Things a Farmer Should not Do.

A farmer should not break up more land than he can cultivate thoroughly; half tilled land is always growing poorer, while well tilled land is constantly improving. A thrifty and prudent farmer will not devote his sole atattention to the improvemt of certain fields on his farm, because the land is SPLENDIE STOCK of NEW GOODS easy to work, and let other portions of his premises go uncultivated, and grow nothing but brush, bogs, briars and

A farmer should never have more cattle, horses or other animal stock than he can keep in good order. An animal in good order at the beginning of winter is already half wintered. Nor should be let his cattle endure the chilling storms of winter in an open yard or field, whilst a few dollars expended in the way of making comfortable stables would amply repay him in saving of fodder, and afford a greater amount of milk.

A farmer should never depend too much on his neighbors for what he can by careful management produce on his own land. He should not make it a common practice to either buy or beg | ke fruit while he can plant trees and cultivate them on his own ground—nor annoy his neighbors by borrowing tools to work with, while he can make or buy them. "The borrower is servant to the lender."

A farmer should never be so immer sed in political matters as to neglect doing his various kinds of work in due season, and to snug up matters and things for winter; nor should he be so inattentive to politics as to remain ignorant of those great questions of na-tional and state policy which will al-ways agitate more or less a free people. A farmer should not be continually borrowing his neighbor's newspaper, while he can easily save money enough, by curtailing some little extravagance, to subscribe and pay for one or more of his own.

A farmer should never refuse a fair price for anything he wishes to sell. 1

 Λ farmer should not allow his wood pile to be reduced down to the 'shorts,' merely drawing a little by piecemeal and green at that. He must expect to encounter the sour looks of his wife and family, and perhaps be compelled (in a series of lectures) to learn that the man who provides green wood to burn in the winter, has not measured the first rules of domestic economy. Nor should be employ some "botch' mason to build his chimney "upside down" so that his family will be near-ly smoked out of the house and the valls of the room become as yellow as

A tarmer should not let his building look as old as the bills, and go to decay, while he can easily afford the means to keep them in good repair; nor should be allow tattered clothes and old hats to be stuffed in the windows, in place of glass. If he does, he need not be alarmed if he acquires the reputation of a mean man, or one who with dilapidated looking fences on his farm, so as to tempt his cattle to become unruly and destroy his crops, while he has plenty of opportunities and material to make or keep them in repair. Working Farmer.

WORTH KNOWING .- Last spring I result: The five rows planted with tested the coming season, as the cost is comparitively nothing when put alongside of two or three acres of corn nearly ruined by these pests. All moist lands are more or less filled with them, and many farmers dare not plant corn on them, for they say the wire worm will spoil their crop; hence they will let it lie unimproved year after year, when it might be made to produce a PROPAGATION OF FISH .- Have you a living spirit upon your farm? or have you a pond that does not dry up in summer? If you have, you can easily raise-fish much more easily raise them for food than you can beef or pork. In Europe the raising of fish for market is carried on largely by private persons. It is attended with great profit. The principal outlay is in preparing the ponds, and stocking them with the choicer kinds of fish. They need but little care or attention. They require but little food, though it is found profitable to feed them some, as they will mature quicker. They are easily caught in nets, and the smaller ones are thrown back and the larger ones sold. Fresh fish have always been considered one of the luxuries of the table. Our western farmers could raise them as well as they can stock. Let them make their ponds and put in their fish and they will multiply won-derfully. The spawn of the choicer kinds be obtained and transported thousands of miles. We commend this subject to the consideration of our readers and hope they will act upon our suggestions.—Rural World.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles new so prevalent, or iress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Robels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels! Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebelacts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urgo your fath, ers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queens-ware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Incorporated by the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania. Located on the N. IV. Corner of 7th ana Chestnut sts. Designed exclusively to impart a thorough and PRACTICAL BUSINESS EDUCATION.

All classes of persons require such an education. Those possessing means, need it in conducting their one business Those without means need it in obtaining and creditably filling herative positions in the employ of others. The centre of instruction and practice is arranged so as to fully meet the diversified wants of every department of DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN TRADE, s comprehended or embraced under the three general di risions of industry: Agriculture, Manufacture and Com visions of industry: Agriculture, Manufacture and Commerce.

Each student is instructed individually in both theory and practice of Blook Keeping, according to the most approved and labor saving methods. Business Penmanship, Calculations, and all the collateral branches of a complete course of business education; and unpen passing a satisfactory examination is swarded, by authority of law, a diploma, under the corporate s al of the college.

Students are received at any time. And it is believed that a practical experience of over twenty 'exams will be considered by the public an ample guarantice of the practical character of the course and efficiency of the instruction. tion.

have known men to refuse a dollar and a half for a bushel of corn, and after keeping it five or six months they were glad to get a dollar for it. I have known farmers to refuse to take a fair marketable price for their butter, and after keeping it three or four months they concluded to sell it for only two thirds of the price which they were first offered. took a small quantity of seed corn and soaked it in a solution of salpetre, and to test it planted five rows through the middle of a naturally moist piece with seed thus prepared. Now for the corn soaked in the salpetre yielded more than twenty rows planted in the usual way. The five rows were untouched by the wire worm, while the remainder of the field suffered badly from their depredations, and I should judge that not a single kernel saturated with the salpetre was touched by the worm, while almost every hill in the rest of the piece suffered more or less. The worms are a little kind of squeamish in regard to eating anything that comes in their way; hence I wish to lay the fact before the agricultural reader, and hope it will be carefully
