THE CHARGE OF NEGRO EQUALITY. For many years our political opponents seem to have a large investment in slavery and the negro. Now that slavery is pretty generally admitted to be dead, it was thought that they might allow the old subject to rest. But not so. They return to the quesbut our children to the latest generation with as much apparent zeal and warmth as ever. With a full knowledge of the fact that negro suffrage and negro equality are not, and could not possibly be, an issue, in the October contest, they are making extraorpinary efforts to mislead and deceive their fellow-citizens into a contrary belief. They think that our hostility and prejudices against the negro are so great, and that they have so often appealed to these with some show of success that it is only necessary to repeat the effort in order to accomplish their designs. They tell you that of-forts are being made to elevate the negro, and to place the two races on an equality. They seem to be very much afraid that some poor degraded negro may outstrip them in the race of life. They tell us that these negroes are weak, ignorant, and inferior to the whites. If so it would seem that they needed our help and assistance to edu cate and instruct them. The only danger of equality we can see is, that some white men, by continuing longer in such a course of argument, in utter disregard of truth, experience, and history, for the base purpose of reaching the prejudices of the thoughtless. may at last succeed in bringing themselves down to or beneath the level of the negro. The time was when they confidently declared that the destruction of slavery would send swarms of negroes into our midst to drive away white laborers. Experience has shown that the few we had here ran away from slavery in the South, and that had there been no slavery there these negroes in the North would have long since moved South. They told us, too that in case of a war the slaves would all fight for their masters. Neither Southern masters nor their Northern allies have any faith in this doctraic now. But these politicians cannot live without the negro. He comprises nearly their entire stock intrade. One year it is one phase of the negro question; another year it is something else. The great work of Bishop Hopkins was once one of their standard works. It is rather dull sale this year. Tho conduct of these politicians towards the poor degraded negro, would be past all comprehension, had we not a inemorable example of the same kind JAMES M. BROWN, Mifflin county. he early history of the b All the troublesome and deadly plagues of Egypt, including the death of all the first born of the land, were not sufficient to reach the heart of Pharoah, nor to persuade the Egyptians of the arrors and sins of slavery. So that, even after the slaves had left the country, led by a pillar of a cloud by day, and a pillar of fire by night, the ruler and his hosts of subjects followed them. and his hosts of subjects followed them even into the midst of the Red Sea, Oor nation has suffered more than all the plagues of Egypt. As the law of primogeniture has been abolished among us, the deaths were not all of our first-born, but nearly one of every household; yet these deluded hosts, led on by hard-hearted and wicked Pharoahs, as leaders, are still pursuing even into the midst of the Red Sea. Will not the "waters standing as walls of safety to the slaves, return again and cover Pharoah and his hosts, and all that come into the sea after them,
