Thoughts for the Farmer. Facts in Farming.

There are some things in farming that are established, namely: That manure must be applied, not only to get up land, but to keep it up. That wet soil must be drained, either by ditching or otherwise. That sub-soiling is good. That grain should be sown NEW & FASHIONABLE GOUDS earlier than it generally is; that it should be harvested earlier than is done; that grass should be cut when in blossom, and uever when ripo unless for seed. That our soil is not sufficiently worked, especially in hoed crops; that stirring the soil and keeping well pulverized, is a partial guard against drouth. That the most advantageous grain for horses is the oat; that it improves fedder to cook or steam it. That in an in breeding is not good in close and consecutive relationship, but must be carried on by foreign infusion of the same blood. That the best blood is the most profitable. That there is much advantage in selecting the best seed, the earliest matured and the plumpest. That top dressing grass lands should be done with hee, wellrotted manure applied close to the ground. That it is, in general, best to sell produce as soon as ready for market. That blackberries require rich soil; strawberries and raspberries vegetable mould-such as rotten leaves, chip manure, &c. That more lime should be used. That salt, in some cases, is good for land-also plaster, the phosphates, guano, &c. That young orchards should be cultivated. That compost heaps are a good institution. That clay and lime, rather than animal manure, be employed in raising fruit. That agricultural papers are an advantage to the farmer. That a cultivated mind is requisite to high farming, and that a good reputation exerts a good influence on the farming community.-Rural World.

GRAFTING .- Every farmer should learn to do his own grafting. It is a very easy operation when once understood. A sharp pen knife and a good fine saw are indispensable. Splitting the stock so that the bark shall not be bruised-and shaping the scion wedgefashion both ways, preserving also the bark uninjured-and placing the rim of the wood of both stock and scion exactly together, so that the sap can intermingle-there is no danger of failure if properly waxed. We make a shoulder to the graft, and think it adds to the certainty of success, though probably weakens it. We prefer also two eyes or buds to a graft, and would rather have only one than more than two. One year's wood should always bo used when it can be obtained, as it is more certain to take, and grow more vigorously. We wish to remind those about preparing grafting wax, that we have found four parts of rosin, one part of beeswax, and one part of beef tallow to be the best proportions. Melt them in a skillet, (which is the best,) or a cup, and mix well. It should remain in the vessel, and be used as needed. Twenty or thirty scions can be waxed with one heating up. When much grafting is to be done a little fire for heating the wax should be made on the spot, between bricks or stones. We have seen various preparations for making grafting wax, and we believe have tried them all, but prefer our own. Applying warm or hot, does no injury to the graft. The object to attain in the proportion is that the wax will not crack in cool, dry weather, or run in warm weather. April is the best time to graft. - Germantown Telegraph.

Mode of Managing a Restive Horse -A groom, mounted on a high-mettled hunter, entered the High street of Coldstream, and when opposite Sir John Majoribanka'monument, the horse began to plunge and rear to a fearful extent, swerving to the right and then to the left, but go forward he would not, nor could all the exertions of the groom overcome his obstinacy. The street was filled with people expecting to see the animal destroy himself on one door east of the washington hotel the spikes of the iron railing around the monument, when Mr. McDougal, DRY GOODS, saddler, walked up to the groom and said, "I think, my man, you are not taking the proper method to make the horse go; allow me, if you please, to show you a trick worth knowing." "Well," said the groom, "if you can make him go, it's more than I can :" when Mr. McDougal took a bit of whipcord, which he tied with a firm knot on the animal's ear, which he bent gently down, fastening the end of the string to the check buckle of the bridle, which done, he patted the horse's neck once or twice, and said, "Now let me ace you go quietly home like a good horse," and astonishing to relate, it moved off as gently as if nothing had happened. Mr. McDougal says be has seen in London because him. seen in London horses which no manner of force could make go, while this mild treatment was always successful. -Kelso Chronicle.

shrubs, I often dig a very deep hole, put in old shoes, bones, chips or back, then forest earth to the proper depth, and the plants are sure to repay the extra labor. My flower beds were prepared in this way two feet deep. I did myself, and hard as the work was. they amply rewarded me every summer. "Whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well," is an important truth to every cultivator of the soil.

The Ladies.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebet Jeff. Davis, was captured in Poshtomable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay attle, their price chasts, vides of white Accession. to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the lievil. Can you err in following the example of Angels! Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastofully regardless of rebeliets, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fath, era, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store.
