The roughs took offence at some insulting language used by Kelly, and theroupon the fracas ensued .-Three or four blacks and whites were killed. Both whites and blacks were at the meeting armed. The military again suppressed the riot.

Speaker Colfax is reported to have expreased the op nion that there will be no meeting of Congress in July, and it is stated the radical Congressmen now in Washington city have no idea that a quorum of either branch will be present at that time.

Our Political Difficulties.

We begin to realize what a legacy of troubles our civil war has left us in the South. The New Orleans riot, the Memphis riot, the Mobile, the Richmond riot, and the disturbed elements of society in most of the cities, as well as in some parts of the country, all show a very disordered state of things and point to danger in the future. The only exception is found in the and plantation districts away rural from the towns, where political agitations have not reached. The cause of all this is found in the struggle for political power. The question at bottom is, what party shall gain the ascendancy, or who shall govern the country? The negro vote, therefore, is the object in view; for that is regarded as an important balance of power. That is what led Wilson, Kelley, and other radical orators from the North dustrial and commercial interests of both North and South, are as nothing in the estimation of politicians before this all-absorbing object. To obtain that they would foment a war of races, inaugurate over again the dreadful scenes of San Domingo, destroy the productiveness of the South and the commerce of the North, and burden the loyal States with a vast additional debt through the necessity of keeping a large standing army. From our correspondence and other sources of information from all parts of the South, it is evident the political agitators are sowing the storm through which we are likely to reap a whirlwind. The negroes would have been quiet, rejoicing in their new born freedom, and would have gone to on the spot where the pain is severest, and work cultivating the soil and improv-ing their condition, had they been let done. Now that their passions and cupidity have been aroused, they are looking for confiscation and a distribuassaulted the crowd, and fired at the tion of the land among them, exemption from labor and elevation to positions they are totally unprepared to occupy. Hostility between the blacks and whites is the natural consequence; hence we see the former congregating in the towns, making violent and armed demonstrations, and the latter alarmed and excited. Can we wonder, then, that such riots, as we have referred to occur? Or should we be surprised if worse were to foldrama there, with all its disturbing consequences throughout the rest of the country, was a small affair compared with what we may expect to

From the Hancock Expedition.

Sr. Louis, May 14,-The Democrat's correspondent with General Hancock's Indian expedition, writing from Fort Haynes, says:

The General's mission on the plains was to feel the temper of the Indians, to ascertain what tribes were for war and which for peace, make treaties if necessary, separate the peaceful tribes from the hostile ones, and post more troops on the Smeky Hill and Santa Fe reads. The results are as follows: troops marched four hundred and fifty miles; the tribes disposed for war viz the Sioux and Cheyonnes, have been found out and separated from their sworn allies, the Kiowas, Arapahoes, and Camanches; one hundred thous and dollars worth of Indian property has been burned; Kansas is free from hostile Indians, and the Santa Fe and Smoky Hill routes are better guarded than before.

General Custar is at Fort Haynes where his cavalry will remain until grass appears and the horses are in better condition, when he will commence active operations against the Sioux and Cheyennes.

The scurvy has made its appearance among his men, but no serious results are apprehended. When General Hancock returns to the East, General A. J. Smith will command the department of the upper Arkansas, with temporary headquarters at Fort Harker; but Puebla, Colorado, will be the permanont headquarters.

Hawkes, of St. Paul, Minnesota, to rescue a negro from a mob of newho killed his wife to get the insurance on groes who had become infuriated against him.

Mayor Heath attempted to address the riotors, but he was insulted by obscene remarks, and could not influence them. He immediately asked assistance from the military, as the civil authority was insufficient to suppress the riot, and his request was granted. Politics apparently had little to do with the matter.

An order from the military head-quarters, issued to-night, forbids the C.M. Green, carrying of fire arms, openly or secretly, by any citizen except in perform ance of official duty. The offender to be tried by military commission.

The correspondent of the Boston Advertiser, writing from the mountains, explains the reported massacre at Fort Buford. We quote:

Early in February a few straggling miners were pursuing their way down the banks of the river, when they were suddenly attacked by the Indians and robbed. They fled to the fort or protection, and were pursued by three bands of the Indians, who set themselves about the fort and remainthemselves about the fort and remain.
