9. 1. Africa 341 Malmut st.

NO. 47

dministrators' and Executors' Notices,

late a square in manuscript.
sements not marked with the number of insered, will be continued till forbid and charged acthese tarms to these terms.
vices for the printing of Blanks, Handbills, etc.
increased.

IN MEMORIAM.

There's a burden of grief on the breezes of spring, And a song of regret from the bird on its wing; There's a pall on the supaline and over the flowers, And a standow of graves on these spirits of ours; For a star hath gone out from the night of our sky, On whose brightness we gazed as the war-cloud roll So tranquil and steady and clear were its beams, That they fell like a vision of peace on our dreams.

"A heart that we knew had been true to our weal. And a hand that was steadily guiding the wheel;
A name never tarnished by falsehood or wrong,
That had dwelt in our hearts like a soul-stirring song Ahl that pure, noble spirit has gone to its rest,
And the true hand lies nerveless and cold on his breast But the name and the memory-these never will die. But grow brighter and dearer as ages go by.

Yet the tears of a nation fall over the dead, Such tears as a nation before never shed, For our cheffshed one fell by a dastardly hand, A martyr to truth and the cause of the land; And a sorrow has surged, like the wares to the shore When the breath of the tempest is sweeping them o'er And the heads of the lofty and lowly have bowed, As the shaft of the lightning sped cut from the cloud.

Not gathered, like Washington, home to his rest, When the sun of his life was far down in the West; But stricken from earth in the midst of his years, With the Canaan in view, of his prayers and his tear.
And the people, whose hearts in the wilderness failed, Sometimes, when the stars of their promise had paled, Now, stand by his side on the mount of his fame, And yield him their hearts in a grateful acclaim.

Yet there on the mountain, our Leader must die, With the fair land of promise spread out to his eye; His work is accomplished, and what he has done Will stand as a monument under the sun; And his name, reaching down through the ages of time Will still through the years of eternity shine— Like a star, sailing on through the depths of the blue, On whose brightness we gaze every evening anow.

His white tent is pitched on the beautiful plain, Where the tumult of battle comes never again, Where the smoke of the war-cloud ne'er darkens the Nor falls on the spirit a shadow of care. The songs of the ransomed enrapture his ear,

And he heeds not the dirges that roll for him here; In the calm of his spirit, so strange and sublime

Then bear him home gently, great son of the West— 'Mid her fair blooming prairies lay Lincoln to rest; From the nation who loved him, she takes to her trust, And will tenderly garner the consecrate dust,

A Mecca his grave to the people shall be,

And a shrine evermore for the hearts of the free.

THE BIRDS.

The Warbles of the Year-When they come-What they Do-The Order of Succession.

In the Atlantic Monthly for May is an article entitled "With the Birds," nect April and June, the root with the from which we make the following the flower.

The Robins.

In that free, fascinating, half-work are satisfied, there is no more to be and half-play pursuit—sugar-making, desired. The perfection of the season, a pursuit which still lingers in many among other things, has brought the ground bare, you may meet him at all the Robin and Song Sparrow are fulpoints and hear him at all hours. At ly justified. The Thrushes have all sunset, on the tops of the tall maples, come; and I sit down upon the first with look heavenward, and in a spirit of utter abandonment, he carols his simple-strain. And sitting thus does not arrive till June, and often wet. cold earth, with the chill of win- Tanager delay their coming till then. sweeter songster in the whole round his glory; in high pastures the Fieldyear. It is in keeping with the scene and the occasion. How round and and the whole woods are unfolding to genuine the notes are, and how eager- the music of the Thrushes. ly our ears drink them in! The first ntterance, and the spell of winter is is one of the most selitary birds of thoroughly broken and the remembrance of it afar off.

Robin is one of the most native and democratic of our birds; he is one of an exile from some other sphere, the family, and seems much nearer to and are his loneliness and indifference us than those rare, exetic visitants, as the result of a hopeless, yet resigned the Orchard Starling or Rose Breasted Grosbeak, with their distant, high bread ways. Hardy, noisy, frolicsome, neighborly and domestic in his ways, dering him dreamy and semi-conscious? strong of wing and bold in spirit, he is the pioneer of the Thrush family, and | ing on his mind. He deposits his eggs well worthy of the finer artists whose in the nests of other birds, having no coming he heralds and in a measure heart for work or domestic care. His prepares for us.

I could wish Robin less native and ing, and the farmer says is prophetic plebeian in one respect—the building of rain. Amid the general joy and of it! Such magnificent copiousness! of his nest. Its coarse material and the sweet assurance of things, I loved Such long, trilling, deferring, accelerarough masonry are creditable neither to listen to this strange clairvoyant ting preludes! Such sudden, ecstatic to his skill as a workman nor to his call. Heard a quarter of a mile taste as an artist. I am the more for away, coming up from the dark bosom cibly reminded of his deficency in this of the forest or out from the somber respect from observing yonder Hum. recesses of the mountain, like the ming Bird's nest, which is a marvel of voice of a muezzen calling to prayor fitness and adaption, a proper set in the Oriental twilight, it has a peting for this winged gem, the body of culiar fascination. He wanders from it composed of a white felt-like sub- place to place, stance, probably the down of some plant, or the wool of some worm, and toned down in keeping with the branch on which it sits by minute treelinchens, woven together by discover him in the woods, except threads as fine and frail as gossamer. The Phoebe.

Another April bird, which makes tour of the garden and orchard, regaland sometimes later than Robin, and quite noticeable. Since food of some whose memory I fondly cherish, is the tice her, on some bright morning the utmost matter of course air. At note of the Bluebird, or the faint trill or suspicion. He is quite unsophistiof the Song-Sparrow; and Phobe's cated or else royally indifferent, clear, vivacious assurance of her verit-

WILLIAM LEWIS, Editor and Proprietor.

-PERSEVERE.

TERMS, $2,00 a year in advance.

VOL. XX.

er, and her civil, neighborly ways.

shall make up for all deficencies in song and plumage, and remove any suspicions we have had, that, perhaps,

from some cause or other, she was in some slight disfavor with Nature.

After a few weeks Phoebe is soldom seen, except as she darts from her moss-covered nest beneath some

May Birds.

May is the month of the Swallow and the Orioles. There are many other distinguished arrivals; indeed,

nine-tenths of the birds are here by the last week in May, yet the Swallows and Orioles are the most conspicuous. The bright plumage of the latter seems really like an arrival

from the tropics. I see them flash

through the blossoming trees, and all the forenoon hear their incessant warbling and wooing. The Swallows dive and chatter about the barn, or squeak and build beneath the eaves;

the Partridge drums in the fresh unfolding woods; the long, tender note of the Meadow Lark comes up from the meadow: and at sunset, from overy

marsh and pond come the ten thous and voices of the Hylas. May is the transition month, and exists to con-

June Birds.

The Cuckoo.

quiet, appearing equally untouched

by joy or grief, fear or anger. Is he soul? Or, has he passed through some terrible calamity or bereavement, that has overpowered his sensibilities, ren

Something remote seems ever weigh-

not or call is as of one lost or wander-

"An invisible thing.

A voice, a mystery."

bridge, or shelving cliff.

HUNTINGDON, PA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1865.

is welcomed by all ears. At agreeable intervals in her lay she describes a circle or an ellipse in the air, ostensibly prospecting for insects, but really, I suspect, as an artistic flourish, thrown in to make up in some way for the deficiency of her musical performance. If plainness of dress indicates powers of song, as it usually does, then Phœbe ought to be unrivaled in musical ability, for surely that ashen gray suit is the superlative of plainness: and that form, likewise, though it might pass for the "perfect figure" of a bird, measured by Joe Gargery's standard, to a fastidious taste would present exceptionable points. The Pigeon. seasonableness of her coming, howev-Distribution. .

The distribution of plants in a given locality is not more marked and defined than that of the birds. Show a botanist a land, he will tell you where Columbine, or the Harebell. On the same principles the ornitholigist will ed Warbler, the Wood Sparrow or the Chewink. In adjourning counties in the same latitude, and equally inland, but nossessing a different geological formation and different forest timber, you will observe quite a different forest timber, you will observe quite a different class of birds. In a country of the beech and maple I do not find the same songsters that I know Breasted Flycatcher, the White Eyed less conspicuous. Flycatcher, the Quail and the Turtle-Dove.

The Wood-Thrush.

With June the cup is full, our hearts rock with hands full of the pink Aza- built their nest and reared their brood amid the stark, silent trees, above the the Goldfinch, the Kingbird, the Scarlet ty. But when the guests commenced to arrive and the piazza to be throngter still in the air, there is no fitter or In the meadows the Bobolink is in all cd with gay crowds, I noticed something like dread, and foreboding in the manner of the motherbird; and from Sparrow sings his breezy vesper hymn; her still, quiet ways and babit of sit ting long and silently within a few feet of the precious charge, it seemed our forests, and is strangely tame and possible, to avoid all observation. He is the only songster of my acdisplays different degrees of proficieney in the exercise of his musical gifts. joining a wood, I heard one that so obviously and unmistakingly surpassed all his rivals, that my companion, though slow to notice such things, reaccord we threw ourselves upon the so much as in quantity. Such a flood overtures would have intoxicated the dullest car. He was really without a compeer, a master artist. Twice afterward I was conscious of having heard the same bird. The wood-thrush is the handsomest species of this family. In grace and elegance of manner he has no equal. Such a gentle, bird-bred air, and such inimitable ease and composure in his You will probably hear him a score of times to seeing him once. I rarely very word and deed. His carriage is when on a protracted stay; but when the commonest act, as catching a beetle or picking a worm from the mud, pleases poised and easy, such an entire abin June he makes his gastronomic like a stroke of wit or eloquence. Was sence of haste, such a magnificent amher appearance sometimes earlier and ing himself upon canker-worms, he is he a prince in the olden time, and do the regal grace and mien still adhere kind is a necessity, he seems resolved to him in his transformation? What Phæbe-Bird (Muscicapa nunciola), the to burden himself as little as possible a finely proportioned form! How pioneer of the Flycatchers. In the with the care of obtaining it, and so plain, yet rich in his color,—the bright ly vibrating his pinions, he mounts inland farming districts I used to no devours these creeping horrors with russet of his back, the clear white of and mounts in an ascending spiral till his breast, with the distinct heart sha- he appears a mere speck against the about Easter day, proclaiming her ar. this time he is one of the tamest birds | ped spotel It may be objected to Robin | Summer sky; then, if the mood seizes rival with much variety of motion and in the orchard, and will allow you to that he is noisy and demonstrative; he him, with wings half closed, like a bent ttitude, from the peak of the barn or approach within a few yards of him. hurries away or rises to a branch with bow, he will cleave the air almost perhay shed. As yot, you may have I have even come within a few feet of an angry note, and flirts his wings in pendicularly, as if intent on dashing heard only the plaintive, home-sick one without seeming to excite his fear ill-bred suspicion. The Mavis, or Red himself to pieces against the earth; but Without any exception, his plumage

with in Nature, and is unsurpassed in the Chewink shows his inhospitality sublimest feat of the season. One holds PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESthe qualities both of firmness and fine by espying your movements like a his breath till he sees him rise again. ness. Notwithstanding the despar- Japanese. The Wood-thrush has none Sometimes a squirrel, or bird, or an ity in size and color, he has certain of these underbred traits. He regards unsuspecting barn fowl is scathed and peculiarities that remind one of the me unsuspiciously, or avoids me with withered beneath this terrible visita-Passenger Pigeon. His eye, with its a noble reserve-or, if I am quiet and tion. red circle, the shape of his head, and incurious, graciously hops toward me. tion are beautiful to behold.

What a noble pride he has! Late one October, after his mates and companions had long since gone South, I stirring in his maw. noticed one for several successive days in the dense part of this next-door to look for the Lady's-Slipper, the wood, flitting noiselessly about, very grave and silent, as if doing penance for some violation of the code of honor. direct you where to look for the Hood. By many gentle, indirect approaches, I perceived that part of his tail-feathers were undeveloped. The sylvan prince could not think of returning to court in this plight-and so amid the falling leaves and cold rains of Autumn, was patiently biding his time. The Cat bird.

I hardly know whether I am more pleased or annoyed with the Cat Bird. Perhaps she is a little too common, where thrive the oak, chestnut and and her part in the general chorus a laurel. In going from a district of little too conspicuous. If you are listhe Old Red Sandstone to where I tening for the note of another bird walk upon the old Plutonic Rock, not | she is sure to be prompted to the most fifty miles distant. I miss in the woods loud and protracted singing, drownthe Veery, the Hermit-Thrush, the ing all other sounds; if you sit quietly Chestnut Sided Warbler, the Blue down to observe a favorite or study a Backed Warbler, the Green Backed new comer, her curiosity knows no put forth is so uniform and delicate as Warbler, the Black and Yellow Warb- bounds, and you are scanned and ridler, and many others-and find in iculed from every point of observation. their stead the Wood-Thrush, the Yet I would not miss her; I would Chewink, the Redstart, the Yellow only subordinate her a little, make her

She is the parodist of the woods, and But the crowning glory of all these she were conscious of mimicking and harvest. Other minstrels take up the Robins, Flycatchers and Warblers is disconcerting some envied songster. strain. It is the heyday of insect life. the Wood Thrush. More abundant Ambitious of song, practising and re- The day is canopied with musical than all other birds, except the Robin hearsing in private, she yet seems the sound. and Cat bird, he greets you from ev. least sincere and genuine of the sylvan All the songs of the Spring and Sumparts of New York, as in New Eng- perfection of the song and plumage of ery rock and shrub. Shy and reserv. minstrels, as if she had taken up music land, the Robin is one's boon companion. When the day is sunny and the expectations excited by in May, before the end of June he is tame and familiar, and sings on the In other words, sho seems to sing from tree over your head, or on the rock a some outward motive, and not from infew paces in advance. A pair even ward joyousness. She is a good versifier but not a great poet. Vigorous lea, to listen. With me, the Cuckoo within ten or twelve feet of the piazza rapid, copious, and without fine touchof a large summer house in the vicini. es, but destitute of any high, serene from the north. Silently the proces-Thoreau's squirrel, always implies a Summer Birds.

Till the middle of July there is a general equilibrium; the tide stands poised, the holiday spirit is unabated. But as the harvest ripens beneath the as if the dear creature had resolved, if long, hot days, the melody ceases. The young are out of the nest and must be cared for, and moulting season, is at quaintance, excepting the canary, that hand. After the Cricket has commenced to drone his monotonous refrain beneath your window, you will not, Not long since, while walking one till another season, hear the Wood-Sunday in the edge of an orchard ad. Thrush in all his matchless eloquence. The Bobolink has become careworn and fretful, and blurts out snatches of his song between his scolding and upbraiding, as you approach the vicinity marked it wonderingly; and with one of his nest, oscillating between anxiety for his brood and solicitude for his musical reputation. Some of the Spargrass and drank in the bounteous mel-ody. It was not different in quality rows will sing, and occasionally across bling ourselves before Almighty God, edge of the forest, comes the rich note sanctified to the nationof the Scarlet Tanager. This tropical colored bird loves the hottest weather, colored bird loves the hottest weather, assuaged by communion with the and I hear him more in dog days than at any other time.

as any other time. at any other time.

The remainder of the Summer is the carnival of the Swallows and Flycatch ers. Flics and insects, to any amount are to be had for the catching; and the opportunity is well improved. August is the month of the highsailing Hawks. The Hen Hawk is the most noticeable. He likes the haze flight and movement! He is a poet in and calm of these long, warm days. He is a bird of leisure, and seems almusic to the eye. His performance of ways at his case. How beautiful and majestic are his movements! so selfplitude of circles and spirals, such a haughty, imperial grace, and occasionally such daring aerial evolutions! With slow, leisurely movement, rarean angry note, and flirts his wings in ill-bred suspicion. The Mavis, or Red Thrush, sneaks and skulks like a culprit hiding in the highest alders; the Cat-bird is a coquette and a flirt, as well as a sort of female Paul Pry; and well as a sort of female Paul Pry; and and sails leisurely away. It is the strikes inly.

The Mavis, or Red her from the Mustander of Sec'y of State. Hunter, Acting Sec'y of State. This brutal, disgusting act; this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose. "My daughter, this disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose the disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose the disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose the disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose the disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose the disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose the disconnected in them. He died last penceful repose the disconnec able bodily presence among us again is the richest brown I am acquainted well as a sort of temale Paul Pry; and and sails leisurely away. It is the strikes inly.

If inclined to a more gradual and his motions on alighting and taking as if to pay his respects, or to make less precipitous descent, he fixes his flight, quickly suggest the resem- my acquaintance. Pass near his nest, eye on some distant point in the blance; though in grace and under the very branch, within a few earth beneath him and thither bends speed, when on the wing, he is far feet of his mate and brood and he his course. He is still almost meteorinferior. His tail seems dispropor- opens not his beak; he concedes you ic in his speed and boldness. You see tionately long, like that of the Red the right to pass there, if it lies in your his path down the heavens, straight as Thrush, and his flight among the trees | course; but pause an instant, raise | a line; if near, you hear the rush of his is very still, contrasting strongly with your hand toward the defenceless wings; his shadow hurtles across the the honest clatter of the Robin or household, and his anger and indigna- fields, and in an instant you see him quietly perched upon some low tree or decayed stub in a swamp or meadow, with reminiscenes of frogs and mice

When the South wind blows, it is a study to see three or four of those air kings at the head of the valley far up toward the mountain, balancing and oscillating upon the strong current; now quite stationary, except a slight tremulous motion like the poise of a rope-dancer, then rising and fallen in or, sailing high and level far above the haste, but, as stated, occasionally a their crimes.

And he further proclaims and de at him as he sails overhead, and, unless wounded badly, he will not change his course or gait.

His flight is a perfect picture of renose in motion. He might sleep or dream in that level, effortless, aimless sail. It strikes the eye as more surprising than the flight of the Pigeon and Swallow even, in that the effort to escane observation, giving to the movement an air of buoyancy and porpetuity, the effluence of power rather than the conscious application of it.

Autumn Birds. But Summér wanes, and Autumn there is ever a mischievous, bantering, approaches. The songsters of the seedhalf ironical undertone in her lay, as if times are silent at the reaping of the their faces southward. The Swallows es, Warblers, Sparrows and Kinglets peacefully away till he is lost in the horizon is a symbol of the closing season and the departing birds!

Proclamation by the President. Thursday, June 1st, Appointed a Day of Mourning and Prayer. WASHINGTON, April 24.-By the President of the United States of Amer-

Whereas, By my direction, the Acting Secretary of State, in a notice to the public, of the 17th, requested the various religious denominations to assemble on the 19th inst., on the occasion of the obsequies of Abraham Lincoln, late President of the United States, and to observe the same with appropriate ceremonies; but

Whereas, Our country has become one great house of mourning, where the head of the family has been taken away, and believing that a special perithe hot fields, from a tall tree in the in order that the bereavement may be

Now, therefore, in order to mitigate that grief on earth which can only be resentatives in Congress, communicated to me by resolutions adopted at the national capital,

I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby appoint Thursday, the 1st day of June next, to be observed (wherever in the United States the flag of the country may be respected) as a day of humiliation and mourning. And I recommend my fellow-citizens then to assemble in their respective places of worship, there to unite in solemn service to Almighty God in memory of the good man who bas been removed, so that all shall be occupied at the same time in contemplation of his virtue, and in sorrow for In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington the 24th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the independence of the United States of Amerca the eighty-ninth. It. s.] Andrew Johnson.

By the President:
W. Hunter, Acting Sec'y of State.

IDENT. Vigorous Operations Ordered Against Rebel Pirates.

Neutral Nations Warned Against Giv ing them Hospitality.—Rehabilitation of Virginia—The Rebel State Gov ernment Pronounced Dead .- The Authority of the Union and Governor Pierpont to be Respected.

WASHINGTON, May 9 .- President ohnson has issued a proclamation-de claring that

WHEREAS, Armed resistance-to the authority of this Government in certain States heretofore declared to be in insurrection may be regarded as virtually at an end, and the persons by whom that resistance, as well as the pperations of insurgent cruisers were

ing the high seas, and others are pre-paring to capture, burn and destroy offices in their office from feel themrossels of the United States;

The President enjoins all naval, military and civil officers of the United States diligently to endeavor, by all long undulations, and seeming to re. the United States, in order that they sign themselves passively to the wind; may be prevented from committing further depredations on commerce, mountain's peak-no bluster and may no longer enjoy immunity for clares that if after a reasonable time public vessels of such nations in the ports of the United States, and in a dopting such measures as may be the National sovereignty. VIRGINIA.

The President has also issued an exccutive order to re-establish the au-thority of the United States and execute the laws within the geographical ceedings of the political, military and a state of insurrection and rebellion. within the State of Virginia, against John Letcher and William Smith were mer appear to be floating, softened and late the respective chiefs, are declared exorcise any political, military or civil their faces southward. The Swallows flock and go; the Bobolinks flock and go; the Bobolinks flock and go; silently and unobserved, the Thrush es go. Autume arrives, bringing Finch or William Smith and their confederates, or under John Letcher, or William Smith and their confederates. ates, or under any pretended political, military or civil commission or author melody, her performance, like that of sion passes. Yonder Hawk, sailing ity issued by them or of them since the 17th day of April, 1861, shall be deemed and taken as in rebellion against the United States, and shall be dealt with accordingly.

The Secretaries of the State, War Treasury, Navy and the Interior Departments, and the Postmaster sane asylum, teach that daughter a. General, are ordered to proceed to perfect use of her needle, or, better, put in force all the laws of the United States pertaining to their several departments; and the district to proceed to hold courts within the to proceed to hold courts within the said State in accordance with the provisions of the acts of Congress. The Attorney General will instruct the proper officers to libel and bring to judgment, confiscation, and sale, the property subject to confiscation, and enforce the administration of justice. within the said State in all matters civil and criminal within the cognizance of the Feberal courts, to carry into effect the guarantee of the Federal Constitution of a Rebublican form of State Government, and afford the advantage and security of domestic laws, as well as to complete the re-es tablishment of the authority of the laws of the United States, and the full and complete restoration of peace within the limits aforesaid. Francis A. Pierpont, Governor of the State of Virginia, will be aided by the Federal Government, so far as may be necessary, in the lawful measures which he may take for the extension and administration of the State Government throughout the geographical limits of the said State.

Fiendish Vandalism-The Body of Senator Hicks Stolen.

The Centreville (Md.) Citizen of the 3d has the following:

We learn from a gentleman of Den ton, Caroline county, that on Wednesday night last some fiends opened the tomb of ex Governor Hicks, in Dorchester county, and stole his coffin and sheets to get frightened at them." body therefrom, and broke the tombstone to pieces. The body and coffin up with one night by a noble young had not been found at last reports, and specimen of the true American, with it is believed they have been sunk in scissors in his vest pocket-I mean

THE GLOBE JOB PRINTING OFFICE

THE "GLOBE JOB OFFICE" is the most complete of any in the country, and his seases the most complete of any in the country, and sometimes of the most complete executing the best style, every variety of Job Printing, seat as: HAND BILLS, 100 - Silver, signal . W

PROGRAMMES. MES; BLANKS

POSTERS: BILL HEADS.

CARDS

CIRCULARS. BALL TICKETS, LABELS, &C., &C., &C.

CALL AND EXAMINE SPECIMENS OF WORE; T LEWIS' BOOK, STATIONERY & MUSIC STORK

The Placeless "There are fifty applicants for every vacancy, and no more will be received," was placarded on the postoffice door on the inauguration of our new postmaster the other day. In any large city there are a dozen applications, yes, a hundred! within half a day after the publication of any vacancy. On the incoming of a new Governor or a President. the "place" seckers are numbered by hundreds. thousands, and tens of thousands; and sometimes the "outside pressure" is so resistless, that the very highest officers in the Government feel themselves obliged to favor persons who are strangers to them, in preference to men whom they are under special and personal directed, are fugitives or captives;

And whereas, It is understood that ome of these cruisers are still infest. be fully qualified for all the duties of selves compelled to bestow them, on persons whom they know are not the best adapted to the position, as relawful means, to arrest the said cruis-ers, and to bring them into a port of present political influence or for those present political influence, or for those conciliations of opposing parties which seem to them are indispensable to the and that the persons on board of them situation of affairs. Yet opposed to these accepted applicants are men of integrity undoubted, of refinement, of a culture, and of a once social position, which ought to guarantee success, shall have elapsed for this proclamation to become known in the ports of pations claiming to have been neutrals, place" by sickness, by accident, by: place" by sickness, by accident, by the said insurgent craisers, and the persons on board of them, shall continue to receive hospitality in the said port, the Government will deem itself night could provide. Recently a high justified in rofusing hospitality to the name in this community, which five years ago wielded the wand of power in financial circles, was banded in for advisable towards vindicating a "place" of trust and profit. Grayheaded and bald and bent, he craved the "influence" of influential men with hot tears; and after weeks and months of such debasement, and of agonizing suspense, he failed of his object, the limits known as the State of Virginia. poor house looking himself and help-It is ordered that all acts and pro- less family full in the face. Young men and young women, within a week civil organizations which have been in of this writing, have been driven into suicide in New York city, having vainthe authority and laws of the United ly sought 'places,' until on the vergo States, and of which Jefferson Davis, of starvation, and to escape it took the rope and the poison. Why all been instructed in any handicraft. There's truth in Franklin's saying, that the "parent who brings up a son. without a calling, teaches him to be a thief." Let that father then, who wishes to be assured that his son shall not languish in a penitentiary, or perish, on a gallows, give that son a trade. Let the mother who desires to make.

> friendly grave ends the torture. Hall's New York Journal of Health. Couldn't Fool Her. -The Lafayette (Ind.) Courier tells an amusing story of some young ladies and gents of that place who were taking a social walk near the cemetery, when a ghost appeared. They all ran but one sturdy woman of the strong minded class, who stood her ground till the ghost. got to her, when she seized it, thrashed out of his frightened disguise a mischevious fellow, who heard the project of walking about the graveyard discas-sed, and hid himself, there to give the party a fright. She led him back to the house, and in reply to the questions. that poured in upon her, said: "Can't fool me I've seen too many men in it certain that the daughter she so, much loves shall not pine away in meal; how to spread a well appointed; table—to do all these things with thoroughness. Such a young woman.

can never come to want; can never-fail to find a well-paying place in this country. There are a thousand families in New York any day who would consider themselves "fortunate" in having such seamstresses; house girls, nurses, and cooks at twenty per cent. higher wages than generally prevail.

A good mechanic can always find work fo "victuals and clothes," with increasing wages as his fidelity and skill become known, and thus prevent that distressing sadness, that debasing cringing, that eating out all life's gladness, which wither the heart and waste away the health, until the higher wages than generall

some cheerless hospital, ay, some, in-

A handsom young gal was sot the Choptank river.

Governor, afterwards Senator Hicks was the loyal, energetic Governor of Maryland who preserved that State
from the toils of secession conspiracy, when it was in the greatest decrease. heing enveloped in them. He died last neachful research