O Say, shall we Meet you all There'

Where do you journey, my brother, O where do you journey, I pray? Where do you journey, my sister? For stormy and dark is the way. We're journeying oaward to Canaan, Through suff'ring, and trial, and care, And when we get safely to glory, O say, shall we meet you all there?

Chords-O say, shall we meet you all there? O say, shall we meet you all there? And when we get safely to glory, O say, shall we meet you all there?

What is your mission, my brother. What is your mission below? What is your mission, my sister, As journeying onward you go? Our mission is practicing mercy, Sweet charity, patience, and love, And following the footsteps of Jesus, That lead to the mansions above.

Chonus-O say, shall we meet, &c. Olyes, you'll meet us, my brother, God helping our weakness and sin : Bearing the cross, we, my sister, The crown will endeavor to win. We'll walk through the vale and the shadow Through suff rings, and trials, and care. And when you get safely to glory, You'll meet, yes, you'll meet us all there Cuorus-O say, shall we meet, &c.

Over the River I'm Going.

Over the river I'm going, Reyond where the pearly gates stand, Over the cold icy billows, To live in a fair, sunny land. My Father has built me a mansion, And filled it with treasures of gold. Yes, over the river I'm going, To where there are pleasures untold Cuon. To where there are pleasures untold To where there are pleasures untold

Yes, over the river I'm going, To where there are pleasures untold. Over the river I'm going; O, seek not to draw me aside! See, for the boatman is waiting To ferry me over the tide. My Savior is there to receive me, And shield me from suffering and cold :

Yes, over the river I'm going, To where there are pleasures untold. Chorus-To where, &c.

Pennsylvania's Heroic Dead! WHERE THEY ARE BURIED IN THE

The Condition of the Cemeteries. Report of the Superintendent of Tele graphing and Transportation.

Transportation and Telegraph Dep't., Harrisburg, January 16, 1866. Sir:-That the great anxiety to know the condition of the graves and the late war, in the prison places of | fied, appropriately marked. the South, might be satisfied with perfortunate friends and kinsmen for assistance of the State under the Volunteer Relief Associations—I proceeded by your direction to Washington on the 18th ult, en route to the principal points where these burying grounds are located, in the Military Department of the Atlantic, accessible by railroad.

General Orders Nos. 35 and 58, from this Department, records of those who died in defence of the American Union, the National Cemeteries at Washington, and those slain on the National Cemeteries at Washington, and those slain on the battle fields of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania Court House, have been published.

Efforts to the same end are in progression to the Atlantic, accessible by gress, under the direction of the Chief Quartermaster in the Military Division

To the end that time and expense on a similar mission from Nashville to nounces as inexpedient efforts for the Andersonville, Ga., and intermediate and dissuades all persons from such points—the railroad communication efforts, by reason of the great uncerbeing more perfect and the distance tainty in obtaining particular bodies, to be traveled less than beyond the and the difficulties in the transmission most Southern point in the East I of these to Pennsylvania. I have held should be required to visit-I therefore communicated to Col. Chamberlin by letter the instruction under which I and have uniformly advised those apacted, and desired him to proceed at plying to this Department, of the exhis earliest convenience in fulfillment of his part of the object.

An informal order from the headquarters of the armies of the United States secured me the courteous attention and assistance of all local military offices in furtherance of my mission.

On the outskirts of Richmond, I found the grounds allotted to the burial of Union soldiers in Oakwood and Hollywood Cemeteries, and the enclosure containing the graves of those who languished and died under the rigors of prison treatment on Belle Isle, surrounded by plain substantial fences. The burials in Hollywood Cemetery are those deceased since the from the same locality. I know of no rebel evacuation of the city. The other plan so satisfactory as that of graves here are of sufficient depth, and granting transportation to the relawell marked with plainly lettered headboards. At Oakwood and on Belle Isle moulder the bodies of those who died during the dark days when the Confederate flag flaunted treason, and when brave and patriotic men, imprisoned in unwholesome prison houses and on this bleak isle, sickened and

A cata-by bringing home their bodies or in logue of the names, companies and regiments of the heroes buried in and provement of the barying place in around Richmond, compiled and published by the U.S. Christian Commission, is invaluable for the information it gives the bereaved friends of these. An inspection of the prison grave-had been taken in the burist and marking for future identification the graves of those who died here. Plain headboards exhibit the names, companies and regiments, painted in legible characters of those who gave up their lives prior to November, 1864. The graves of those buried subsequent to that date are at regular intervals, and in the order in which they are numbered in the undertaker's register. A complete record of all buried here is given in the publication of the U.S.C.C. bev fore referred to. I am of the opinion that the identification and removal of bodies from this point is practicable. A ravine divides this enclosure, on the opposite sides of which rest in the awful stillness of death Union and Cons federate dead. From Danville I proceeded to Salis bury, N. C. Here thousands of the Union armies found their graves, where gaunt death seems to have gorged itself with the lives of our ill-fated soldiery. Secreey envelopes the numbers of this great mortality, and bier after bier of crowded corpses, under shallow coverings of earth, alone give idea of the frightful ravages of disease and starvation. The dead bodies are laid side by side in trenches about seven feet in width and extending the length of the enclosure; trench following trench fills up almost the entire area of less than two acres. The enclosing fence, the broken surface of the ground, together with the simple Call at the "Globe" Building, inscriptions of death or thirteen board tablets alone warn the visitor that he is on ground replete with the recollections of brutality and suffering, that sicken and appal. The drainage of the hill side on which this burying ground is situated, must soon expose the bones of those buried, unless steps are soon taken for its permanent improvement. My observations here convince me of the utter impossibility of finding and disinterring particular remains, unless the identification was through some unnatural formation of the body, or some unusual care in its burial.

Learning that railroad communication was interrupted south of this point, and that I could only reach Columbia, S. C., by a very circuitous route, or long travel by stage, I determined to return, believing that I should find other prison places in the same condition as those visited, and that this report would be satisfactory as to SUCAR EVAPORATOR. the feasibility of the removal of bodies from prison graveyards in the far South. I visited several other points, where soldiers of Union armies have found their last resting places, in the course of my tour through this coun-

To subserve economy in expenditure of the appro-priation to this Department, I have endeavored to save expense by requiring one person to bring home more than one body when applications were made, tives or their agent, when transporta-tion is applied for, in the removal of bodies of deceased soldiers of Pennsylvania regiments. The innumerable places where bodies are buried, and the almost numberless routes and roads to be traveled in reaching these, proclude the possibility of accomplishing this object through established agencies.

While we honor and provide for those who have survived the casualties of war, it is well that we do not forget sacrifices for the preservation of the American Union, and the perpetuity efforts looking to the permanent imwhich they rest, show our grateful appreciation of the sacred obligations hat rest on us.

Respectfully your obedient servant, H. H. GREGG, Chief of Transportation and Telegraph and dissuades all persons from such efforts, by reason of the great uncertainty in obtaining particular bodies, and the difficulties in the transmission of these to Ponnsylvania. I have hold this opinion based on the report made by Lieut. Col. J. That greater facilities might be afforded, I have arranged with the President of the Baltimore Steam Packet Company to transport, on the orders of the State of Pennsylvania, at two cents per circular mile, persons traveling for and in attendance on the corps of deceased soldiers.

Negotiations are now pending with some of the railroad companies to still further reduce the personal expense of those thus traveling. To subserve economy in expenditure of the appropriation to this Department, I have endeavored to save expense by requiring
