This weak apology for a great sin has been used with great effect in Kentucky. We are glad to see that Gen. If not made to personal service 19,058; number furnished substitutes 15,545. These facts, adds the Ledger, clearly show that, as a means of recruiting, the army, the draft was entirely inade-quate. Those who were exempted, free, with no laws to protect this institution, surrounded as you aro by those who ran away from the draft, the free States offering to them an asylum and wages for their labor, they and those who paid commutation, swallowed up nearly the entire num-ber drafted. The number held to perwill desert their masters and find for themselves a home in a foreign State where the spirit of freedom is universal and the curse of slavery driven from the land. It is natural that they should do so, and no man but a crazy man could calculate otherwise. And would it not be better for Kentucky to show her magnanimity, her patriotism, her desire for a lasting peace, and the re turn of fraternal feelings, by at once doing that which, if she will not do, will soon itself?
