

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Nov. 21, 1866.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

Subscribers.

Those subscribers receiving a paper marked with a † before the name will understand that the time for which they subscribed is up. If they wish the paper continued they will renew their subscription through the mail or otherwise.

Another new store will open in a few days in the room lately occupied by Fisher & Sons.

The colored people intend holding a Festival next week in order to liquidate the debt on their new church.

In demand—good potatoes. Plenty of rotten ones on everybody's hands, for sale cheap.

The corn crop, from all accounts, was large and good, in this county. Who knows about what?

It is reported that Mr. John H. Keasley is about starting a temperance paper in Blair county.

The Rev. Dr. Spear will preach in the Episcopal Church, this place, on next Sabbath, morning and afternoon.

The new tailoring establishment and clothing store of H. Greenberg is in full blast. Persons in want of a good suit and snug fit will do well to give him a call. See advertisement.

A sure cure for the pip in poultry—cut their heads off and bury them with their body a foot deep in a corner of your lot. We have cured some thirty or forty in this way when other cures failed. This is a permanent cure.

W. Lewis has taken the Family Grocery of Lewis & Co. entirely to himself and will continue the business, always keeping on hand every article usually to be found in the best Grocery stores.—Call and examine.

Hall's Journal of Health expresses the opinion that black wheat cakes contain more nourishment for less money than any other article of food. This is very important when wheat and rye stand so high in the figures. Therefore, go in on buckwheats.

The people in West Huntingdon have grown so numerous that they begin to cry out for their own work. They would like to see a good walk constructed from the board walk down to the town proper. Such a convenience the Council have ordered to be built from the Baptist Church.

The County Commissioners offer $300 reward for the arrest and confinement of Joseph Matthews, the man who burned the barn of Mr. Goshorn in Tell township, last month. The Commissioners do right in assisting to bring the wretch to speedy judgment. Read advertisement.

A town hall is sadly needed in this town, and we cannot see why some individual or individuals do not build one. Our borough fathers once talked about it, but for some reason failed to build one. There is no doubt that it would be a paying institution. Other towns can have two or more, while Huntingdon has none.

We have a set of boys in this town that for ability to disturb public meetings, we will state against any set in the State. It is not so much the boys' fault, as it is the parents', and not so much the parents' as it is the citizens', generally, who could prevent the misbehavior if they would take them in hands at once and make an example of a few of them.

Rumors continue to fly thick and fast concerning the doings of the Penna. Railroad Co. about this town. The last we have from that source is that local freights will make this a laying over rendezvous (this appears to be true), and that Huntingdon will be the termination of a Division. This may and may not be true.

Death of a Miser.

There died recently, in the Borough of Wilmore, Cambria Co., an old man named Bernard Halligan, who in his lifetime was a miser of the first class. He was, we believe, a common laborer by occupation, unmarried, and lived alone in the meanest manner in the most cheerless domicile. Previous to his death he had his wife drawn up, bequeathing the bulk of his possessions to a sister in Ireland, but when the document was presented to him for his signature he refused to affix his name. He subsequently had one of his neighbors called in, to whom he committed the care of an old trunk, which, after his death, was opened, and is said to have contained some $700 in gold and silver, together with a considerable sum in greenbacks. So miserable did this old man live that when his neighbors came to prepare his body for sepulture not a shred of clean linen could be found in the house with which to dress it. Everything in and about his miserable abode bore the impress of squalid poverty and the utmost degradation.

Printing paper still continues at nearly as high a figure as during the war; with no prospect of a decline in price. Good rag paper commands prices ranging from eighteen to thirty cents per pound. Inferior straw news paper is held at from 16 to 18 cents per pound. At these rates from twenty-five per cent ought to be added to the subscription price of newspapers to pay a fair profit.

That Meteoric Shower.

From the many notices which the expected meteoric shower of Tuesday or Wednesday night last received, our good people were generally on the alert for the grand display. Tuesday night we heard of a goodly number of our citizens sitting up until late hour, anxiously awaiting that which was to be, but unfortunately was not. We have no doubt said goodly number counted more twinkles in heaven's lamps than ever before. Wednesday night was the same, with the exception that preparations were made to ring the bells if anything did make its appearance. The morning light dawned again, and again they were doomed to disappointment. This closed the era of anxious watching and sorry disappointment. None of those who sat up have furnished us with a description of what they saw, but we are led to indulge in the hope that a few of them derived some little consolation from the fact that they were fooled to watch the stars a live long night, which under any other circumstance they could not have prevailed upon to do.

In justice to the astronomers it is reported that meteors were seen from some of the cities in more northern latitudes, and the display is represented as grand, but yet not as grand as the one in 1833. Our latitude, we are led to conclude, is not very well favored, as in Philadelphia and Pittsburg nothing unusual was witnessed. We can only hope for the better. Our thanks as well as sympathies we extend to those of our wide-awake citizens who were ready to apprise the sleeping ones if anything remarkable should occur.

Everett Literary Association.

The above is the name of the literary Society recently organized in this place. We are happy to state that it is in a fair way for improvement and we trust success. We have always encouraged literary societies, believing that the benefits derived from them are not of a mere individual nature, but extending to the town which is graced with it. Should our young men avail themselves of the opportunity to improve their mental faculties, and thus receive that moral and theoretical education, which is necessary for many, indeed all, the duties of life, not only they themselves will feel the benefit, but society at large will advance as they advance. The association meets every Friday evening, their room being for the present the Treasurer's office, in the Court House. An invitation is extended to our young men generally to send in their applications for membership.

The Concert.

On Wednesday evening last the Huntingdon Mozart Association gave a Concert in the Court House Hall. The room was well filled, the result of liberal advertising and complimentary notices. The audience appreciated the music, vocal and instrumental, but that the programme was a little too monotonous to please all. A few more laughable performances would have made the variety that would have made the spice of the entertainment; and we hope the Association will profit by the experiment when they perform again. They return sincere thanks for the patronage on the occasion, and are assured that our public is grateful.
