There is thus an absolute identity of senti-ment and principle between the Baltimore Platform of the Union party in 1864 and that adopted at Philadelphia last week. We chal-lenge any man to point out any deviation from the former on the part of the Philadelphia Convention. The Baltimore Platform de-clared it to be the object and purpose of the war to re-establish the integrity of the Union and the supreme authority of the Constitution; and in the Philadelphia Convention delegates from every State and Territory of the Union, Northern and Southern alike, unite in the de-claration that this has been done, and they poses, and tender to the members of the Ger eral Assembly their thanks for their consid-erate attention to relieve the popular bur-dens, while they confidently refer to it as a proof of the superior capacity of the Union organization for the beneficial conduct of public affairs, that after a long and exhaust-ing war, the debt of Pennsylvania is reduced, and the taxes, imposed in a time of pence by their political opponents, are diminished by the judicious management of executive offi-cers and a General Assembly chosen by the Union party. 12. of the war. In 1864 the Union party declared that the war should be waged until the su-prome authority of the Constitution was re-established, until the integrity of the Union was restored, and all its States and all its people accepted that result. In the Philadel-phia Declaration the South joins the North in declaring that the authority of the Consti-tution has been restored and is again supreme; that the Union is perfort and perpenducture. of the war. In 1864 the Union party declared that the Union is perfect and is agains up the; that the Union is perfect and perpetual--no State or States having any right to secede.— So far as this fundamental principle is con-cerned, therefore, the principles of the two are identical.
