and I recommend that the Legislature take measures for that purpose. The State of Maryland has proposed to her sister States that they unite with her in establishing a cemetery for our soldiers who fell at Antietam. I berowith transmit copies of the Maryland statute, and other documents on this subject, and recommend the passage of an act heartily accepting the proposition of the State of Mary land. All the States having promptly and generously responded to our proposition to have a cemetery at Gettysburg, it would seem proper that we should reciprocate, and unite in this. The duty is more sacred when we remember that more of Pennsylvania's sons fell in that battle than those of any other State.

The report of the State Agent at Washington, herewith transmitted, shows that under his efficient management the claims of our soldiers are promptly examined and paid. Every effort has been made to apprise our officers and men that their claims will be collected by the State Agent (Col. Jordan), without expense to them; yet it is feared that many of them continue to employ private claim agents, whose fees bear heavily on the claimants.

Since my last annual message I have expended of the secret service fund, the sum of four thousand three hundred and thirty-three dollars and twenty cents, out of which I have paid my personal staff and other extraordinary expenses. No appropriation is required for the increase of this fund.

1 invite your attention to the re-ports of the Military Departments of the State, to the report of the Superintendent of Common Schools, which exhibits the prosperous condition of our system of public education, and to the report of the Surveyor General, and recommend to your favorable consideration the many excellent sugges-tions made by that officer.

I commend to your earnest consideration the suggestion made by the Surgeon General in his report, herewith transmitted, on the propriety of legislation for the protection of our people, by proper sanitary measures from the rayages of the cholera, which is now approaching our shores.

I commend to the wisdom of the Legislature the subject of providing for the relief of our many maimed and wounded soldiers. Possibly this might be done by continuing and enlarging the acts providing for boards of relief in the several counties. I recommend the adoption by the Legislature of this or some other plan for doing justice to the class of men in question.

By the joint resolution of May 16, 1861, authorizing me to give flags to our regiments, it was made the duty of the Executive to receive the flags when the regiments returned. This has not been hitherto done, inasmuch as they have not all yet been mustered out. As soon as this shall have taken place, the flags will be received with appropriate ceremonies, and I recommend that the Legislature make provision for causing them to be hung in the new Library.

I refer to the suggestion of Briga. dier General Todd, Inspector General, on the subject of the militia. I am not prepared to make any recommendation on this subject, as I observe with great pleasure, that Congress is proposing to establish a uniform system throughout the United States.

The arsenal at Harrisburg is decaying and unsafe. The arms and munitions of the State there deposited are of the value probably of half a million poon mand that provis dollars ion be made for repairing it, or that a new arsenal be constructed in this vicinity, for the purpose of securing their preservation.

Since my last annual message, the late President of the United States has fallen a victim of the most foul and base assassination recorded in history It will afford me pleasure and I will heartily unite with you in any expres sion of indignation at the crime, and of appreciation of the public virtue and services of its victim, Abraham Lincoln. My uniform course during the late war, was to avoid the discussion of the policy of the General Government, while giving a hearty support to the National authorities in all their meascontinue to pursue the same course during the embarrassments necessarily connected with the entire restoration of the country. The principles expressed in the massage of the President, at the commencement of the session of Congress, will receive my cordial support,

I am not aware of the existence of any-difficulty with other nations which may not be amicably adjusted, and therefore venture to express the hope that long years of tranquility and happiness are before us.

From the Philadelphia Telograph. The President on the Constitution.

It is a common proverb that it is easier to pull down than to build up, and this is especially true with respect to a political system like that of the United States. The process of forming the Constitution of our Federal Government was an arduous and protract ernment was an account the part of purest minds of that period took part. all the light reflected upon their labors by the experience of preceding ages, there was great difficulty in adjusting the various opinions and conflicting inence as an editor, to purchase a one terests that impeded the task; and it was exceedingly doubtful, even up to half interest in a good, paying country the closing sessions of the Convention newspaper, of Union proclivities. Best whether the plan finally propose could of references given and required. Ad- or would receive the necessary vote in its favor. And when, afterwards, the Constitution agreed upon in convention in this city was submitted for ratificas tion to the people of the several States, there was much apprehension felt that the instrument might not receive the required assent of nine out of the thirs tuen States of the old federation, and therefore fail of adoption altogether.

The felicity of its operation during eighty odd years of trial, with but few material amendments in all that long interval of time, forcibly attests the almost perfect fitness of the organic law of the National Government to the purposes and ends it was designed to meet, as well as the rare wisdom and fore-sight of those enlightened statesmen who were its authors.

The facts in the constitutional history of the Republic should strongly engago popular reverence for a framework of government which cost so much to secure it in the beginning, and which no ordinary men could have devised. But as innovations on any system of civil order, once begun, are apt to breed a passion for change rather for its own sake than for any substantial improvement, either urgently needed or clearly perceived, they are to be ardently discouraged, as adapted to lead to some undefined extent, and to the most disastrous consequences.

The spirit is exhibited just now in a emarkable manner, and to an unpreredented degree, by certain mombers of the present Congress; and it is not at all surprising that the President regards the matter with decided disfavor. In a recent conversation of his with a distinguished Senator, Mr.

Jounson is reported to have said:--"Propositions to amend the Constitution are becoming as numerous as preambles and resolutions at town meetings, called to con on the 7th day of March next. As this is an important meeting it is hoped a full attendance of the members will be present.

A. H. BAUMAN,
Chairman Union Co. Committee ple in their great charter of freedom.

This is strong language, but not a whit too strong for the occasion. It justly rebukes that silly propensity of certain class of politicians to be perpetually tinkering at the most sacrod forms and established provisions of government in our land; just as if they were wiser than our fathers, and could improve, by almost any ill-considered and immatured alterations, the fabrics of social organization and civil administration which those seemingly nspired sages constructed and bequeathed to us. Indeed, as the Presilent more than intimates, there is a levity of temper and an itching meddesomeness of disposition displayed with respect to amending the Constitution of the United States, which find their reflection in the volubility of stump orators and the miserable platitudes of those who scribble the "preambles and resolutions of town meetings." And we entirely agree with him in thinking that all such trifling with so grave a matter as the Federal Constitution is fitted to sink that deservedly venerable instrument in popular respect, and to divest it of very much of that august sanctity which should be constantly preserved as one bers of the present Congress have no very great regard for the views of either President Washington or President Johnson touching the imprudence of making too many and too frequent alterations of the fundamental and supreme law of National Government.
