

Our Flag Forever.

"I know of no mode in which a loyal citizen may so well demonstrate his devotion to his country as by sustaining the Flag, the Constitution and the Union, under all circumstances, and under every administration regardless of party politics, against all assaults, at home and abroad."

Jeff shall hang on a Sour Apple Tree.

We have met with the suggestion in a popular journal that Jeff Davis be hanged on a gibbet made of the wood of a "sour apple tree." This would be a significant and coinciding finale to the career of the traitor Jeff.

The co-operation of the teachers and pupils in the public schools of the United States, is invited to unite in an effort to raise contributions in aid of the "National Lincoln Monument."

THE SOLDIER'S RIGHT ARM.—In more senses than one, the soldier's musket is his right arm, and we are glad to meet the proposition that he be allowed to retain it when he is mustered out.

—The Government authorities still continue the arrests of State prisoners. James A. Seddon, ex-rebel Secretary of War, was arrested on Wednesday at his residence in Henrico county, Virginia, and placed on board the gunboat at Richmond, on which R. M. T. Hunter is confined.

THE KANSAS RAILROAD.—The Kansas City Advertiser of the 14th says the work on this great thoroughfare is being pushed rapidly forward to completion between Independence and Warrensburg.

A Washington dispatch says: The demonstrative indignation of Jeff Davis on being placed on army rations was the cause of his being placed in irons.

Seven white men and one negro were captured in Florida recently. All gave fictitious names, but it is supposed the traitor Breckinridge is one of the number.

The Federal prisoners confined at Taylor, Texas, are allowed to escape in large numbers, the guards saying that when all the prisoners are gone they will have nothing to do, and can go home.

The ordnance depot at Mobile exploded on the 28th, and resulted in destroying eight squares of buildings, and five hundred persons were buried in the ruins.

Mrs. Boverly Tucker and daughter were arrested at Baltimore on the morning of the 26th. They were sent back to Richmond.

That "Sour Apple Tree."

He was a wise man who said he cared not who made the laws of a people if he made their songs. By the national songs of a people and the patriotic feelings they inspire, a fair estimate may be made of their virtue and love of country.

The Union forever, hurrah, boys, hurrah! Down with the traitors, and up with the stars, as a million voices took up the immortal refrain and as many hearts swore eternal fidelity to its stately folds.

Jeff Davis and his Companions Transferred and Imprisoned in Fortress Monroe.

Fortress Monroe, May 23.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon the steamer S.W. Pierce left the Baltimore wharf at this place, with Brevet Major Gen. Miles, accompanied by other officers of prominence, and proceeded immediately to the steamer Wm. P. Clyde, lying at anchor in the stream, with Jefferson Davis and the remainder of the rebel party on board.

The harbor, which usually is crowded with all kinds and classes of vessels, to-day looked almost deserted. Scarcely a dozen of sail or vessels could be counted, and even they seemed dull and listless.

Colonel Roberts, commander of the Fort, in order to conduct the transformation as unostentatiously as possible, very early in the morning stationed guards in the immediate vicinity of the casemats, wherein are the cells intended for the incarceration of the prisoners, and also along the various paths and routes they were obliged to traverse while en route to the Fortress.

In a few moments after the Pierce reached the wharf, the prisoners began to land. Such were the arrangements strictly enforced by the military authorities that no person was allowed to approach the wharf where the prisoners landed except at a distance of over five hundred yards.

Mrs. R. E. Lee, wife of the late General Lee, has written to the authorities claiming Arlington Heights as her property. She complains that the grounds have been greatly abused by our Government, and states that she will visit Washington in a few days for the purpose of demanding this from President Johnson.

THE GRAND REVIEW.

The Army of the Potomac in Line. Most Glorious Pageant in the National History.

Washington, May 23. Thousands of persons, including many from other cities who have specially come to see the pageant, lined the sidewalk from the Capitol to a mile and a half, while the windows and balconies are crowded, including the house-tops, which were occupied by deeply interested spectators.

The Capitol bears the motto, in large letters, "The only national debt we can never pay, is the debt we owe to the victorious soldiers." At the North of the Capitol, at least two thousand school girls were assembled, neatly dressed, and there was much pleasant excitement among them, in pressing forward to present flowers to the soldiers and sing patriotic songs.

The immense column moved in the following order: Headquarters Army of the Potomac, Gen. Meade, commanding, 1st Massachusetts Cavalry, Capt. Flint, commanding, general staff, Headquarters and escort 58th United States Cavalry, Major General Custer, commanding. This officer was roarsomely cheered at numerous points of the line, and was somewhat embarrassed by wreaths and bouquets, which had been presented him. Other officers were similarly greeted with cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs by ladies.

Next the 2d and 1st Cavalry Divisions, commanded by General Davis and General Devins, the horse artillery brigade, the Provost Marshal General's brigade, and the engineer's brigade.

The 9th Corps, General Parke commanding, the 1st Division, General Griffin, and the 3d Division, General Curran, are all present.
