a gain to the deceased, for we are well convinced that their spirits have joined the Heavenly choir and are now praising God in a better world.

In Search of her Parents.

A few days since a letter was received in this City, by the Postmaster, from Monmouth, Warren county, Illinois, enclosing the photograph of a young, sturdy, good looking country lass. In connection with that lass is a tale that is true, but strange. Years ago, a boatman on the Pennsylvania Canal lived at Newton Hamilton with his wife. He visited this city frequently on business tours, and by economy and hard work became the possessor of a little lot of ground, a house, and a large canal boat, which constantly plied between this city and his home on the Juniata. About twenty years ago, he went home from Philadelphia, sold his lot and went to Illinois. He settled about ten miles from the Mississippi river, and soon became a provident and wealthy farmer. With him was a young girl about twenty years old, whom he raised and educated. This girl is the original of the photograph referred to, and she is not the daughter of the couple with whom she resides. From conversation which she had overheard between her reputed parents, she had found out that they were not her father and mother, and that she is so related to them, or if so, not in the near kinship which they claim. She has often desired to return to Philadelphia, in the hope of ascertaining her parents, but her pretended father has opposed her plans with bitter vehemence. She must have been stolen when a child of two years, and is now a good-looking, healthy woman of twenty-two unmarried and intelligent, a fit subject for a romance. Her hair is curly, and her eyes of a deep nut brown. Her parents may be living, and the memory of the happy days of the daughter's infancy may be recalled by this paragraph. We hope it will be circulated and commented on by our readers, that if the true parents of the girl are living, it may restore their daughter to them. The photograph is now on exhibition in a store window in Chestnut street—Philadelphia Age.

THE LUNGS.

The cold and changeable weather tells terribly on those who have weak and diseased lungs. Many are suffering at this time with affections of the throat and lungs. Bronchitis is becoming a very common affliction. Those who are predisposed to Colds, Coughs, Bronchitis, &c., should avoid the night air. There are many preparations recommended for these diseases, but there is not a doubt but that Dr. Strickland's Mellowing Cough Balsam is the best remedy. We have known it to effect cures in the worst cases of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, and primary cases of Consumption.

IT is, therefore, the duty of the holder

The holder, with a few days' delay, can have the money redeemed by the Treasury, as above stated.
