The New York Legislature has repealed the law against grand jurors passing on the railroads of that State. Can anybody tell when the Pennsylvania Central Company will repeal the same law, to the gratification of certain "D. H.'s" that we wot of?

Hollidaysburg has a Cornet band called the Social, which the Why says will soon take down any thing in this section. We could one day say the same thing of a certain large ball club of this place of the same name, but Hollidaysburg knows better since.

Every whiskey distiller now pays a government revenue of $2 per gallon, on every gallon manufactured, and a government inspector $5 per day for inspecting it after it is barreled. On account of this pressure a few of the distillers in this county have concluded to still their stills.

Bedford Enterprise.

We little thought that the people of any town could have a lesser degree of enterprise than those of our devoted village. But it appears 'tis so, as the following remarks from the Bedford Inquirer will clearly show.

"Bedford has been agitating the construction of a railroad up the Raytown Branch of the Juniata for twenty years, and at the end of this time we find ourselves incapable of securing the construction of six miles to our own doors. It is very humiliating. Had our men of enterprise made as much effort to secure construction of a railroad, as they have made towards furthering political interests, we would not now be left high and dry as we are. It has only wanted somebody to properly represent our resources to capitalists abroad to get them to invest their money where it would be sure to pay heavy dividends. But there has not been even public improvements, it is generally the poor communities that strain every nerve to bring about improvements as a means of amassing wealth. This is the true history of the Great West, not so, however, with Bedford. If there were ten railroads to terminate here to-morrow, it is exceedingly doubtful whether sufficient ground could be purchased where to locate depots, unless they were to enter by main force and take possession. Instead of fifteen or sixteen hundred inhabitants, Bedford would contain twice the number if a liberal policy had been pursued by those who own lands in and around it. Not a foot of land can be purchased unless two or three prices are paid for it, and very little at even these rates. We sometimes think of asking Messrs. Nangle, Chenoweth and others to cut up their farms into lots, and offer them for sale, with a condition that the purchasers must build upon them within a reasonable time, if not the lots to revert to the original owners; the present proprietor might only sell every alternate lot and by his reservation he would realize all the advantage of their enhanced value by the buildings erected on the adjoining lots, and by this means start up a new town, then petition the Legislature for an appropriation to fence the old one in and seal it up, but our courage fails us and we never get it done."

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Feb. 11, 1887. Messrs. Editors: The term of Chief Justice Woodward will soon expire, and in a short time it will be necessary to nominate and elect a suitable person to supply his place. We, therefore, think it proper to call attention of the people to this subject, and to the names of those of the Interior of the State to the Candidate.

More Room, More People.

It is a noticeable and lamentable fact that houses increase less rapidly than people in Huntingdon. Building never has kept pace with the yearly influx of population, and to-day there is great need for at least twenty-five, if not fifty comfortable tenements. The population of Huntingdon might be doubled in five years, if proper facilities were afforded for expansion. Fogyism has been aptly defined "sitting on the shirt tail of Progress," and here, like the Arkansas girl who was a "wall flower" at an evening party, she "sat and sat, till she came most tuck root."

DIED.

At Fruitland, (formerly called Atkinson) Huntingdon Co., New Jersey, on Thursday, the 14th inst., Mrs. ELIZABETH ISABELLA AFRICA, widow of Daniel Africa, Esq., late of this borough, aged 72 years and 6 months.

Singular Attempt of a Mother to Drown Herself and two Children.

On Saturday last, a singular affair occurred at Millville, Cambria county, of which we have the following account in the Johnstown Democrat: "Mr. James Bath, Mary, his wife, and several small children, are living in Millville borough. Mr. Bath is a miner and works in the coal mines of the Cambria Iron Company. On last Saturday morning his wife got up and prepared breakfast for which they partook. It being early Mr. B. sat down by the stove. Mrs. B. goes into an adjoining room, the sleeping apartment, and takes her two younger children out of bed, one aged two years and the other about six months, she wrapped her dress around them and left the house carrying them along. Her husband soon missed her and started out to find her, he hears a gurgling noise in the well, runs for his miner's lamp, gives the alarm to the neighbors, and descends into the well; here he finds his wife and children in a drowning condition. He gets a foothold in the rough stone wall of the well, raises his wife's head above the water and holds it between his knees, takes a child in each hand and again calls for help. Mr. Parfit, a neighbor, arrives and takes the children out of the well. A rope is fastened around the waist of Mrs. Bath, and she is raised, the three are taken into the house in an insensible condition. They were all wrapped in dry blankets, rolled and turned until signs of animation returned. Mrs. Bath and the older child are now fully restored, while the younger child is in a critical condition, and in all probability will not survive. The well is twenty-six and one half feet deep, and there is ten feet water in it. The walls are rough and crooked and the diameter small, and had the children been thrown down, or the mother jumped down they must have in their descent received severe contusions, but none appear on their persons. Mrs. B. says she carried the children down in her apron, which appears from the circumstantial evidence to be true. "There has been no reason assigned why this woman should thus seek to destroy her own and her children's lives. Mr. Bath is a sober, hard working man, and his neighbors say is kind to his family. It appears, however, that at the store his wife had drawn more than the amount of wages coming to him, and further purchases, for the time being, had been stopped. The trouble of poverty may have been an incentive cause, but more likely she is insane."
