Railroad Accident.

The Cincinnati Express train due and two passenger coaches down a cents and sells for $3. bank, completely demolishing them. Martin Bratton, one of the brakesmen Agent, Huntingdon, Pa. was discovered tightly wedged between internally, it is thought beyond recovery. Robert Kerr, engineer, was injured severely on the head and side, and Mr. Wilhelm, the baggage master, was injured slightly on the shoulder. Fortunately none of the passengers were seriously injured. A man named ding behind a fence, who was found to be one of the authors of the mishap. He is represented to be a crazy individual, and has been committed to the county jail several times for vagrancy. He is now in the Allegheny prison. The damage to the track has been repaired, and the trains run as usual.

Do you know why Johnston & Wattson sell Goods Cheap-Because they bought them Cheap.

Children out at Night. The practice of allowing boys to spend their evenings in the streets, says an exchange, is one of the most ruinous, dangerous and mischievous things possible. Nothing so speedily marks their downward course. They acquire, under cover of the night, an unhealthy state of mind, vulgar and profane language, obscene practices and criminal sentiments, with a lawless and riotous bearing that is shocking to contemplate. It is in the byways after nightfall, that boys generally acquire the education and the capacity for becoming rowdy, dissolute, criminal men. Parents, do you be--Altoona is to become a city before lieve it? Will you keep your children at home nights, and see that their home is made pleasant and profitable? And if this is true of the boys, which no one can deny, how much more necessary is it that girls should be kept at home after dark. Nothing good comes of their gadding about when they should be at home, enjoying the social influence of the family circle, caterpillars' eggs on the twigs of apple and thus fitting themselves for future usefulness, and becoming ornaments

Postmasters Attention. Postmasters who take the liberty of loaning Globes we send to our subscribers, will take notice that the Department will be notified of their conduct, and a change had if possible. We Make a note of this fact, and don't let are tired hearing our subscribers complain of the frequent loss of their papers, after they are received at their proper post offices. Men too Radical or too Democratic to support an independent paper should at least be honest enough not to appropriate to their own use that which is not their own.
