The Globe. NT.lunting-5, to De-PLACING A DAUGHTER AT SCHOOL.

"I have brought my daughter to you to be taught everything." Dear madam, I've called for the purpose
Of placing my daughter at school;
Sho's only thirteen, I assure you,
And remarkably easy to rule. Jaso, 7 60 S709 56 Philosophy, grammar and logic,
You'll teach her to read, of course, too.

I wish her to learn every study. Mathematics are down on my plan But in figures she scarce has an inkling, Pray instruct in those if you can.
I'd have her taught Spanish and Latin,
Including the language of France;
Never mind her very bad English, Teach her THAT when you have a good

On the harp she must be proficient, And play the guitar very soon,
And sing the last opera music,
Even though she can't turn a right tune.
You must see that her manners are finished,
That she moves with a Hebe-like grace; c, 3 50 | For though she is lame and one sided,

That's nothing to do with the case. Now, to you I resign this young jewel, And my words I would have you obey; In six months you return her, dear madam, Shiring as bright as an unclouded day.
She's no aptness, I grant you, for learning,
And her memory oft seems to halt;
But remember, if she's not accomplished, It will certainly all be your fault.

For the Globe. Vacant Seats Around the Fireside. Who can witness the scenes of the present without some sad reflections of the past. Let us reflect for a moment on the past. Take for instance the happy, healthful family circle that grew for years, blest with health and prosperity, even until the greater part $22 82 had arrived to the years of maturity, without a vacant scat at the comforta-4 50 ble fireside or a link broken in the golden chain that binds the family circle more near and dear to each other Parents blest with health and happiness. Where are they now? How true, each pleasure bath its poison, too, and every sweet a snare. But were those seats occupied never to be made $23 50 vacant? Was this golden chain never to be broken? Were those plates 4 40 around the well filled table never to be removed? Ah! some of them have 1 00 been removed with sorrow. When the last link was added to this happy circle, in steps the pale messenger and nipped the lovely bud to the sorrow of all the once happily united family. Then was the first link broken; in a little space of time, the eldest, a loved brother, took upon him the divine injunction, "a man shall leave his father and his mother and shall cleave unto

Then was another link broken, another plate removed, another seat $500 00 made vacant at the fireside. And ere $769 56 another year had elapsed, another loved sister was led to the Hymenial Altar. Then was another link broken, another plate removed, and another seat made

But there is still before us the saddest of all our reflections. Who has not mourned over the results of this cruel rebellion? Let us look at this chain, and see it it has not been touched by the iron heel of civil war. Let us trace the stops of the beautiful and noble youth of nineteen summers, as he takes 1 80 leave of his friends and starts obedient to his country's call, unknown to all 00 50 at home, until they catch the first glimpse of the military equipment that clothes a beloved, and we may almost 9 48 say, a lost son and brother. But follow him still further as he wends his way onward and onward toward the field of battle, and ere long he is atof tacked with disease, consequent to camp life, and we soon see him laid upon one of the narrow beds in a New York Hospital. But he recovers and is forwarded on to duty. But ere long the hand of disease is laid heavily upon him and we find him lying in one of the far off Virginia Hospitals, where he continues to grow weaker and paler until at last his dying request is compliof tar off home. Imagine the emotions of that grief stricken mother as she listens to his pleadings to see her. O! what relief it would be to him only to see her long wished for face in these, his dying moments; but when she hears read from him, "Mother, come quickly," is there food or nourishment that will taste sweet to ber? See that almost heart broken mother start; with his letter for her guide and pilot; her way straight onward until she reaches the sad sight of her destination and see how eager she burries through the streets until she reaches the Hospital and asks for her son, and asks to be shown into his ward : but they hesitate to tell her the truth. She is shown into announce that, in connection with their TANNERY, ey have just opened a splendid assortment of the Chaplin's apartment, and there she asks again for her son.
