Income Tax. The following is the new income tax, which is fixed at a uniform rate, and goes into effect March 1, 1867. The tax on incomes for 1866 is to be levied the day this act goes into ef-

Income from gains, profits from property, rent, interest, dividends, or salaries from any profession, trade, or any employment, a tax on the amount so derived over one thousand dollars, of 5 per cent.

And in addition to one thousand dollars exempt from income tax, all national, State, county, and municipal taxes paid within the year shall be deducted from the gains, profits, or income of the person who has actually paid the same, whether such person be owner, tenant, or mortgager; losses actually sustained during the year arising from fires, shipwreck, or incurred in trade, and debts ascertained to be worthless, but excluding all estimated depreciation of values and losses within the year on sales of real estate purchased two years previous to the year for which the income is estimated; the amount actually paid for labor or interest by any person who rents lands or hires labor to cultivate land, or who conducts any other business from which income is actually derived; the amount actually paid by any person for the rent of the house or premises occupied as a residence for himself or his family; the amount paid out for usual or ordinary repairs:—
Provided, That no deduction shall be made for any amount paid out for new buildings, permanent improvements, or betterments, made to increase the value of any property or estate: And provided further, That only one deduction of one thousand dollars shall be made from the aggregate income of all the members of any family, composed of one or more minor children, or husband and wife; that guardians shall be allowed to make such deduction in favor of each and every ward except that in case where two or more wards are comprised in one family, and have joint property interest, only one deduction shall be made in their favor: And provided further, That in cases where the salary or other compensation paid to any person in the employment or service of the United States shall not exceed the rate of one thousand dollars per annum or shall be by fees, or uncertain or irregular in the amount or in the time during which the same shall have accrued or been carned, such salary or other compensation shall be included in estimating the annual gains, profits, or income of the person to whom the same shall have been paid. In estimating the gains, profits, and income of any per-son, there shall be included all income derived from interest upon notes, bonds, and other U. S. securities; profits realized within the year from sales of real estate purchased within the years previous to the year for which income is estimated; interest received or acdiued upon all notes, bonds, and mort-gages, or other forms of indebtedness bearing interest, whether paid or not, if good and collectable, less interest which has become due upon said person during the year; the amount of all premiums on gold and coupons; the amount of sales on live stock, sugar, wool, butter, cheese, pork, beef, mutton, or other meats, hay and grain, or other vegetable or other productions, being the growth or produce of the estate of such persons, not including any part thereof consumed directly by the family; all other gains, profits, and in-

Delegates in Congress, from which the tax has been deducted. The administrative sections of the new act relate almost entirely to the tax on distilled spirits. It provides that hereafter "all distilled spirits, before being removed from the distillery, shall be inspected and guaged by general inspector of spirits, who shall mark the barrels or packages in the manner required by law, and so much of the act approved July 13, 1866, as requires the appointment of an inspec-tor for each distillery established according to law, is repealed. It is provided that such other duties as have heretoforo been imposed upon inspectors of distilleries, may be performed by such other duly appointed officers as may be designated by the Commispay the same to officers authorized to receive the same; and except that por-sioner of Internal Revenue." SHORT SHRIFT AND A BULLET.-Judge Lynch makes short work of horse thieves in Missouri. The following are two instances of his inexorable judgments. They took place in Hicho-horses, in connection with others, and it seems his neighbors were the principal sufferers, and were determined to put a stop to it. Consequently, the country generally turned out, went to Moore's home, took him out, shot him all to pieces and left him. His remains were not found for two or three days and were nearly eaten up by hogs. He was recognized only by his shoes. As a matter of course, no one knew who did the deed.

"Another man was disposed of in Hermitage, who is said to be implicated with Moore, by the name of Carroll Pitts. He declared his intention roll Pitts. He declared his intention to die before he would be taken, and had a few friends to back him. He went to Hermitage attended by only one of his party, when fifty two of the opposite party rode up, surrounded and called on him to surrender, which he attarted to run, direct or many birth or without natural bor, for a term not exceeding three years.

There are other details in the act, relating to the duties of the officers appointed and authorized under the law, the amount of fees, &c., which are ty and killed instantly, two balls passing through his head."

The General Bankrupt Law

Synopsis of the Leading Features.

The jurisdiction in bankruptcy cases is given by the act to the several District Courts of the United States, with the United States Circuit Court acting in a supervisory capacity as Courts of Equity. The Judges of the District Courts will be assisted in the porformance of their duties imposed upon them by registers in bankruptcy, who are required to be counsellors of those courts, or of some of the Courts of Record of their several States. The power of the Registers is limited, and provision is made for reference of disputed questions to the District Court Judges, and for appeals from the District Courts to the Circuit Courts, and from the latter, in cases where the matter in dispute shall exceed two thousand dollars, to the Supreme Court of the United States. There are two kinds of bankruptey contemplated by the act; voluntary and involuntary. In the former any person residing within the jurisdiction of the United States, owing over three hundred dollars, and finding himself insolvent, may apply by petition to the judge of the district in which he has resided for the six months preceding the date of the petition, or for the longest period during such six months, and shall thereupon be declared a bank-rupt. The creditors, having been properly notified by the court, meet ogether and appoint one or more asignees of the estate of the debtor; the choice to be made by the greater part in value and in number of the creditors who have proved their debts, or in case of failure to agree, then by the District Judge, or where there are no opposing creditors, by the Register. The whole affairs of the bankrupt pass nto the hands of the assignees, who have had powers granted them neces-sary for the collection of all debts and the final adjustment and closing up of the estate. Stringent regulations are made for the proper deposit and safe keeping of all moneys received from the estate; and where delay is likely to occur from litigation in the final distribution of the assets the court is empowered to direct their temporary investment. The bankrupt is liable at all times to be called up for examination on oath upon all matters relating to the disposal or condition of his property or to his business transactions, and for good cause shown his wife may in like manner be compelled to attend as a witness in the case.

In the distribution of the bankrupt's estate dividends are to be paid as agreed upon by a majority in value of the ereditors, from time to time, at three months' intervals, but the following claims are first to be paid in full: First, the fees, costs and all expenses under the bankrupt act; second, all debts, taxes and assessments due to the United States; third, all State debts, taxes and assessments; wages due to any operative, clerk or house servant to an amount not exceeding fifty dollars for labor performed within six months preceding the bankrupt-cy; fiith, all debts due to any persons who are or may be entitled to prefer-ence by laws of the United States. The voluntary bankrupt is entitled to his discharge provided no fraud is proved against him, at any time from sixty days to one year after adjudica-tion of bankruptey; but the proof or discovery of any fraud or concealment deprives him of the right to discharge No person who has once received his discharge is to be entitled again to become a voluntary bankrupt, unless his estate is sufficient to pay seventy per cent. on his debts, or unless three-fourths of his creditors assent in writing to his bankruptcy. Preferences and fraudulent conveyances are declarever; except the rental value of any homestead used or occupied by any person or by his family in his own right on in the right at the rental value of any person or by his family in his own rations. come derived from any source what-the share of any person of the gains and profits of all companies, whother incorporated or partnership, who would be entitled to the same if divi-The necessary household and kitchen furniture, and such other articles and necessaries of such bankrupt as ded, whether divided or otherwise, exthe assignce shall designate and set cept the amount of income received apart, having reference in the amount from institutions or corporations to the family, condition and circumstances of the bankrupt, but altogether whose officers, as required by law, withhold a per centum of the dividends made by such institutions, and not to exceed in value, in any case, the sum of $500; and also the wearing apparel of such bankrupt, and that of his wife and children, and the uniform tion of the salary or pay received for services in the civil, military, naval or arms and equipments of any person who is or has been a soldier in the miother service of the United States, inlitia or in the service of the United States; and such other property as cluding Senators, Representatives and now is or hereafter shall be exempted from attachment or seizure or levy on execution by the laws of the United States, and such other property, not included in the foregoing exceptions, as is exempted from levy and sale upon execution or other process or order of court, by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt has his domicile at the time of the commencement of the proceedings in bankruptcy to an amount not exceeding that allowed by such yourself of its superior qualities. State exemption laws in force in the vear 1864.

Acts of involuntary bankruptcy under the law are classified as follows: Departure or absence from the State where debts are owed, with intent to defraud the creditors; concealment to avoid service of process for the recovery of debt; concealment of property to avoid seizure on legal process; as signments designed to delay, defraud or hinder creditors; arrest and deten-tion for seven days, under execution for a debt exceeding one hundred dolcounty:

One Moore was accused of stealing judgment, or any other act by which preference is given to any creditor, endorser or surety; dishonoring commercial paper, or suspending and not resuming payment for fourteen days.
The petition for an adjudication of bankruptcy in such cases may come from one or more creditors whose debts reach two hundred and fifty dollars; but the petition must be brought within six months after the act of bankruptcy has been committed. In involuntary bankruptcy the proceed ings are made more stringent than in the other description of cases. The penalty for any fraud or concealment,
