Delegate Elections.

The Union men of Huntingdon county are requested to meet at the usual places of holding elections, in the several Boroughs and Townships of the county, on Saturday, the 12th day of August next, and elect two delegates from each township and borough to meet in Convention, at Huntingdon on Tuesday, the 14th day of August next, to nominate candidates for the several offices of the county. The polls will be open in the townships from 5 to 7 o'clock, and in the boroughs from 7 to 9 o'clock.

HENRY GRAFFUS, Chairman. Alexandria, July 20, 1865.

Preaching in the German Reformed Church next Sabbath evening.

A letter from Captain Johnson's company states that the 19th Regiment was to go to Harper's Ferry on the 22d, en route for home.

Subscribe at Once. We understand that Capt. Harrison, agent for the "Family Record," will, in no case, sell the work except by subscription. It cannot be had at the stores.

Accident. Our friend Mr. Green Dorsey, of this place, last week sprained his right ankle by jumping off a car on the Broad Top Road. The sprain is getting better.

New Goods. D. P. Gwin, in the Diamond, will be pleased to display to the examination of his customers the new lot of Goods received by him. Call and purchase.

The "boys" are returning home rapidly. Every day we meet with new comers too numerous to mention. We hope they may enjoy good health for many long years and never regret their active life in front of the enemies of their country.

Circus Day. Huntingdon was a scene of some confusion on Saturday last, the day of the Circus. More than the usual portions of whiskey were swallowed, which resulted in a few fights, and made the occasion of the prospect for many more. But little blood spilt, and nobody hurt more than they ought to have been.

Dental Operations. Dr. J. W. ISEBERG, of Altoona, will visit Warriorsburg on the 2d Tuesday and Wednesday, the 8th and 9th of August. The Dr.'s time is so essential in Altoona that if it were not for previous engagements he would find entirely to make his visit this month; therefore any others desiring his professional services will do well to call as soon as possible as he will remain only part of two days and must return to Altoona as soon as possible. To give evidence of his ability to render perfect satisfaction, he would direct all persons to his former visits and patrons.

Agricultural Society. A regular meeting of the Huntingdon County Agricultural Society will be held in the Court House on Tuesday evening of the first week of the coming August Court (15th inst.) The propriety of holding a County Fair during the coming fall will be taken into consideration, and other business of importance to the society transacted. It is desirable and important that there be as full an attendance as possible of the officers of the Association, as well as of the public generally.

GRAFFUS MILLER, Pres't. Huntingdon, Aug. 1, 1865.

INTERNAL REVENUE.—Below we publish a statement of the amount of the Annual Assessment of Internal Revenue in this district. It is far in excess of any previous assessment, being $73,000 more than the list of 1863, and $55,000 more than that of 1864. The articles embraced in Schedule A consist of watches, carriages, pianos, and silver plate:

Table with columns: Schedule A, Licensees, Spouses, Total. Rows: Huntingdon, Blair, Cambria, Mifflin.

Summer Drink. Put two quarts of fresh raspberries into a stone or glazed vessel (whose glazing will not be affected by acids) and pour on them a quart of good vinegar. Let it stand twenty-four hours, and then strain out the juice and vinegar. To each pint of this, add a pound of pulverized white sugar and put it into a porcelain kettle to boil smartly for about half an hour, removing all the scum as it rises. When cold, bottle and seal. Half a gill of this, stirred in a tumbler full of cold water, makes a delicious drink.—Dewberries or blackberries can be used in the same manner—only using just as much vinegar as will cover the fruit.—Ed.

The Improvements in the Modern and Ancient Borough.

The cellars for two buildings in West Huntingdon have almost been finished. The building being erected on the north of the enclosure is the property of Mr. Artley; and is to be frame, that on the southern end is to be occupied as the Baptist Parsonage, and to be built of brick. The tide of population and improvement marches northwesterly from the ancient village. Let it march.

The Fishers are building a cooper shop in West Huntingdon, of which the foundation is already constructed.

The ground in West Huntingdon to be occupied as the Pennsylvania freight car repair shop is rapidly being cleared and of course the building will rapidly go up. We suppose the Penna Railroad Company will be obliged to build dwelling houses for the employes in this shop, which will swell the number of houses. So much, so good.

Grafus Miller is erecting a building on the northeast corner of Church and Bath streets, and opposite the Methodist Church. The foundation has been laid, and the three story brick will soon present an imposing front.

James A. Brown's rising building on Hill street, to the west of Lewis' Book Store still continues to rise. This is a mammoth structure, and we are glad to see it "rushing up." By fall, it is thought, it will be under roof.

Mrs. Hall has had some extensive and beautiful additions made to her house on Mifflin street, between Montgomery and Smith streets. She is fitting it up for the accommodation of boarders.

The large brick house on Railroad street, belonging to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is undergoing some improvements on the first floor. The telegraph and ticket office have been removed to the entry and the rooms on each side are to be used as sitting rooms. The main entrance to the former hall in front has been removed, and a window is to take its place. This was much needed, as passengers found it difficult to pass between the large porch and a standing train.

The stone house opposite to the above and purchased by Mr. Joseph Morrison, is being fitted up for a boarding house.

Our borough fathers are not idle, either. For we see they are going to plant some street crossings where most needed.

The Court House is being rejuvenated from top to bottom, and the court room is now so repaired as to accommodate plenty of people in a convenient and comfortable manner.

The western lower room of the Globe building, latterly used as our press-room, is being painted and otherwise rejuvenated, preparatory to its occupation by B. M. Greene, as a music room and office. This identical room has been adapted to wise and unwise purposes since its existence; for many years it was a bar room, and like as not many a row took place between its walls; again it was a doctor's shop, where many a pill was compounded, again it was a printing office, where many a bill was "confounded," and next it is to be a musical room, where music will be profound(ed), and instrumental bills propounded. Found it! Our "oldest inhabitants" may, in their musings, have found it more than we have above enumerated.

The above list of improvements embrace all that we are definitely cognizant of, but we hear of others that are soon to be made visible when convenience justifies. Until they are made visible, and we have our eyes open, we will not notice them. There are many improvements we would like to see added to the above, but until the moneyed men and moneyed corporations see as we see and otherwise, we cannot see any improvement. Don't you see, Huntingdon, it cannot be said, has not done well in the way of improvement this year, and we are led to believe the spirit will not die out. The men of capital who have invested in building this year cannot keep their mouths shut as to the advantages of their investment, and others will be led to profit by their wise example. At least, everybody hopes they will. We don't think the "ancient borough" will look so "ancient" after the year expires.

Another Show Coming. Next Monday there will exhibit in this place Bailey & Co's Quadruple Combination, embracing a Circus and Menagerie, &c.

We are led to believe, from the sights on the conspicuous show-bills, that this will be the grandest show and circus combined that ever visited this place. The agent has represented to us that everything displayed upon the bills will be performed, and we think to the entire satisfaction of all. The most prominent feature of the Combination is the Hippopotamus, the Bohemian of Holy Writ, which, of itself, to look at is worth the price of admission. This animal will be drawn through town by elephants, and will head the Procession, which all should be in to witness. Besides these animals, there is a list of others, from elephants down to monkeys; birds, of all sizes and from all climes, &c., &c.

Our citizens have a good idea of this show already, and we are confident all will be satisfied and gratified who attend it. Remember the date, Monday next, August 7, 1865, and don't fail to witness the Procession at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Editors of the Globe: In looking over your paper we see the name of Captain Thomas S. McCahan announced as a candidate for the office of Sheriff. He is every way qualified for the office and every man that loves his country should feel it a privilege to vote for one that has proved himself to be a true man upon the field

MARRIED.

On Thursday, 20th inst., by Rev. S. H. Reid, Mr. CHARLES G. SHARRER, Co. G, 190th P. V., to Miss ELIZABETH CARSON, both of this place.

Soldiers are "trump," now-a-days, and it is well that it is so. Scarcely was the above home from the wars until he enlisted in a new and holier cause, took up the arms of a benedict, and is determined to fight until the end under the banner of Prince Matrimony. We can predict for the gallant veteran soldier and his fair life companion a victorious and pleasant warfare with life's difficulties and responsibilities, and hope they may live to enjoy the blessings of love for many, many years. The happy pair have our thanks for their kind and true remembrance, as well as our congratulations upon the event of their joyful linking to the connubial chain.

CANDIDATES.

MESSRS EDITORS OF THE GLOBE.—Having seen the name of Capt. Thos. S. McCahan in the local papers of Huntingdon, I feel gratified that the Captain has offered himself as a candidate for the high office of Sheriff, of this, his native county of Huntingdon, subject to the nomination of the County Convention, that assembles in Huntingdon at the coming August court. The time has come when the patriotic citizens of old Huntingdon will stamp with their approbation all the honors that is due to true and tried patriotism. The office of Sheriff is an important one, and can only be entrusted to true Union men. Of other candidates offering themselves, I have nothing to say. But where a man, like Captain McCahan, has served his country with courage and fidelity; and will carry the scars of his honorable wounds to his grave, I have no doubt, the patriotism and pride of Huntingdon County will be disposed to reciprocate, by conferring on him the honor that he asks. Captain McCahan has been through the whole of this war brought upon us by this untoward rebellion. I know, from the mouths of men who served under him, true bravery, skill, and goodness of heart, were his predominant characteristics, through every battle. He enlisted in the three months service, and after an honorable discharge at the expiration of that term, he, and others of his regiment, were patriots in arms re-enlisted for the term of three years, or during the war, when he raised a company of cavalry, of which he was made first Lieutenant and subsequently, by his highly approved conduct, was promoted to the Captaincy. In which capacity he served in the Southwestern army under Generals Sherman and Thomas, in more than 15 general battles and was at last generally wounded in a fight against John Morgan, the great Rebel Chief, at a place called Yankee town, near Sparta, in Tennessee. The severity of the wound obliged him to retire from the service for some five months when he rejoined the army and remained until again compelled to retire, on account of his wound, which was near the end of the war. I think for such services Capt. McCahan is entitled to high consideration at the hands of the patriotic citizens who are to assemble in August. Too much cannot be done for those men who have risked their lives and shed their blood for the preservation of the constitution and this glorious Union. These men, like Captain McCahan, who untended their services to their country, without bounties or sinister considerations, and freely offered themselves, a sacrifice upon the altar of their country, when sympathizers behind and enemies in front were striving to pull down the columns of our glorious Union! For these reasons, Messrs. Editors, I have thought to write to you commending, believing, as I do, for pure patriotism and true fidelity to the country, no county in the commonwealth stands firmer than does old Huntingdon, and is more willing to honor her sons who have shed so much lustre on her renown. Captain McCahan is a man of high moral character and possesses every qualification to fill the office for which his friends recommend him; he is a true Union man, I have known him long—possesses a kind, good heart and will make an urbane and lenient officer.

BIRMINGHAM. July 27, 1865.

Editor of the Globe: We are gratified to see announced in your paper the name of Captain J. A. LIVINGSTON as a candidate for Assembly. We know the Captain's honesty and integrity; he is no truckling politician. We believe his name has been announced by some of his friends without his solicitation; but patriotism should be rewarded. In the fall of '61 he volunteered to help put down the cursed rebellion. He went out as a Lieutenant and was promoted to Captain. He served about three and half years in the army. We are of the same opinion as "Occasional" of the Press: "Soldiers are deserving of reward—they are qualified for civil trust and civil labor. If the hundreds of thousands who went forth to put down the rebellion had not been composed of superior moral and mental elements, they would not have borne their inconceivable burdens so uncomplainingly. Death, wounds, destitution, long marches, and all the countless disasters by flood and field, were endured with a firmness and a patience that appalled the grumblers at home and made the world wonder."

If the Captain gets the nomination, Onida will roll up a strong vote for him.

He is every way qualified for the office and every man that loves his country should feel it a privilege to vote for one that has proved himself to be a true man upon the field of action. I am satisfied if the Army of the Cumberland could have a chance to speak, they would one and all tell you to go to the Captain and elect him, and you would have the right man in the right place. I would like to ask the voters of Huntingdon county if they will forget the men that stood in the first rank when Rebellion threatened to destroy this government? And should not the men who have been crippled for life be remembered, and the highest encomium that the citizens of their native counties could bestow upon them be pronounced by you? I wish I could take you back with me over the Cumberland mountains, to the scenes of other days; could you but see the Captain as he lay there on his back, after he was wounded, cheering up the men and assuring them that he would be in the saddle in the morning ways cheerful and at all times ready for duty. Why should I wish to tell you why Captain McCahan is, for you all know him.—When you go for your tickets be sure to get one with the Captain's full name, and then stick it in at the window. I have seen the Captain in several little scraps with the hierarchy of the South, and I am sorry to have told you he came out crippled for life. I tell you Old Huntingdon Co. will do justice to the brave and deserving soldier.

I am your most obedient servant, J. W. MYTON.

For these reasons, Messrs. Editors, I have thought to write to you commending, believing, as I do, for pure patriotism and true fidelity to the country, no county in the commonwealth stands firmer than does old Huntingdon, and is more willing to honor her sons who have shed so much lustre on her renown. Captain McCahan is a man of high moral character and possesses every qualification to fill the office for which his friends recommend him; he is a true Union man, I have known him long—possesses a kind, good heart and will make an urbane and lenient officer.

BIRMINGHAM. July 27, 1865.

Editor of the Globe: We are gratified to see announced in your paper the name of Captain J. A. LIVINGSTON as a candidate for Assembly. We know the Captain's honesty and integrity; he is no truckling politician. We believe his name has been announced by some of his friends without his solicitation; but patriotism should be rewarded. In the fall of '61 he volunteered to help put down the cursed rebellion. He went out as a Lieutenant and was promoted to Captain. He served about three and half years in the army. We are of the same opinion as "Occasional" of the Press: "Soldiers are deserving of reward—they are qualified for civil trust and civil labor. If the hundreds of thousands who went forth to put down the rebellion had not been composed of superior moral and mental elements, they would not have borne their inconceivable burdens so uncomplainingly. Death, wounds, destitution, long marches, and all the countless disasters by flood and field, were endured with a firmness and a patience that appalled the grumblers at home and made the world wonder."

If the Captain gets the nomination, Onida will roll up a strong vote for him.

EAST SANDY, July 15, 1865.

Editors of the Globe: In looking over your paper we see the name of Captain Thomas S. McCahan announced as a candidate for the office of Sheriff. I served under the Captain for nearly three years and know him to be both a soldier and gentleman. He is every way qualified for the office and every man that loves his country should feel it a privilege to vote for one that has proved himself to be a true man upon the field of action. I am satisfied if the Army of the Cumberland could have a chance to speak, they would one and all tell you to go to the Captain and elect him, and you would have the right man in the right place. I would like to ask the voters of Huntingdon county if they will forget the men that stood in the first rank when Rebellion threatened to destroy this government? And should not the men who have been crippled for life be remembered, and the highest encomium that the citizens of their native counties could bestow upon them be pronounced by you? I wish I could take you back with me over the Cumberland mountains, to the scenes of other days; could you but see the Captain as he lay there on his back, after he was wounded, cheering up the men and assuring them that he would be in the saddle in the morning ways cheerful and at all times ready for duty. Why should I wish to tell you why Captain McCahan is, for you all know him.—When you go for your tickets be sure to get one with the Captain's full name, and then stick it in at the window. I have seen the Captain in several little scraps with the hierarchy of the South, and I am sorry to have told you he came out crippled for life. I tell you Old Huntingdon Co. will do justice to the brave and deserving soldier.

I am your most obedient servant, J. W. MYTON.
