The Fourth in the Ancient Borough.

The great day of Independence was ntroduced by the ringing of bells, and firing of guns, and about nine o'clock a procession was formed in the public square, composed of returned soldiers. fire company and citizens, accompanied by martial music. The procession was formed and led by Major W. F. Johnson, Capt. Thomas McCahan and Capt. H. J. Smith. On arriving at the Cottage Grove a meeting was organized by calling John Williamson, Esq., to the chair, and appointing John Love, Esq., John P. Stewart and Simeon Wright, Esq., Vico Presidents; and Robert McDivitt and W. S. Stophens Esq., Secretaries.

The Declaration of Independence was then read by Capt. H. J. Smith. The Emancipation Proclamation was next read by Samuel T. Brown, Esq., after introducing it with a neat and forcible speech.

J. Sewell Stewart, Esq., then delivered a brief but eloquent address, after which our brave soldiers, (about one hundred and sixty in number,) were formed around the tables spread for home, increasing not only the population but the liveliness of the ancient borough. Huntingdon has not suffered severely, comparatively speaking, during the last four years in the loss of soldiers, of whom, too, it has many. The companies and detachments from this place, as a general thing, were attached to fighting regiments and corps. and in almost every battle they figured conspicuously. But they have now returned to enjoy the peace their valor after the days of welcome are over, (and they should not be protracted,) the boys will show their readiness to work as citizens, as they were to prove their willingness to fight as soldiers.

We again return thanks to the brave

ABRAM M'Coy, one of our most industrious citizens, died on Monday last after a few hours' illness.

EDITOR GLODE: -- We of the lower end are gratified to find that our friend and neighbor Mr. John B. Shenefelt has been announced as one among the candidates as suitable for the office of Sheriff.

We know Mr. Shenefelt of old, and we also know that he is a worthy man, whose life thus far has been spent in that very ancient profession, to wit: cating and earning his bread by the sweat of his brow. Mr. Shenefelt is also a solid man in intellect, emphatically one of the people, -one who stands up for his country and has ever done valiantly for those principles which underlie and support true republican government.

We would be peak for him the earnest attention of all the friends of law and order.

The Haying Season. Our farmer friends are in the haying season—a large proportion of the crop being already housed. The weather has been tolerably fair. The grain harvest is also commencing, the wheat being ready for the reaper .-Though having and harvesting opens to the farmer the season of busy toil, it is no longer the season of dread as formerly, when human muscles bore the strain. The scythe has grown rusty, and hangs in many a farmer's shed a relie of antiquity, preserved for the service it has seen and the good it has done. In its place the mowing machine, with its sinews of steel, now enters the field like a thing of life and in a few hours lays low the waving grass and grain which otherwise would have required days of toil and sweat to accomplish.

That's so-they've come-those pesky, peace disturbing, wheezing, wheedling, never to be caught, patience trying, ever vexing, sleep destroying, flesh probing, blood drawing, villainous, vile, despicable, diabolical, detestable, contemptible, contumacious, condemnable, long billed, long winded, long legged, and always-to-be-anathematized exercisers of sweltering huthe bars, keep your blinds closed, your lights out, your bump of patience distended to its fullest enpacity, and perhaps with the help of ice water and soda, you sufferers may survive. A Veteran Regiment. The 110th Penna. Vetoran Regiment arrived in Harrisburg on the morning of June 30. We hope that Mr. McBurney is a successful business man and we have no doubt he will succeed in accommodating the morchants generally from this county .-They of course will give him a call when they go to the city. . .

Hard to Get. Farmers are despairing of getting their crops harvested in proper time, on account of the insufficiency of labor. Some, indeed many, have been in town, making inquiries as to assistance, but they have failed to get any of the many young and stalwart men, who are 'wasting their substance" in disgraceful indolence. Up, men, and be doing; learn to labor ore the harvest is past.

uence has been a resident here for fifty-fire years. He was a man of sterling worth; honest, upright, kind and neighborly. His influence and example have always been felt for good. None knew him but to respect him. Tho he has been failing for years, his general health was reasonably good for a man of his age, up to the evening of his death. He had been out to church in the morning and did not return home till evening, when after attening to necessary matters about the house, with scarcely a struggle he dropped over dead in his chair. On the 4th nst., his remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concentse of mourning relatives and friends.

He sleeps in peace, and his memory will be cherished for his many Christian and manly virtues:
